

Meet the 2019 TBA Fellows

LaRon C. Bankston

LaRon Bankston grew up in Toledo and attended the University of Toledo for both his undergraduate degree and law school. He has always had a passion for criminal defense, and is also interested in family law, personal injury and probate. When he is not building his practice, he enjoys photography, music and runs in the park.

Richard A. Frelin

Richard Frelin is from Toledo and attended Lourdes University for undergraduate, where he obtained a Bachelor of Arts in history. He stayed in Toledo for law school, attending the University of Toledo College of Law. He is interested in criminal, civil, family and constitutional law. Richard has four daughters, and enjoys watching them play fast pitch softball and volleyball in his free time.

Nathan VanDenBerghe

Nathan VanDenBerghe is from Delta, Ohio and attended Bob Jones University for undergraduate studies, where he majored in biology. He attended the University of Toledo College of Law, and is interested in real estate, probate, and general civil practice. Nathan spends his free time with his five children, and enjoys outdoor activities like hiking and biking.

What are your goals for this Fellowship?

I want to make the most of the opportunity to learn from the diverse experiences of the attorneys associated with the fellowship.

- LaRon Bankston

I hope to obtain a practical understanding of the practice of law, and use the experience and knowledge gained to run a successful law practice.

- Richard Frelin

I want to establish the foundation of a successful law practice through maximizing the available resources and learning from experienced attorneys.

- Nathan VanDenBerghe
