

Greg Marks • Dallas

A lawyer for more than 20 years, Dallas personal injury lawyer Greg Marks is committed to helping victims who have suffered serious, catastrophic injuries as the result of negligence, defective and dangerous products and the conscious disregard of safety precautions. Greg serves as the Dallas Trial Lawyers Association's President for 2016.

Greg's experience prior to becoming a Dallas personal injury lawyer has given him a unique advantage when faced with complex injury cases. Greg began his career as an engineer for an offshore drilling company. This extensive engineering background has been invaluable when faced with cases involving vehicle defects, construction accidents and other cases requiring a working knowledge of engineering and safety standards.

Upon graduation from Dedman School of Law at SMU, Greg went to work for a prestigious downtown Dallas law firm representing businesses, insurance companies, doctors and hospitals. Through this early experience, Greg developed his talent for preparing and trying complex lawsuits and jury trials. While it was a lucrative position, he wanted to use his talents and experience helping individuals and making a positive impact on their lives. Recently, Greg secured a verdict that forced a hospital to completely change its training procedures for the better.

Greg has received numerous awards and recognition from his peers and various publications including: Super Lawyers (8 times), D Magazine Best Lawyers, Best Lawyers in America, Best Law Firms in America, Multi-Million Dollar Advocates Forum, Million Dollar Advocates Forum.
