

NAVIGATING THE SUPREME COURT ORDER REGARDING COVID-19

INSTRUCTIONAL VIDEO ON ZOOM FOR REMOTE COURT OR REMOTE DEPOSITIONS

Can you control who chats with each other? Yes

Can you control whether anyone can chat or not chat? Yes

Can you control who can record or not record the zoom meetings? Yes

Can you do more than one meeting if there are multiple courts in a county?
No. Each court would need their own account.

Do you have the same Zoom meeting number for you account? Yes, Zoom gives you a meeting number that is only yours. But Zoom also can assign its own number to a meeting.

So, in the court setting, one might want to share the Zoom number assigned to the Court on their site so that attorneys will be able to find it easily and access the court when their cases are being heard. Now, the Court will also want to think about having Zoom assign its own number for hearings regarding a child or hearings that are NOT open to the public and have it be locked down more, so to speak, if that were going to happen.

How many participants can attend? 100 with the Pro account. That's really about all one would need. Doubtful the public will want to watch anything for very long unless it was someone in court they knew.

If your County has not yet put together a plan of action or needs help in coming up with remote court procedures, please take a look at Tarrant County Court at Law No. 3's Court Rules for Remote Procedures.

Letter from OCA Regarding Account for Remote Court Proceedings

They are currently working on a statewide account for remote court at no charge. Please read the update from David Slayton on March 16th.

Suggested Modifications for Remote Depositions

Click here to view the full announcement.