LEARNING PHILOSOPHY: Student success is most effective when you take responsibility for your own learning. What you achieve by the end of the course is determined by your commitment to mastering the material. I am committed to helping you learn by assisting you in your personal learning experience. This involves providing motivation, guidance, as well as opportunities for learning. You will learn by mastering assigned materials, setting high expectations, and emphasizing the relevance of the course material by explicitly linking real-world problems and decisions. Throughout the semester, numerous references to real-world problems will facilitate your ability to respond to a changing work environment. While many of you know, some topics of discussion in this course are based on your life and work experience; your responsibility is to integrate your prior knowledge and the knowledge gained from this course to enhance your career opportunities. I would encourage you to share your experience and enhance the class discussions. My role is to provide guidance by furnishing appropriate professional, career, and industry information and tools to assist students with their career goals. I am prepared and willing to assist with any challenges you may have in the course.

CANVAS: The course is supported by the Canvas (<https://canvas.unt.edu/>) course delivery system. I will use Canvas to provide you with course materials, including course syllabi, handouts, PowerPoint Slides, and other assignments. Each student will login to Canvas using their EUID and password. Only Canvas system will be used.

ATTENDANCE POLICY: Attendance is a graded activity and is expected. Everyone begins the class with 20 points for attendance. Attendance will not be reported in Canvas until the end of the semester, but will be tracked through iClicker. Attendance points are assigned using the following schedule:

Sessions Absent	Total Points Lost
2	-5
3	-10

ABSENCES: Students are expected to attend class meetings regularly and to abide by the attendance policy established for the course. It is important that you communicate with the professor and the instructional team prior to being absent, so you, the professor, and the instructional team can discuss and mitigate the impact of the absence on your attainment of course learning goals. Please inform the professor and instructional team if you are unable to attend class meetings because you are ill, in mindfulness of the health and safety of everyone in our community.

Absences due to participation in sponsored activities must be approved in advance by department chairs and academic deans. Within three days after the absence, students must obtain authorized absence cards from the Dean of Students for presentation to their instructors. Students with authorized absence cards may make up the work missed, when practicable, or be given special allowance so that they are not penalized for the absence.

Absences due to other causes, such as illness, emergency, death in the family, etc. are termed “excused” or “not excused” at the discretion of the instructor, but in accordance with applicable absence policies set by the department/division, school, college, or the course syllabus. Students should show proof that the absence was unavoidable, such as a physician’s statement, accident report, obituary, etc., and contact the instructor. (Note: The Student Health Center provides cards that verify the date and time of a student’s visit. Hospitalized patients are given a form showing the inclusive dates of their hospitalization.)

In accordance with state law, students who are absent due to the observance of a religious holiday may take examinations or complete assignments scheduled for the day missed within reasonable time after the absence. Travel time required for religious observances shall also be excused. Only holidays or holy days observed by a religion, whose place of worship is exempt from property taxation under Section 11.20 of the Tax Code may be included. UNT official attendance policy: <http://policy.unt.edu/policy/06-039>.

COURSE MATERIALS FOR REMOTE INSTRUCTION

Remote instruction may be necessary if community health conditions change. Students will need access to a webcam and microphone to participate in fully remote portions of the class. Information on how to be successful in a remote learning environment can be found at <https://online.unt.edu/learn>

INTEGRITY: Ethics and values are very important in accounting and the professional environment in which you will be working, and are equally important in education. I will assume, unless there is evidence to the contrary, that you are an ethical student. To help you fulfill your ethical responsibilities as a student, please refer to the University policy for information on academic integrity standards of the University of North Texas. If there is an academic integrity violation, the university will impose recommended sanctions for academic integrity violations. The university's academic integrity policy can be found at <http://policy.unt.edu/policy/06-003>.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY: The G. Brint Ryan College of Business takes academic honesty seriously. Ethics and integrity are important business values, essential to building trust and adhering to both professional and legal standards. Academic dishonesty destroys trust, damages the reputation and the value of the degree and is unacceptable.

According to UNT Policy 06.003, Student Academic Integrity, academic dishonesty occurs when students engage in behaviors including, but not limited to cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, forgery, plagiarism, and sabotage. A finding of academic dishonesty may result in a range of academic penalties or sanctions from admonition (a warning) to expulsion from the University.

Some of the most common examples of academic integrity violations include plagiarism or cheating, such as unauthorized assistance on examinations, homework, research papers or case analyses. Your work must be entirely your own. When working on assignments, you should not discuss your work with others unless approved by the course instructor. Group assignments should only be discussed with members assigned to your group, and all group members may be held accountable in some way for known academic integrity violations in a group assignment.

