Online Class Considerations

This class is completely online. For those of you who have not taken an online class before, these classes require your personal discipline and motivation to keep up with the pace of the class materials. For example, materials in Canvas will be released on Mondays at 8:00 am, as applicable, in the Course Schedule later in this syllabus. During most weeks, there is an assignment, discussion board or exam that are due by the end of the week on Sundays at 11:59 pm. Students will have several days in the course schedule (from Monday at 8:00 am until Sunday at 11:59 pm) to identify time to complete the assignments, discussion boards and exams.

Because students have an extended period of time to complete exams, assignments, and discussion boards, there will generally be no make-up exams and late discussion boards and assignments will generally not be accepted. A zero will be awarded for any work that is submitted late or not turned in at all during the scheduled time period. Students with absences that are authorized pursuant to university policy 06.039 Student Attendance and Authorized Absences and that impact the timeliness of their work (for example, by covering the entire time period during which an assignment, discussion board, or exam could be done), should contact me and provide documentation prior to any due date in order for such absence to receive any consideration.

Individual technical or technological difficulties in completing coursework in a timely manner (e.g., computer crashes or viruses or interrupted internet connections) do not constitute a basis to request a make-up exam, the submission of a late discussion board or assignment, or receive a time extension. To avoid such issues, I encourage you to not wait until the final available hours or minutes to complete assigned coursework and/or complete your exams/discussion boards/assignments in a UNT computer lab. It is further recommended that you submit assigned work through a supported web browser on a computer or laptop rather than an iPad or other electronic device and that you avoid using wireless internet connections.

Because the class is online, you will, of course, need to use a personal computer that is compatible with the UNT online course system or use one of the computers available in the campus computer labs. This is important for submitting your coursework in a timely manner.

Because most of the communication in this course will occur online, you will need to make sure that you keep up with the class communications. I will primarily use the Inbox function, and occasionally the Announcements page in Canvas, to communicate with the class as a whole. You should check these areas frequently. These communications will also be sent to your UNT email address if you have notifications in Canvas set up in this manner. If you do not routinely check your UNT email address, make sure to forward your UNT email to your preferred email address so that you can stay up-to-date with class announcements and information.

Finally, online classes also require some basic technological skills to access course materials and complete assigned coursework. UNT has a variety of resources to assist you with the technological aspects of navigating this and other online classes. One of the most important of these resources is the help desk. It can be reached by email at helpdesk@unt.edu and via phone at 940-565-2324. Personnel at the help desk can assist you with issues concerning access to UNT's online system and other technological issues.

Course Description

Graduate Catalog Course Description: Survey of classical and recent literature in policing. Studies of the trends, issues and reform movements currently prominent in the field of policing.

This course focuses on some of the seminal articles in the policing literature. It also emphasizes “what works” in policing through the use of a course text on evidence-based policing as well as a case study of the much-discussed precipitous decline in crime in New York City in the 1990s.

The course material is divided into chapters/articles and modules. The order in which we will cover the chapters/articles and modules is provided in the Course Schedule later in this syllabus.

The assignments, discussion boards, and exams are designed to apply, verify, and extend your knowledge and understanding of the class materials.

Course Objectives

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Discuss the history of American policing
- Discuss the evolution of police strategies, particularly in terms of how the functions of crime control, order maintenance, and service provision have been prioritized
- Discuss some of the most significant pieces of police research and a considerable bulk of the police strategy literature

- Critically evaluate how crime is recorded and offer counter arguments to those claiming criminal justice policy (particularly police policy) was responsible for the bulk of the crime drop in the 1990s
- Understand theories concerning organizational change and how they apply to shifts in police strategy
- Recognize “what works” in policing through the assessment of the evidence-based policing literature
- Identify the most current trends in policing (in terms of technology, accountability, management, and function)

Required Texts

Kappeler, V.E. and B.P. Schaefer. (2019). The Police & Society: Touchstone Readings (4th Edition). Long Grove, IL: Waveland Press.

Zimring, F.E. (2012). The City that Became Safe: New York’s Lessons for Urban Crime and Its Control. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.

