B: 899-800
C: 799-700
D: 699-600

E. Exams (300*2=600)
The examination will be based on lectures, reading assignments, class activities, discussions and writing assignments. Exam will be in class and closed book, requiring essays and short answers—predominantly essays. Exam cannot be made up unless you notify the professor before the time of an exam that you cannot take the exam and you have to have an official and reasonable excuse.

F. Team Project: State of Nonprofit Sector (300)
The class will be divided into small groups to assess the nonprofit sector in the major cities in Texas. Team of 3 members will be randomly assigned at the beginning of semester. This team project is designed to help students understand nonprofit organizations in our community and develop analytical perspectives about the sector by examining nonprofit and census data. The group will work together to assess the demographics and the nonprofit ecology of the area. This project will examine how nonprofits are responding to the social demand of the community and utilizing community resources. There will be special attention on how nonprofits are functioning in the unique environment of wealth, poverty and diverse demand of human and social services.

There will be work in teams throughout the course:

1st assignment, Data analysis: Understand and analyze data and prepare descriptive data analyses—presenting socio-economic characteristics of community and some key features of nonprofit sector and describe how characteristics of community shape the nonprofit sector. Expected length of 5-7 pages

2nd assignment, Individual case study: Each student chooses a sub-sector of the nonprofits in the community and prepare a case study about the chosen service area nonprofit organizations (i.e. education, arts, environment, literacy, sports, shelter etc..). These individual case studies will be combined with the group paper.
The case study is a short essay (about 3 pages 700-900 words) that describes how the sub-sector of the nonprofit organizations are doing in the community.

3\textsuperscript{rd} assignment, Presentation: the team’s research findings and implications will be prepared as a 15 minute powerpoint presentation on December 5. The presentation will evaluated based on:

- Are the analyses sound?
- Are data used for recommendations?
- Are they persuasively presented?
- Are they presented confidently, clearly, concisely, and energetically?

4\textsuperscript{th} assignment, Final report: Develop a comprehensive, clear, and critical assessment about nonprofit sector of the community. The report should be prepared in a format and style appropriate for professional delivery, including a title page, an executive summary (150 -200 words) and references

- Written report expected between 20-22 pages in length, not including title page, an executive summary and references.
- All articles, books and websites used in report should be fully referenced on a separate reference page. As proper citation is a key part of any research assignment, it is imperative that you utilize proper citing and quoting techniques in this report. Please use APA style of citation and references. UNT library offers free tutoring for students. (check out: \url{http://www.library.unt.edu/govinfo/browse-topics/citation-guides-and-style-manuals/citation-guides-and-style-manuals})
- Final paper must be turned in electronically to the CANVAS by noon of December 5. Email copies will not be accepted.
- Late papers will not be accepted (Early submission is fine).

G. Attendance and Participation
Students will be expected to be full participants in shaping the character of the seminar; that requires all students to come to class prepared to discuss the readings for each session. Some of the assigned readings are in the form of cases. To prepare for case discussions, you should carefully read and thoroughly analyze the case. The instructor would provide a brief lecture to the topic of each class sessions. In order to earn a high grade for participation, students should:
- Attend every class Rather: attendance is important – vitally so. Attendance and punctuality are basic requirements for an effective discussion. This is a seminar class, which means a major part of the work of the class comes from our discussions. Attendance at all sessions is important. Excessive absence (30% of class meetings) will result in my recommending that you withdraw from the course.
- Arrive at class on time and stay for the entire class
- Read all the assigned readings and come to class with questions about and thoughts on the readings
- Consistently take an active part in class discussions
- Participate in small group and class discussions of readings and in-class activities

H. CANVAS
CANVAS will be used to supplement work in this course. Checking CANVAS frequently is advised in order to stay abreast of any and all announcements, and changes. On occasion, the instructor will send emails to the entire class via UNT student assigned email accounts.

I. Academic Dishonesty: POLICY ON CHEATING AND PLAGIARISM
Notice of this policy shall be given in all public administration classes each semester, and written copies shall be available in the public administration office.
Definitions
The UNT Code of Student Conduct and Discipline defines cheating and plagiarism “as the use of unauthorized books, notes, or otherwise securing help in a test; copying other’s tests, assignments, reports, or term papers; representing the work of another as one’s own; collaborating without authority with another student during an examination or in preparing academic work; or otherwise practicing scholastic dishonesty.”

Penalties
Normally, the minimum penalty for cheating or plagiarism is a grade of “F” in the course. In the case of graduate departmental exams, the minimum penalty shall be failure of all fields of the exam. Determination of cheating or plagiarism shall be made by the instructor in the course, or by the departmental faculty in the case of departmental exams. Cases of cheating or plagiarism on graduate departmental exams, papers, theses, or dissertations shall automatically be referred to the departmental Curriculum and Degree Programs Committee. Cases of cheating or plagiarism in ordinary course work may, at the discretion of the instructor, be referred to the Curriculum and Degree Programs Committee in the case of either graduate or undergraduate students. This committee, acting as an agent of the Department, shall impose further penalties, or recommend further penalties to the Dean of Students, if they determine that the case warrants it. In all cases, the Dean of Students shall be informed in writing of the case.

Appeals
Students may appeal and decision under this policy by following the procedure laid down in the UNT Code of Student Conduct and Discipline.

J. Special Needs
The Department of Public Administration, in cooperation with the Office of Disability Accommodation, complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act in making reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities. Please present your written accommodation request during regular office hours before the 12th class day of regular semesters.

K. Policy on laptops and cell phones in the classroom
The classroom setting at an institution of higher learning is intended to serve as a venue that permits the transfer of knowledge and facilitates the sharing of ideas. As such, it is imperative that any distractions from these stated objectives be avoided and kept to a minimum. Potential disruptions include modern electronic devices such as laptop computers and cell phones.

Students are allowed to take notes on personal laptop computers to enhance the learning process, but they should not activate their internet browsers during class or use computers for non-academic purposes (as this diverts attention from the lecture/discussion for both the student using it and others nearby). Students should also avoid using cell phones to search the Internet or text while class is in session.

Exceptions to this policy will be at the discretion of the faculty only and may occur if searching the Internet is necessary to find additional information or facts related to the subject being covered on that particular day.

L. Student Behavior in the Classroom:
Student behavior that interferes with an instructor’s ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Center for Student Rights and Responsibilities to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The university's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including university and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at www.unt.edu/csrr
