Some still have Skype issues, some do not.

See email excerpt received today that might be helpful.

Go to skypetest@nycourts.gov and request a test. They will send you an invite and you can do the test anytime between 8 am and 6 pm.

Before you do the test, however, at the bottom of the invite there is an instruction link pertaining to MAC users – open that and follow it exactly

Once you do this, try the Skype test and hopefully it will work.

Other than the sound at times was a little sluggish, it worked. You have to unmute your mike (like with Zoom) but to get yourself on video you have to click on the Camera and once you see your image you then have to click on “start video”. The sound is not as sluggish if you move closer to your modem if using wifi.
