MUTH 3510/5510 – Form Analysis online

Wintermester (Spring 3W1) 2021

Dr. Frank Heidlberger, Professor of Music Theory

Contact: Heidlberger@unt.edu

IMPORTANT:

First Day of class: December 14, 2020. Winter Break: December 24, 2020 through January 1, 2021. Last day of Class: January 7, 2021. Finals: January 8, 2021.

This is an online course, administered through CANVAS. No class contact hours required.

Deadlines for assignments, discussions and quizzes must be followed strictly.

For contacting the instructor use the contact information posted above, or use the Chat function in CANVAS.

For contacting you I will only use your official UNT email address ...@my.unt.edu. Make sure that you check your inbox regularly.

Course Content:

- “Structural principles of 18th- and 19th-century music determined by analysis of major composers’ works, larger instrumental and vocal forms” (Undergraduate/Graduate Catalog).
- Discussion, description and analysis of phrase structures and large-scale forms of the common-practice era (1700-1900)

Prerequisite(s):

MUTH 2400 and MUTH 2410, both with a grade of C or better.

Course-level Learning Objectives:

Upon successful completion of this course, the learner will be able to...

- Define and describe phrase structures and large-scale forms (Sonata, Rondo, Variation) of musical works of the common-practice era (music of the 18th and 19th centuries) appropriately, including local sections, harmonic and motivic markers, and references.
- Analyze abstract formal functions and procedures (statement, repetition, development, cadence types, harmonic and motivic sequences etc.) appropriate to their respective style and repertoire.
- Communicate musical structure (large-scale and local) with the appropriate terminology, both in written documents (analytical essays) and in group discussions (blogs)
- Assess and critique a reasonable selection of repertoire of the common-practice era in the context of stylistic developments of music in the late baroque/classical/romantic eras.

- Being capable to read musical sources (scores) appropriately in order to evaluate categories of musical expression, related to structural components (dynamics, timbre, orchestration, expressive content, poetic meaning).

Literature:

No textbook required. See Module “Getting” Started” for recommended reading.

Required equipment:

Computer, reliable internet access, access to UNT CANVAS, WORD, Adobe pdf Reader or Adobe ACROBAT, printer, scanner or other device to digitalize written pages.

Method:

All material will be presented on CANVAS. The participant is expected to read the material daily, according to the schedule provided within the modules (“What we will learn and what to do”).

Online-class work time should be a minimum of three hours per day, five times a week (equivalent to 3W1 courses), plus time needed for the assignments. Keep in mind that this course of 12 class days contains the same content and number of assignments as 15 weeks of a 3-credit hour class in a long semester. This is more than one week of content per day. Each module consists of content pages, downloadable pdf files and assignment pages in chronological order, top to bottom (see the “Modules”-folder). It is the responsibility of the participant to follow the material in time and turn in assignments in time. It is possible to work ahead of the schedule in case a participant is traveling etc. For this purpose, all modules will be made accessible starting with Module 1. Assignments of Modules 6-10 will be available during winter break.

Organization:

The content is organized in ten modules and an introductory module. For learning objectives and a detailed schedule for each module see the page “What we will learn and What to do” at each respective module:

- Get Started: Introduction to the online course, fundamentals review
- Module 1: Basic Definitions – Form Analysis in Context
- Module 2: Basic Formal Structures. Phrase, Period, Sentence...
- Module 3: Binary and Ternary Forms
- Module 4: Songs and Arias
- Module 5: Ostinato and Variation Forms
- Module 6: Rondo Form
- Module 7: Sonata Form, basic formal design
- Module 8: Sonata form, advanced formal designs
- Module 9: Sonata-Rondo
- Module 10: Solo Concerto Forms and Wrap up

You can also look up the assignment deadlines on CANVAS, either under “Syllabus” or under “Calendar.”

Grading:

Grading is based on four assignment categories:

- Discussions: 20% of the final grade. Total number: 6 discussions plus the non-graded introductory discussion. Content: short questions or assignments to be discussed by the participant as a blog.
- Quizzes: 20% of the final grade. Total number: 6 quizzes. Content: multiple choice, fill in the blank, and short answer-type quizzes asking for details of the content of the respective module
- Essay assignments: 40% of the final grade. Total number: 5. Content: More complex analytical questions requiring short essays or elaborated answers to be turned in (uploaded) via CANVAS.
- FINAL ESSAY: 20% of the final grade. Elaborated analytical essay about a movement of a common-practice work, including form table/graph, as applicable. In addition a harmonic reduction that represents that large-scale harmonic design as relevant to formal sections may be uploaded for extra credit in order to improve grades lower than A.
- SPOT evaluation: extra credit (3 points to the final grade) will be assigned to every student if at least 60% of the participants filled out the SPOT class evaluation at the end of the term.

Late assignment policy:

An online course does not have an attendance requirement. Thus, late turn-ins of assignments, quizzes and discussion are not possible and will be graded with 0 points. There is one exception:

- Illness, documented by the student sick form from the UNT Dean of Students

For more information about course-related aspects see the “Getting Started”-Module.

General Rules and Regulations: The following University Policies apply to this class:

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Students caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a "0" for that particular assignment or exam [or specify alternative sanction, such as course failure]. Additionally, the incident will be reported to the Dean of Students, who may impose further penalty. According to the UNT catalog, the term “cheating” includes, but is not limited to: a. use of any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations; b. dependence upon the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments; c. the acquisition, without permission, of tests or other academic material belonging to a faculty or staff member of the university; d. dual submission of a paper or project, or resubmission of a paper or project to a different class without express permission from the instructor(s); or e. any other act designed to give a student an unfair advantage. The term “plagiarism” includes, but is not limited to: a. the knowing or negligent use by paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgment; and b. the knowing or negligent unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials.

ODA STATEMENT

The University of North Texas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide you with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. For additional information see the Office of Disability Accommodation.
