

SYLLABUS FOR ADVANCED JAZZ IMPROVISATION 5490

Tuesdays and Thursdays, 9:30 – 10:50, Kenton Hall

Davy Mooney, instructor

Office hours: posted outside of 277

Course Objectives:

- 1) To improve your skills as an improviser and hone your ability to perform contemporary modern jazz at the highest level
- 2) To apply specific examples of jazz vocabulary, provided by instructor, over the primary repertoire
- 3) To learn seven jazz compositions (primary repertoire list) in depth, and to transcribe two full solos from definitive recordings of the compositions
- 4) To perform a complementary repertoire of standards in a quasi-jam session format, wherein you will experiment with feel, meter, and harmony
- 5) To perform two mini-set in class, made up of primary and secondary repertoire, that demonstrates your mastery of the semester's material

Primary and Secondary Repertoire:

This class will consist of a primary repertoire of seven tunes, that we will learn from specific recordings, and a secondary repertoire of seven standards that you need to know as a working musician (perhaps you already know them), and that we can jam and experiment on. The “experimentation” will include key and feel changes, and odd meters: five and seven, primarily, but we may experiment with nines, elevens, and thirteens. I will provide basic lead sheets, but we will also explore various recordings to glean details that don't appear on simplified lead sheets. The two graded transcriptions that you will do should be chosen from the primary repertoire's suggested recordings, although I'm open to suggestions regarding solos you wish to transcribe from other recordings (as long as they are approved). The primary repertoire (with recordings) is:

26-2 (John Coltrane)

John Coltrane: “Coltrane's Sound”

Peter Beets Trio with Kurt Rosenwinkel:

Magnolia Triangle (James Black)

Ellis Marsalis: “Whistle Stop”

Ana Maria (Wayne Shorter)

Wayne Shorter: “Native Dancer”

Day Dream (Billy Strayhorn)

Duke Ellington: “...And His Mother Called Him Bill”

Fred Hersch: “Passion Flower”

Bye-Ya (Thelonious Monk)

Thelonious Monk: “Monk’s Dream”

Thelonious Monk Quartet with John Coltrane: “Live at Carnegie Hall”

Conception (George Shearing)

Bud Powell: “Inner Fires”

Kurt Rosenwinkel: “Intuit”

Nice Work if You Can Get It (Gershwin)

Bud Powell: “Inner Fires”

Thelonious Monk: “Genius of Modern Music: Volume 2”

Playing Evaluations:

We will devote three class periods to each of these tunes. You must be able to play the melody correctly by the second class, and you must have the tune memorized by the third class. On this third day I will film you playing the melody and one to two choruses of the tune, and give you detailed feedback and a grade on your performance. These seven playing evaluations will constitute 30% of your grade. You will be assessed on the accuracy playing the melody, your accuracy playing the chord changes, and your artistry.

The secondary repertoire is:

September in the Rain, Alone Together, Sweet and Lovely, All the Things You Are, Remember, There Is No Greater Love, I’ll Remember April

We may call other tunes during class (blues and rhythm changes are always fair game), but I want you to know these tunes. You need to. As they come up on the syllabus, I will allow you to read each tune the first time, but not after that.

Applying Jazz Vocabulary:

On the first day of playing each tune in the primary repertoire, you will be given an example of a chorus or two with written material in select areas. We will play through this material and analyze it, and on the second day of playing each tune you will be required to incorporate these examples into an improvised solo, and to play them exactly. This exercise helps you to know exactly where you are in the tune at all times, and to learn to switch from the improvising and non-improvising parts of your brain, in real time.

Readings:

I will handout several readings over the course of the semester, as well as assign readings from my book “Personalizing Jazz Vocabulary.” You must write a 250-word response paper for each reading, which must be emailed to David.Mooney@unt.edu by 5pm the day before the reading is set to be “discussed in class.” These response papers, and your participation in the class discussion, accounts for 10% of your grade.

Textbook:

My book “Personalizing Jazz Vocabulary,” from Mel Bay, is required for the class. You can get the hard copy or the e-book. I have tried to distill my philosophy on teaching improvisation into this book, and while it is guitar-specific in some ways (fingerings and octave, specifically), it contains vocabulary that can be applied to any instrument. Hopefully the book will not only help you as an improviser, but as a teacher of improvisation.

Transcription:

You will be required to transcribe two full solos, from the definitive recordings of primary repertoire, one at midterm, and one for the final of the class. The transcriptions must be computer notated. You will perform both transcriptions in class, along with the recordings, turn in the written transcription the day of your performance, and email the instructor a pdf of the transcription, with appropriate chord changes above the written notes. Both the turned in and emailed transcription should be in concert pitch, although you may read off of transposed notes if you wish. In assessing these transcriptions, I will look for accuracy of notes and rhythms (on the written page as well as the performance), as well as the ability of the student to emulate the feel, articulation, sound, etc, of the original solo. Drummers may transcribe the full drum accompaniment to another soloist or full drum solos. 25% of grade (12.5% each).

Mini-gigs:

Each student will perform two mini-gigs over the course of the semester, with an ensemble of fellow class members of the student’s choice. The first mini-gig, which will take place around mid-semester, will consist of ONE piece from the primary repertoire and ONE piece from the secondary repertoire. I will choose the primary repertoire piece for you, you may choose the secondary repertoire piece. For the secondary repertoire choice, students are encouraged to come up with an interesting arrangement, utilizing one or more of the techniques discussed in class. The second mini-gig will take place towards the end of the semester, and will consist of TWO pieces from the primary repertoire and ONE piece from the secondary repertoire. For this mini-gig I will choose one of the primary repertoire tunes, you may choose the second primary repertoire tune, as well as the secondary repertoire tune. You cannot repeat tunes on the second mini-gig that you did on the first. These mini-sets will be graded on mastery of improvisation of the material—particularly in terms of accuracy of melody and playing of chord changes—as well as artistry and the effectiveness of the mini-sets as two and three-song presentation. In other words, try to vary tempos and grooves, solo order, etc, over the course of the set. This is of course even more important with the final, three-song mini-set. These performances will be filmed, for your own edification. We will talk more about this over the semester. 35% of grade—10% for two-song set, 25% for three-song set.

Attendance/Tardiness:

You are allowed one unexcused absence, after that your grade will decrease by one letter for each unexcused absence. As always, I am understanding of illness and unavoidable conflict, but there is no excuse for not communicating via email, especially in this day and age. Three instances of unexcused tardiness will constitute an unexcused absence. Tardiness means you are not setup and ready to play at 9:30.

Cell Phones:

Don't play with your cell phones during class, even when you're not playing. I know it's hard, in this day and age, and I'm as addicted as everyone else, but even if I'm commenting on something that doesn't directly involve you, I might say something that you can use in the future when you teach your own improv class! Or not, but don't start playing with your phone in class.

Grading:

Transcriptions (mid-term and final): 25%

Mini-gigs: 35%

Seven Playing Evaluations: 30%

Six response papers for readings: 10%
