

FAMILY

Includes all matters related to advice and handling of proceedings involving annulment or dissolution of marriage, legal separation, support enforcement, child custody and visitation, change of name, preparation of pre-nuptial and marital settlement agreements, and related family law transactions and proceedings.

EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS: As documented below, within the past two years, the applicant must have competently performed to completion substantially all legal work, including the preparation or supervising of the preparation of all legal documents, in not less than three filed family law matters (involving custody and visitation, child support, spousal support, and distribution of property issues) through final resolution. A final resolution can include temporary orders made at a Request for Order hearing on the issue(s).

In addition, within the past two years, the applicant must have done at least two long cause Request For Order hearings of a half-day (3 hours) or more, taking testimony from a party and submitting evidence to the court; or (2) the applicant must provide evidence that, within the past three years, he or she has attended a formal legal education program, either as a student or a practicing attorney, that, in the discretion of the LRIS Committee, demonstrates a sufficient level of litigation training. Such programs generally must have included at least 30 hours of training in all areas of trial practice. Approved training programs include the San Diego Inn of Court, but another program may be accepted if the applicant provides evidence that it is of similar depth and scope. Such evidence should include, if available, a substantive description of the program published by the program provider.

EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS: In addition to the requirements above, an applicant practicing law for less than three years must certify that he or she has completed not less than four hours of State Bar approved MCLE credits in the subject area of the panel for each year of practice. An applicant practicing law for three or more years must certify that he or she has completed not less than six hours of State Bar approved MCLE credits in the subject area of the panel during the three years preceding the application.

RECOMMENDATIONS: The applicant must provide two LRIS "Recommendation of Professional Qualification" forms from California-licensed lawyers who practice in the same area for which the applicant is applying, or from state or federal judges sitting in California, attesting to the applicant's qualifications in the area for which he or she is applying. These form letters must specifically reflect the authors' knowledge of the applicant's qualifications and include the authors' opportunity to observe the applicant's qualifications in the area for which he or she is applying. If these form letters are from lawyers, those lawyers may not be affiliated with the applicant's firm, and the applicant may not have any economic interest with them.

I hereby certify under penalty of perjury that I have met the above criteria and requirements, and that I am competent to handle referral matters in the panel subject area described above.