Lum, C. and C.S. Koper. (2017). Evidence-Based Policing: Translating Research into Practice. New York, NY: Oxford University Press.

These texts are required for all students enrolled in the class and are the only required texts for the course. Reading assignments are noted in the Course Schedule.

How the Course is Organized

This course will take place completely online through Canvas. The course is composed of several readings, online modules, and graded coursework. Online modules that accompany some of the assigned materials will highlight and supplement the assigned text readings.

How Students Should Proceed Each Week for Class Activities

At the beginning of each week, the student should refer to the Course Schedule (see below) for the coursework/readings/activities for that week. The textbook readings and online modules will help you complete the coursework and satisfy all learning objectives.

Course Requirements

There are a total of 500 points that students can earn in this class: 2 exams (100 points each, for a total of 200 points); 4 assignments (50 points each, for a total of 200 points); and 4 discussion boards (25 points each, for a total of 100 points). The grading scale and descriptions of the assessment measures are described below.

Grading Scale

450 – 500 points = A

400 – 449 points = B

350 – 399 points = C

300 – 349 points = D

Below 300 points = F

I do not offer extra credit in this course.

Exams (200 points total)

There will be 2 online exams for this class which will be available on the course site when they are released. The exams are designed to assess the knowledge that each of you has individually learned regarding the textbooks and course materials. Therefore, I expect your exam responses to reflect your own individual and independent knowledge and work, without assistance from any other person. You may use your textbooks and all course materials while completing the exams. The exams themselves should not be copied or duplicated by you or anyone else for any purpose whatsoever. The university rules concerning academic dishonesty will be strictly enforced.

The exams will be included in the related Course Materials, under Modules, and should be submitted there.

Grading rubrics will be utilized for the exams so students can identify how their exams will be graded.

There will be a midterm examination. This will be a multiple essay question exam worth 100 points and will cover the Kappeler & Schaefer textbook and accompanying Canvas modules. You will have from Monday March 2nd at 8AM until Sunday March 8th at 11:59PM to complete the midterm examination.

The final examination will be a multiple essay question exam worth 100 points and will cover the Zimring textbook, Lum & Koper textbook, and accompanying Canvas modules. You will have from Monday May 4th at 8AM until Thursday May 7th at 11:59PM to complete the final examination.

EXAMS ARE TAKEN FROM THE COURSE TEXTBOOKS AS INDICATED ABOVE AND INCLUDE MATERIAL COVERED IN THE ONLINE CANVAS MODULES. IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT YOU READ THE CORRESPONDING CHAPTERS/ARTICLES AND ONLINE CANVAS MODULES BEFORE ATTEMPTING TO TAKE AN EXAM.

Students who do not complete any exam during the scheduled time period will receive a zero for the exam. There will generally be no make-up exams. Exam grades will be available within 7 business days after the applicable exam period closes.

Assignments (200 points total)

There will be 4 online assignments for this class which will be available on the course site when they are released. The assignments are designed to assess the knowledge that each of you has individually learned regarding the textbooks and course materials. Therefore, I expect your assignments to reflect your own individual and independent knowledge and work, without assistance from any other person. You may use your textbooks and all course materials while completing the assignments. The assignments themselves should not be copied or duplicated by you or anyone else for any purpose whatsoever. The university rules concerning academic dishonesty will be strictly enforced.

The assignments will be included in the related Course Materials, under Modules, and should be submitted there.

Grading rubrics will be utilized for the assignments so students can identify how their assignments will be graded.

Each assignment will be in an essay and/or short answer format. Each assignment is worth 50 points. Assignments will cover textbook readings and online Canvas modules, as applicable.

ASSIGNMENTS ARE TAKEN FROM THE COURSE TEXTBOOKS AND INCLUDE MATERIAL COVERED IN THE ONLINE CANVAS MODULES. IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT YOU READ THE CORRESPONDING CHAPTERS/ARTICLES AND ONLINE CANVAS MODULES BEFORE ATTEMPTING TO COMPLETE AN ASSIGNMENT.

For each assignment, with the exception of Assignment 4, you will have from Monday at 8:00 am until Sunday at 11:59 pm to complete the assignment.

