About the Professor / Instructor

Greetings to ADTA 5560.410 – Recurrent Neural Network for Sequence Data. Let me provide you a brief overview of my background. I embarked on my academic journey by completing a Bachelor of Science degree. Following this, I entered the industry, gaining 6 years of experience as a network manager and software developer. Subsequently, I pursued my Master of Science and Doctorate in Computer Science, specializing in Cloud Computing and Machine/Deep Learning (ML/DL). My academic journey led me to educating students in the higher education and research. I've had the privilege of instructing diverse courses encompassing C, Java, and Python Programming, SQL Server, Cloud Computing, Linux OS, Data Visualization, Machine Learning, and Deep Learning for both undergraduate and graduate students. My research focus predominantly revolves around applying Deep Learning for predictive analysis in medical domain and Cloud Computing landscape.

Course Description

This course discusses the recurrent neural networks (RNN) – one of the most popular types of the artificial neural network – and focuses on the LSTM (Long Short Term Memory) neural network that is considered as the most powerful and versatile RNN variation. The course provides the student with a guide through how to use TensorFlow and Keras, the two most popular AI frameworks at present, to build artificial neural networks for deep learning that will be trained on the sequence data of which time series is one example. This course covers both the theory and the practical implementation of the AI network. As the fundamentals are discussed, exemplary AI techniques will be employed to illustrate how AI deep learning theories can be applied to real-world solutions using various programming and system tools.
Course Objectives

Upon successful completion of this course, the learner will be able to:

1. Discuss the impacts of AI, Machine Learning, and Deep Learning on the society.
2. Describe the roles of the recurrent neural network in the context of recent breakthroughs in AI.
3. Demonstrate the understanding of core concepts of the recurrent neural network, especially the Simple RNN.
4. Explain the vanishing gradient problem as a critical shortcoming of the Simple RNN.
5. Demonstrate the understanding of the Long Short-Term Memory (LSTM) neural network and its core concepts: Cell State and Gates.
6. Build, train, test, and improve the performance of the Simple RNN on time-series data.
7. Build, train, test, and improve the performance of the LSTM network on time-series data.
8. Demonstrate the skills of using TensorFlow AI framework and Keras (plus Python) in AI projects with RNN and sequence data.
9. Demonstrate the understanding and skills of using the cloud computing in AI Deep Learning projects.

Teaching Philosophy
As an educator, I hold the responsibility of defining clear learning outcomes for each course I lead, and my role is to guide students' progress to ensure that each one attains those benchmarks. I firmly believe that effective teaching entails grounding theoretical concepts with real-world instances, encouraging open discourse to deepen comprehension, and affording opportunities for students to apply their acquired knowledge. Fostering active learning is integral to my teaching philosophy; by posing questions, stimulating discussions, and employing relatable analogies, I strive to create an interactive classroom environment that amplifies learning outcomes and sustains students' enthusiasm. I hold the expectation that every student will invest their utmost effort into coursework, demonstrate respect for peers, and actively participate in class activities, thereby contributing to the collective learning journey.

refer to Canvas for contingency plans for covering course materials.
Retention of Student Records
Student records pertaining to this course are maintained in a secure location by the instructor of record. All records such as exams, answer sheets (with keys), and written papers submitted during the duration of the course are kept for at least one calendar year after course completion. Course work completed via the Canvas online system, including grading information and comments, is also stored in a safe electronic environment for one year. Students have the right to view their individual record; however, information about student’s records will not be divulged to other individuals without proper written consent. Students are encouraged to review the Public Information Policy and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) laws and the University’s policy. See UNT Policy 10.10, Records Management and Retention for additional information.

Acceptable Student Behavior
Student behavior that interferes with an instructor’s ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Dean of Students to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The University's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including University and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. Visit UNT’s Code of Student Conduct to learn more.

Important Notice for F-1 Students taking Distance Education Courses:

Federal Regulation

The paragraph reads:

(G) For F-1 students enrolled in classes for credit or classroom hours, no more than the equivalent of one class or three credits per session, term, semester, trimester, or quarter may be counted toward the full course of study requirement if the class is taken on-line or through distance education and does not require the student's physical attendance for classes, examination or other purposes integral to completion of the class.
University of North Texas Compliance

To comply with immigration regulations, an F-1 visa holder within the United States may need to engage in an on-campus experiential component for this course. This component (which must be approved in advance by the instructor) can include activities such as taking an on-campus exam, participating in an on-campus lecture or lab activity, or other on-campus experience integral to the completion of this course. If such an on-campus activity is required, it is the student’s responsibility to do the following:

1. Submit a written request to the instructor for an on-campus experiential component within one week of the start of the course.
2. Ensure that the activity on campus takes place and the instructor documents it in writing with a notice sent to the International Student and Scholar Services Office. ISSS has a form available that you may use for this purpose.

Because the decision may have serious immigration consequences, if an F-1 student is unsure about his or her need to participate in an on-campus experiential component for this course, s/he should contact the UNT International Student and Scholar Services Office (telephone 940-565-2195 or email internationaladvising@unt.edu) to get clarification before the one-week deadline.

Student Verification

UNT takes measures to protect the integrity of educational credentials awarded to students enrolled in distance education courses by verifying student identity, protecting student privacy, and notifying students of any special meeting times/locations or additional charges associated with student identity verification in distance education courses.

See UNT Policy 07-002 Student Identity Verification, Privacy, and Notification and Distance Education Courses (https://policy.unt.edu/policy/07-002).

Use of Student Work

A student owns the copyright for all work (e.g. software, photographs, reports, presentations, and email postings) he or she creates within a class and the University is not entitled to use any student work without the student’s permission unless all of the following criteria are met:

- The work is used only once.
- The work is not used in its entirety.
- Use of the work does not affect any potential profits from the work.
- The student is not identified.
- The work is identified as student work.

If the use of the work does not meet all of the above criteria, then the University office or department using the work must obtain the student’s written permission.
Transmission and Recording of Student Images in Electronically Delivered Courses

1. No permission is needed from a student for his or her image or voice to be transmitted live via videoconference or streaming media, but all students should be informed when courses are to be conducted using either method of delivery.

2. In the event that an instructor records student presentations, he or she must obtain permission from the student using a signed release in order to use the recording for future classes in accordance with the Use of Student-Created Work guidelines above.

3. Instructors who video-record their class lectures with the intention of re-using some or all of recordings for future class offerings must notify students on the course syllabus if students' images may appear on video. Instructors are also advised to provide accommodation for students who do not wish to appear in class recordings.

   Example: This course employs lecture capture technology to record class sessions. Students may occasionally appear on video. The lecture recordings will be available to you for study purposes and may also be reused in future course offerings.

No notification is needed if only audio and slide capture is used or if the video only records the instructor's image. However, the instructor is encouraged to let students know the recordings will be available to them for study purposes.

Class Recordings & Student Likenesses

Synchronous (live) sessions in this course will be recorded for students enrolled in the class section to refer to throughout the semester. Class recordings are the intellectual property of the university or instructor and are reserved for use only by students in this class and only for educational purposes. Students may not post or otherwise share the recordings outside the class, or outside the Canvas Learning Management System, in any form. Failing to follow this restriction is a violation of the UNT Code of Student Conduct and could lead to disciplinary action.
