Course Description & Learning Objectives:

The central objective of the course is to understand the valuation concepts that underlie financial decision making by corporate management. The course builds your knowledge from FINA 3770 and uses tools of financial analysis to evaluate and assess valuation framework of an individual company. In addition, finance theories will be discussed to understand conceptual valuation framework for investment, capital structure and dividend decisions. After completing the course, students should have the following skills and knowledge:

1. Analyze the financial health of a firm using its financial statement information.
2. Estimate a firm's cost of capital
3. Apply models of return and risk in analyzing investment decisions.
4. Evaluate investment projects using discounted cash flow techniques.
5. Explain motives of the firm's managers in making dividend payment decisions.

Course Prerequisites:

Completion of pre-business requirements, including FINA 3770, ACCT 2010 and ACCT 2020 or equivalent courses (with a C or better).

Required Textbook:

Corporate Finance: Core Principles and Applications, 6th edition, published by McGraw Hill. You can use older versions if you want but not reading the book will put you at a disadvantage.

Other Materials:

- Financial Calculator: Texas Instruments BA II Plus is recommended.
- Access to a computer with Excel.

Canvas

The Canvas website is your primary interface with the course. Access to the course instructions and class materials will be via Canvas. Please be in the habit of regularly checking Canvas for class information.

Tutoring:

The Department of Finance maintains a FREE tutoring lab to assist you with your finance courses. The tutor lab is available to all students enrolled in undergraduate finance courses and students enrolled in REAL 4000 and FINA 5170. Students can email the Finance Tutor Lab at: finalab@unt.edu

Electronic Devices:

The use of cell phones or any other electronic devices (except for a calculator) is prohibited during the class as they distract you and your classmates. However, you can use your laptop/tablet solely for notetaking purposes. If any of your classmates distract you during class by using electronic devices, please email me and I will rectify the situation.

Class Lectures & Attendance:

Consistent class attendance is extremely important to be successful in this class. If you must miss class, please obtain the notes from a classmate and/or review the lecture slides from Canvas. You will be responsible for the materials covered in the class as well as any in-class announcements. The university policy regarding attendance can be found at: <http://policy.unt.edu/policy-manual>.

Grade Determination:

Quizzes

You will have 5 quizzes. I will drop the lowest one. These will cover required readings and the material we discussed in class. I encourage you to read the required material before coming to class to be ready for the quiz. I will announce the date for each quiz beforehand.

Exams:

There will be two exams. The exams will be closed book. You may use a calculator. I will provide more information about the exams throughout the semester. See the schedule below for the exam dates.

Make-up Exam:

Makeup exam may be given only if you have a valid university-approved excuse (with appropriate documentation provided) - example: a student representing UNT at a conference. Under those circumstances, if you let me know in writing during the first two weeks of class, I will consider arranging a makeup exam and/or equivalent measures.

Assignments to Be Done in GroupsGroup Problems:

I will distribute or post a problem in class. These are to be done by the groups in class. You will only receive credit for a group problem if you are present. Each group should submit one copy. I will announce the date for each group problem beforehand.

Homework Assignments:

Homework assignments will also be done in groups. If time permits, you will start working on the homework assignments in class. You can keep working on homework assignments out of class until the deadline. Each group should submit one copy.

ADA Policy:

The University of North Texas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking reasonable accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Access (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide you with a reasonable accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request reasonable accommodations at any time; however, ODA notices of reasonable accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of reasonable accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. Students are strongly encouraged to deliver letters of reasonable accommodation during faculty office hours or by appointment. Faculty members have the authority to ask students to discuss such letters during their designated office hours to protect the privacy of the student. For additional information, refer to the Office of Disability Access website (<http://www.unt.edu/oda>). You may also contact ODA by phone at (940) 565-4323.

Acceptable Student Behavior:

Student behavior that interferes with an instructor's ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Center for Student Rights and Responsibilities to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The university's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including university and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at <http://www.unt.edu/csrr>.

Academic Dishonesty:

Academic dishonesty is defined in the UNT Policy on Student Standards for Academic Integrity. Any suspected case of academic dishonesty will be handled in accordance with university policy and procedures. Students are expected to maintain a high level of ethical conduct in this course. Evidence of academic dishonesty will result in a grade of “F” and expulsion from this course. There must be no collaboration on graded quizzes, and exams.

Student Perceptions of Teaching (SPOT):

Student feedback is important and an essential part of participation in this course. The student evaluation of instruction is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. The survey will be made available during weeks 13 and 14 of the long semesters to provide students with an opportunity to evaluate how this course is taught. Students will receive an email from "UNT SPOT Course Evaluations via IASystem Notification" (no-reply@iasystem.org) with the survey link. Students should look for the email in their UNT email inbox. Simply click on the link and complete the survey. Once students complete the survey, they will receive a confirmation email that the survey has been submitted. For additional information, please visit the spot website at www.spot.unt.edu or email spot@unt.edu.