Another example of academic dishonesty relates to improper attribution. When preparing your assignments, you must cite all outside sources in the manner requested by your instructor. Copying or using material from any source prepared by or previously submitted by others, at UNT or other institutions, or downloaded from the Internet, is plagiarism. Unless directed otherwise in an assignment, large-scale “cutting and pasting” from other sources, even if properly footnoted, is not appropriate. You should synthesize this material in your own words and provide a footnote. Your instructor will specify what materials, if any, may be used on the tests and exams.

Using materials other than those permitted, talking with other individuals during the exam, individuals exchanging information about an exam when one has taken the exam and the other has not, or copying or using material from another individual’s exam is academic dishonesty and will result in a meeting to discuss academic integrity violations and potentially issue sanctions mentioned above, and may result in ineligibility for academic scholarships. The use of online assistance, such as sites commonly used for finding homework solutions, group chat, cell phones, smart watches, and similar tools during exams is not allowed for any reason unless specifically permitted. No portion of an exam may be copied or photographed without permission.

Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the University's status as an institution of higher education. A student is responsible for responding to a request to discuss suspected academic dishonesty when issued by an instructor or other University official. If a student fails to respond after a proper attempt at notification has been made, the University may take appropriate academic actions in the absence of the student’s participation.

CHANGES TO THE SYLLABUS: A syllabus is a tool to help you plan your time. Every effort is made to make the syllabus as complete as possible, but there may be occasions when changes are required. Your professor will announce any deviations from this syllabus through email and class announcements.

SUCCEED AT UNT: UNT endeavors to offer you a high-quality education and to provide a supportive environment help you learn and grow. Students are responsible for requesting accommodations from the Office of Disability Accommodations, according to its procedures and policies. To verify the eligibility of the student, students are expected to show appropriate documentation to the instructor when they first request accommodation. Students are to provide a written request for each test accommodation to their instructor (an e-mail will suffice, provided you have received a reply from the instructor). <http://policy.unt.edu/policy/16-001>

CLASS EVALUATION (SPOT): Student feedback is important and an essential part of participation in this course. The student evaluation of instruction is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. The short SPOT survey will be made available. PROFESSIONALISM: A professional demeanor is an integral part of any business environment, especially in your preparation for a career in accounting. Professionalism in this environment implies respect and courtesy for others. I expect students to maintain the highest standards of professionalism in the classroom. Your communication skills, appearance, and attitude affect your professional image and that of UNT in the eyes of others. Professionalism is exemplified by a willingness to engage in class discussions. Start good professional habits now.

PROFESSIONAL E-MAIL HABITS: A critical aspect of being a professional accountant is communication. You will be in contact with colleagues, supervisors, current clients, and potential clients throughout your career. Your communication via e-mail can leave a lasting positive or negative impression on the recipient and impact future interactions.

All communication directed to me (and faculty/staff) should follow professional e-mail etiquette. This includes:

- A brief title that informs the reader about the subject matter of the message.
- A formal salutation. 'Dear' is the best and most conservative salutation to use in professional communications, particularly if it is the first time contacting an individual. Other appropriate salutations are 'hi' or 'greetings'.
- Use of proper grammar, spelling, complete sentences, and appropriate punctuation.
- Proper titles of the person shall be used. In education, "Professor" is always safe but if they have a PhD, please refer to them as "Dr."
- End with a formal closing. 'Sincerely' is the best and most conservative closing, but 'best', 'best regards' and 'thank you' are all appropriate as well.

Please apply professional content and appropriate formatting to these documents per the desired format our accounting recruiting partners have requested.

MOCK INTERVIEWS:

You will participate in a 30-minute in person mock interview with an employer or staff/faculty members at UNT. This is an opportunity to learn and practice your interviewing skills with an expert. Employers will ask you several questions and provide you with feedback. Please use this opportunity to improve or learn more about interviewing and build your confidence for future interviews. This is a critical learning experience which will provide a solid foundation for success in internship and/or full-time job interviews in the future.

*** Professional dress is required even though these are mock interviews. ***

CAREER EXPLORATION ASSIGNMENT:

Be sure to review the form prior to our first employer lecture so you are aware of the types of information you will be asked to discuss in this assignment.

This syllabus is subject to change. Any changes affecting deliverables/deadlines will be announced in class and Canvas.
