Course Materials

To succeed in this course, you'll engage with a mix of readings, video tutorials, and supplementary materials. These resources have been selected to provide both foundational knowledge and practical skills relevant to content strategy.

- Textbook: Swisher, V. (2014). Global content strategy: A primer. XML Press.
- LinkedIn Learning: Google Analytics 4 \(GA4\) Essential Training by Corey Koberg LinkedIn Learning Course \(1 hr 56 min\) Free access by your UNT account

Attendance

I do expect you attend class when you're able, but I don't want you to attend when you're sick. If you can't come to class, please contact me to see what kind of a plan we can come up with.

Please note:

- If you have to miss class, you will miss out on any in-class assignments or activities we do that day. Those cannot be made up. However, you may have up to two waivers or exemptions for missed in-class assignments or activities.
- Three instances of arriving late or leaving early (for 10min) will count as one absence.
- If you miss more than 6 classes (unexcused absences), you will receive a grade of 'F' in the class.

Assignments

You'll complete the majority of the assignments in this course individually. Some of the large assignments, however, will be completed in groups. Just over one-fourth of your final grade will be based on groupwork. A brief summary of the assignments you'll complete this semester appears below.

Late Work

In my late-work policy, I try to be fair and understanding while still encouraging you to keep up with the course. We move quickly, which means it can be easy to fall behind. I don't want that for you!

I do accept late work, but only under one of these three circumstances:

- If the assignment is submitted within the grace period. I allow a grace period of 24 hours for each assignment due. This means that you have 24 hours from the specified due date to turn in your assignment without penalty. Because in-class assignments are due at the end of class, there is no grace period for them.
- If we have agreed on a deadline extension. If you know you have an extenuating circumstance that will prevent you from meeting a deadline or submitting an assignment within in the 24-hour grace period, please let me know by email at least 48 hours before the assignment is due. We can then discuss next steps.
- If you missed a deadline due to an emergency. If you or a loved one has an emergency that you must attend to, please do so. When things have calmed down, email me. I will never ask for specifics about the situation or for any kind of proof that what you're telling me is true—I believe you! We'll arrange for a deadline extension.

All assignments in Canvas, except in-class assignments, are set to automatically close 24 hours after the due date (i.e., at the end of the grace period). This means that unless you have made arrangements with me beforehand, you will not be able to submit assignments past the due date. They will simply be marked with a "0". In-class assignments are set to close at the end of the class period in which they are due.

Please note that lost or corrupted files do not constitute an excuse for late or unsubmitted work.

Grading

There are 1,000 points possible in the class plus 20 points of extra credit. I will round your final grades to the nearest whole number based on two decimal places, but that is all. So, for example, if you earn an 89.50% at the end of the semester, your grade will round to an A. However, if you earn an 89.49%, your grade will be a B.

I will give you written feedback for all of the major assignments you submit for this course. Letter grades are assigned based on the percent earned at the end of the course. Those letter grades correspond to the following levels of performance:

Scale	Criteria
A (90%–100%)	A manager/client would be very impressed and would remember the work when a promotion is discussed. In this course, that means work that is a pleasure to read, with excellent content, grammar, sentence structure, mechanics, and visual design. In addition, work is thorough, complete, coherent, well organized, supported sufficiently, and demonstrates a superior understanding of audience, purpose, and rationale.
B (80%-89.9%)	A manager/client would be satisfied with the job, but not especially impressed. This means that work is well written and well produced, and demonstrates a substantial addition to the learning process. Work is sufficiently developed, organized, and supported, and demonstrates a solid understanding of audience, purpose, and rationale.
C (70%-79.9%)	A manager/client would be disappointed and ask you to revise or rewrite the work before allowing clients and others to see it. In other words, the work may have clear, but underdeveloped ideas, or it might not engage or affect the reader. The work may contain some errors in grammar, mechanics, or logic.
D (60%-69.9%)	A manager/client would be troubled by the poor quality of work. This level of work forces the reader to work too hard to understand the main ideas. The work may contain incomplete information, have serious grammar and mechanical problems, lack clear organization, or be conceptually unclear.
F (< 59.9%)	A manager/client would start looking for someone to replace you. In particular, the work fails to address the tasks of the assignment, is so underdeveloped as to demonstrate incompetence, and is mechanically and grammatically incomprehensible.

Use of AI Writing Tools

Artificial intelligence tools (like OpenAI's ChatGPT) have become freakishly sophisticated. Their use in school and professional settings has caused people to ask a lot of questions about how to use them ethically. For many of these questions, we don't have good answers. We're still figuring things out.