Students who do not complete any assignment during the scheduled time period will receive a zero for the assignment. Late assignment submissions will generally not be accepted. Assignment grades will be available within 7 business days after the applicable assignment period closes.

Discussion Boards (100 points total)

There will be 4 online discussion boards for this class which will be available on the course site when they are released. You may use your textbooks and all course materials while completing the discussion boards.

These discussion boards will be included in the related Course Materials, under Modules, and should be submitted there.

Grading rubrics will be utilized for the discussion boards so students can identify how their discussion posts will be graded.

Your discussions will be graded on depth of explanation, utilization of outside sources, specific efforts to back up your arguments with logical points and sources, integration of material from the textbooks and online course modules, grammar and spelling, and adhering to the discussion board requirements. In order to receive full credit you must post an original response and respond to at least 1 other students' post. Note that you will NOT be able to see any other students' posts until you have first posted a thread yourself.

The discussion boards will ask you to provide your own posting and respond to the posting of at least 1 other student. Each discussion submission should be thorough and well-written and at least 3 paragraphs long. Responses to other students should be at least 1 paragraph long. Each discussion board will be worth a maximum of 25 points – up to 15 points for your posting and up to 10 points for your response to another student's posting. The discussion posts are designed to extend your knowledge and understanding of the class materials and provide a vehicle to apply such knowledge and understanding. The discussions boards will close at the time indicated on the Course Schedule.

Students who do not complete any discussion board assignment within the scheduled time period will receive a zero for the discussion board. Late discussion postings will generally not be accepted. Discussion post grades will be available within 7 business days after the applicable discussion post period closes.

General Class Policies

Communication:

We will use the course site message function, Inbox, for communication purposes. Any email communication with me outside the course site should be done via my unt.edu email address: fritsch@unt.edu. You should use your UNT email account for all email communications with me. My phone number is 940-565-4954. If you leave a voicemail, please clearly identify yourself and leave a return phone number where I can reach you. I will return emails and voicemails within 48 hours during Monday-Friday. If you do not receive a response from me during that period, assume that I did not receive your communication and contact me again. You are, of course, also welcome to communicate with me in person in Chilton Hall 265 at any time I am in the office or by appointment.

If you are having technical or technological issues regarding the course, your first communication should be with the help desk at helpdesk@unt.edu or 940-565-2324. The technicians there have the expertise to help you resolve your issues.

Syllabus Change:

I reserve the right and have the discretion to change this syllabus. While every effort will be made to follow this syllabus as closely as possible, it is sometimes the case that it must be modified. In the case that it needs to be adjusted, I will announce such adjustments to the class. I will make every effort to ensure that any changes to the syllabus benefit the class as a whole. It is the student's responsibility to check announcements/notifications/emails so that any and all changes are documented. Failure to obtain syllabus changes because of failure to check and read announcements/notifications/emails does not constitute a basis for a missed applicable change.

Release of Coursework:

The coursework and online Canvas modules will be released on the course site according to the schedule on the Course Schedule. Once released, they will remain available on the course site.

Late Policy:

Because students have an extended period of time to complete exams, assignments, and discussion boards, there will generally be no make-up exams and late discussion boards and assignments will generally not be accepted. A zero will be awarded for any work that is submitted late or not turned in at all during the scheduled time period. Students with absences that are authorized pursuant to university policy 06.039 Student Attendance and Authorized Absences and that impact the timeliness of their work (for example, by covering the entire time period during which an assignment, discussion, or exam could be done), should contact me and provide documentation prior to any due date in order for such absence to receive any consideration.

Individual technical or technological difficulties in completing an assignment, discussion, or exam in a timely manner (e.g., computer crashes or viruses or interrupted internet connections) do not constitute a basis to request a make-up exam or the submission of a late discussion or assignment. To avoid such issues, I encourage you to not wait until the final available hours or minutes to complete assigned coursework and/or complete your assignments, discussions, and exams in a UNT computer lab. It is also recommended that you submit assigned work through a supported web browser on a computer or laptop rather than an iPad or other electronic device and that you avoid using wireless internet connections.

