What is this course about?

This course is about understanding and developing skills necessary for ensemble playing. How do we identify and solve specific performance problems? How do we analyze phrase and formal structure and convey them in performance as an ensemble? What are the most constructive and productive way of sharing our musical opinions with others? We will explore the answers to these questions in this class.

What should you be able to know and do by the end of the semester?

- You will develop an understanding of nonverbal cues and body language in ensemble playing.
- You will be able to apply appropriate part balance and rhythmic coordination.
- You will gain hands-on experience of rehearsing with ensemble members, discussing and coordinating musical intentions.
- You will develop familiarity with ensemble repertoire.

What are the course policies?

- Attendance is required for all classes.
- A placement audition will be held on the first day of class.
- Bring a footstool or guitar support, sheet music, and pencils or erasable pens to every class.
- The class includes one large ensemble and small ensembles. All students will participate in the large ensemble, with parts assigned in the first week. Based on placement audition results, some students will also be assigned to small ensembles.
- It is crucial to learn and prepare your part in advance. This is part of cultivating a professional attitude towards performance.
- If assigned to a small ensemble, meet with your group weekly outside of class before coaching sessions. Each group must have at least three coaching sessions before the concert.
- Respect builds a safe learning and performing community. Even when we disagree in certain musical ideas, we must be respectful to each other.
- No cell phone use is allowed in class. For emergencies, please take your phone outside.
- Participation at the end-of-semester ensemble concert (November 17th) is mandatory. Designated call times for the performance will be communicated later.

How are you graded?

Your final grade is based on a pass/fail system across 23 rehearsals and 1 performance (2 points), with each session worth one point. To receive a point, you are expected to come to the rehearsal having independently prepared your part and be fully engaged during the rehearsals. This includes writing all the instruction and cues you received from the rehearsals.

The total number of points you can earn is 25. Your final letter grade will be determined by the total number of points you have accumulated, as outlined in the grading scale below.

Letter Grade	Points
A	23 - 25
B	20 - 22
C	17 - 19
D	14 - 16
F	13 or fewer
