Graduate Student Addendum

This class “meets with” MRTS 4320, an advanced undergraduate class dedicated to the same topic. Graduate students in this class are expected to complete the same course requirements as are students in 4320, with the following exceptions:

1. In lieu of the weekly reading quizzes, graduate students will complete each of the reading/screening reviews.
2. Students will participate in a series of additional graduate student only class sessions.

Research Project

Graduate students will complete a research project on a topic of their choice related to media law and regulation. The exact form of this project is to be determined in consultation between the student and professor. This project will provide graduate students with an opportunity to practice upper level research skills; study an area of interest in more detail; and complete a quality project that can be used as a writing sample, conference presentation, publication, etc.

More information on the assignment will be available on the assignment link on Canvas.