I recognize that AI tools can offer real value in supporting the writing process, and for that reason we will engage with them this semester. However, effective use of AI requires skill, critical thinking, and sustained effort. Expecting to offload the work of learning or writing entirely to an AI tool is a mistake. You are always responsible for the work you submit.

AI tools may not be used to generate or replace your work. You should never submit AI-generated text as your own, and you should not allow AI tools to take over the thinking, analysis, or writing that this course is designed to help you develop. While AI may be used in limited ways to support brainstorming, revision, or learning, your ideas, arguments, organization, and language must remain your own. Don't let AI tools eliminate your voice.

If you use AI tools at any stage of your process, you must acknowledge that use. Include the chat link and a brief note describing how the tool was used is sufficient unless otherwise specified. Transparency matters: acknowledging AI use helps ensure ethical practice and reinforces your responsibility as the author of your work.

UNT Policies

Academic Integrity Policy

According to UNT Policy 06.003, Student Academic Integrity, academic dishonesty occurs when students engage in behaviors including, but not limited to cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, forgery, plagiarism, and sabotage. A finding of academic dishonesty may result in a range of academic penalties or sanctions ranging from admonition to expulsion from the University.

ADA Policy

UNT makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide a student with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding one's specific course needs. Students may request accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. For additional information see the ODA website.

Prohibition of Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation (Policy 16.004)

The University of North Texas (UNT) prohibits discrimination and harassment because of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, or any other characteristic protected under applicable federal or state law in its application and admission processes; educational programs and activities; employment policies, procedures, and processes; and university facilities. The University takes active measures to prevent such conduct and investigates and takes remedial action when appropriate.

Emergency Notification & Procedures

UNT uses a system called Eagle Alert to quickly notify students with critical information in the event of an emergency (i.e., severe weather, campus closing, and health and public safety emergencies like chemical spills, fires, or violence). In the event of a university closure, please refer to Canvas for contingency plans for covering course materials.

Retention of Student Records

Student records pertaining to this course are maintained in a secure location by the instructor of record. All records such as exams, answer sheets (with keys), and written papers submitted during the duration of the course are kept for at least one calendar year after course completion. Course work completed via the Canvas online system, including grading information and comments, is also stored in a safe electronic environment for one year. Students have the right to view their individual record; however, information about student's records will not be divulged to other individuals without proper written consent. Students are encouraged to review the Public Information Policy and the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) laws and the University's policy. See UNT Policy 10.10, Records Management and Retention for additional information.

Acceptable Student Behavior

Student behavior that interferes with an instructor's ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Dean of Students to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The University's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including University and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. Visit UNT's Code of Student Conduct to learn more.

Access to Information - Eagle Connect

Students' access point for business and academic services at UNT is located at: my.unt.edu. All official communication from the University will be delivered to a student's Eagle Connect account. For more information, please visit the website that explains Eagle Connect and how to forward e-mail Eagle Connect.

Student Evaluation Administration Dates

Student feedback is important and an essential part of participation in this course. The student evaluation of instruction is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. The survey will be made available during weeks 13, 14 and 15 of the long semesters to provide students with an opportunity to evaluate how this course is taught. Students will receive an email from "UNT SPOT Course Evaluations via IASystem Notification" (no-reply@iasystem.org) with the survey link. Students should look for the email in their UNT email inbox. Simply click on the link and complete the survey. Once students complete the survey they will receive a confirmation email that the survey has been submitted. For additional information, please visit the SPOT website or email spot@unt.edu.

Survivor Advocacy

UNT is committed to providing a safe learning environment free of all forms of sexual misconduct. Federal laws and UNT policies prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex as well as sexual misconduct. If you or someone you know is experiencing sexual harassment, relationship violence, stalking and/or sexual assault, there are campus resources available to provide support and assistance. The Survivor Advocates can be reached at SurvivorAdvocate@unt.edu or by calling the Dean of Students Office at 940-5652648.

Use of Student Work

A student owns the copyright for all work (e.g. software, photographs, reports, presentations, and email postings) he or she creates within a class and the University is not entitled to use any student work without the student's permission unless all of the following criteria are met:

- The work is used only once.
- The work is not used in its entirety.
- Use of the work does not affect any potential profits from the work.
- The student is not identified.
- The work is identified as student work.

If the use of the work does not meet all of the above criteria, then the University office or department using the work must obtain the student's written permission.
