Course Overview

The U.S. “government” is actually constituted by an enormous number of “governments” which are not neatly organized into a hierarchy with a clear chain of command. Rather, governmental relationships and interactions are complex and evolving. Such interactions may be collaborative, cooperative, or competitive. The comparative power of federal, state, local, and interregional entities has waxed and waned over time due to changes in legislation, culture, and technology. This course is designed to provide the learner with a road map and a “cheat sheet” for determining who is responsible for what and why.

The course will examine several hot button issues in which the authority of one branch of government was challenged by another, and debate whether the current structure makes sense. Toward the end of the course, we will consider supranational organizations and how the roles of these organizations tie in with traditional notions of national sovereignty.

This course will be helpful to any student interested in the reach and role of governmental entities from the perspective of political science, history, or public policy.

Course Structure

This course takes place 100% asynchronous online. The primary tool of communication for this course is the Canvas course portal. Please make sure that you have access to Canvas, and please visit the link for online communication tips <https://clear.unt.edu/online-communication-tips>. Your interaction with the instructors and with your fellow students will take place in Canvas. Content is delivered in modules with due dates set by the instructor.

Course Objectives

Upon successful completion of this course, students will develop competencies in the following areas:

1. Constitutional, policy, and administrative relations between the Federal and state governments
2. Constitutional, policy, and administrative relations between state and local governments
3. Collaborative and competitive relations between local governments
4. U.S. role in supranational organizations

Required Materials

Course Policies

Assignment Policy

Assignment due dates are listed in the syllabus and posted on Canvas. For each assignment, you can find instructions and additional materials on Canvas. All assignments should be submitted via Canvas, unless indicated otherwise.

Quiz and Exam Policy

Each quiz or exam is timed and has a deadline for completion. Please read the on-screen instructions carefully before beginning. After all quizzes and exams are graded and released, the score will be posted in Canvas. Students may not discuss a quiz or exam with other students.

The University is committed to providing a reliable online course system to all users. Students should immediately report any problems to the instructor and contact the UNT Student Help Desk: helpdesk@unt.edu or 940.565.2324 and obtain a ticket number. The instructor and the UNT Student Help Desk will work with the student to resolve any issues at the earliest possible time.

Late Work

All assignments are due by 11:59 PM, the end of the due date. You will lose 10% of your total score if you submit within 48 hours after the deadline. You will lose 20% of your total score if you submit beyond 48 hours after the deadline. Your assignment will not be accepted beyond 7 days of the deadline with no legitimate reasons or no communication with the instructor. Please email the instructor BEFORE the deadline to request an accommodation to waive the late policy. An extension may be given under limited circumstances, including but not limited to, the student's or a close family member's illness or injury; death of a close family member; or other major life event. The student must provide written documentation of any such event upon request. If a student fails to timely contact the professor and/or provide the requested documentation, the student will not be given additional time to complete the assigned coursework and will receive no credit for the assigned coursework.

Cheating or Plagiarism

In accordance with UNT policy (<https://policy.unt.edu/policy/06-003>), cheating or plagiarism will result in a grade of F for the course. Any work submitted for a grade should be the original work of the student. Remember, plagiarism is a violation of acceptable student conduct. Long quotations should be avoided. Text or unique ideas taken directly from an author (quoted or paraphrased) should be cited and that citation should include a page number for the text. Violations will not be treated lightly, and disciplinary action will be taken should such violations occur. Please see the professor if you have any questions about academic integrity in general or as it relates to particular requirements for this course.

Syllabus Change Policy

We reserve the right to change, modify, add to, alter, delete, and otherwise rearrange the syllabus to make the learning process accessible and in response to changes in a situation. If this were to occur, students will be given advanced notice and a copy of the changes.

ADA Policy

UNT makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide a student with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding one's specific course needs. Students may request accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. Students are strongly encouraged to deliver letters of reasonable accommodation during faculty office hours or by appointment. Faculty members have the authority to ask students to discuss such letters during their designated office hours to protect the privacy of the student. For additional information, refer to the Office of Disability Access website (<https://studentaffairs.unt.edu/office-disability-access/>). You may also contact ODA by phone at (940) 565-4323.
