

DIVERSITY BAR PREPARATION SCHOLARSHIP

The Mission of the Washington State Association for Justice (WSAJ) is to stand up in the courtroom and the halls of government for real people. We defend your Constitutional rights, including the right to have your day in court. We hold corporate and other powerful interests accountable. We are a community creating and sharing resources for our members to secure justice.

WSAJ is committed to implementing strategies that will result in significant and measurable progress towards increasing diversity in the plaintiff's bar. To help achieve this endeavor, WSAJ has pledged scholarship monies to assist diverse individuals in covering the tuition cost of a Themis bar preparation course. Diversity refers to individuals who self-identify with those groups historically discriminated against and or those groups that are historically under-represented in the legal profession based on disability, gender, race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression.

The primary criteria for selection of scholarship recipients (after the applicant identifying as a historically disenfranchised or under-represented group, as described above) is a demonstrated interest and intent to practice in the plaintiff's bar. Other criteria that will be considered include financial need, academic achievements, extracurricular and community activities, and life experiences.

This scholarship will cover a Themis bar preparation course; we are unable to offer scholarships for bar prep courses other than Themis. If a selected applicant has already enrolled in a Themis course, they will be reimbursed. Applicants must be a diverse individual as defined above and must take the Washington State bar exam in the next year.

Applications are due by Friday, November 30, 2018. All applicants will receive email notification from WSAJ of award or non-award by December 21, 2018. Additional application instructions can be found at the end of this form.