Online Etiquette:

This online format provides the opportunity to thoughtfully discuss issues and exchange ideas. Your communication with me and your fellow students in this online format should be appropriate to the course and respectful of the opinions of others. Engaging in disruptive or disrespectful behavior in this online forum may result in your dismissal from this class, as provided in university policy.

Posting of Grades:

Students can access their grades via the Grades tab on the course page. Coursework (i.e., assignments, discussions, and exams) grades will be available within 7 business days after the applicable coursework period closes.

Academic Dishonesty:

The university rules (UNT Policy 06.003) concerning cheating and plagiarism will be strictly enforced. Your work on assignments, discussion boards, and exams should be your own individual and independent work. These are not group projects. You should not consult other persons when completing exams, assignments, or discussion boards.

Policy on Server Unavailability or Other Technical Difficulties:

The University is committed to providing a reliable online course system to all users. However, in the event of any unexpected server or any unusual technical difficulty which prevents students from completing a time sensitive assessment activity, the instructor will extend the time windows and provide an appropriate accommodation based on the situation.

SPOT (Student Perceptions of Teaching):

You will have the opportunity to complete the SPOT survey at the end of the semester and share your thoughts about the course. I value the feedback that I receive from the SPOT survey and strongly encourage you to participate by completing the survey in this class and all of your classes.

ADA Statement:

The University of North Texas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Access (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide you with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet (i.e., electronically, phone, or in person) with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. For additional information, see the Office of Disability Access website at <http://disability.unt.edu/>. You may also contact them by phone at 940.565.4323.

Intellectual Property Statement:

The material posted online for this course is my personal intellectual property or that of the university. You may not use this material for anything other than class purposes.

Emergency Notification & Procedures:

UNT uses a system called Eagle Alert to quickly notify students with critical information in the event of an emergency (i.e., severe weather, campus closing, and health and public safety emergencies like chemical spills, fires, or violence). In the event of a university closure, please refer to Canvas for contingency plans for covering course materials.

Important Notice for F-1 Students taking Distance Education Courses: see Appendix 1.

Appendix 1

Important Notice for F-1 Students taking Distance Education Courses: Federal Regulation

Federal Regulation

To read detailed Immigration and Customs Enforcement regulations for F-1 students taking online courses, please go to the Electronic Code of Federal Regulations website at <http://ecfr.gpoaccess.gov>. The specific portion concerning distance education courses is located at "Title 8 CFR 214.2 Paragraph (f)(6)(i)(G)" and can be found within this document: <http://frwebgate.access.gpo.gov/cgi-bin/get-cfr.cgi?TITLE=8&PART=214&SECTION=2&TYPE=TEXT>

The paragraph reads:

(G) For F–1 students enrolled in classes for credit or classroom hours, no more than the equivalent of one class or three credits per session, term, semester, trimester, or quarter may be counted toward the full course of study requirement if the class is taken on-line or through distance education and does not require the student's physical attendance for classes, examination or other purposes integral to completion of the class. An on-line or distance education course is a course that is offered principally through the use of television, audio, or computer transmission including open broadcast, closed circuit, cable, microwave, or satellite, audio conferencing, or computer conferencing. If the F–1 student's course of study is in a language study program, no on-line or distance education classes may be considered to count toward a student's full course of study requirement.

University of North Texas Compliance

To comply with immigration regulations, an F-1 visa holder within the United States may need to engage in an on-campus experiential component for this course. This component (which must be approved in advance by the instructor) can include activities such as taking an on-campus exam, participating in an on-campus lecture or lab activity, or other on-campus experience integral to the completion of this course.

If such an on-campus activity is required, it is the student's responsibility to do the following:

- (1) Submit a written request to the instructor for an on-campus experiential component within one week of the start of the course.
- (2) Ensure that the activity on campus takes place and the instructor documents it in writing with a notice sent to the International Student and Scholar Services Office (ISSS). ISSS has a form available that you may use for this purpose.

Because the decision may have serious immigration consequences, if an F-1 student is unsure about his or her need to participate in an on-campus experiential component for this course, the student should contact the UNT International Student and Scholar Services Office (telephone 940-565-2195 or email internationaladvising@unt.edu) to get clarification before the one-week deadline.
