Class Location: ART 275/274

This syllabus is a set of guidelines for instruction in this class. The instructor may modify the content, schedule, and requirements.

Course Description

This class incorporates digital fabrication techniques into your printmaking art practice, enabling you to expand on existing processes in new and experimental ways. It emphasizes playful, multi-layered applications of color and ink through applications of classic and new approaches. Prerequisites: ASTU 2601, 2602. 3 credit hours (0;6).

Course Content

The course focuses on integrating tools from the Fabrication Lab into the evolving discipline of printmaking. The Innovative Print will encourage innovative applications of new technologies in the context of printmaking processes: monoprint (Project 1), intaglio (Project 2), and relief (Project 3). For these first projects, you will receive software and equipment training, solve problems in a supportive environment, and allow process lead you to resolved artwork.

For the final project (Project 4), you will propose a self-directed project to apply fabrication technologies to your interests in printmaking. The last project will be research-driven, so extra time is allotted for making tests, managing failures, and celebrating successes.

Course Objectives

The Innovative Print combines presentations, demonstrations, critiques and projects in a studio format to help you achieve the following:
• to expand your approach to print media,
• to engage in creative problem-solving,
• to contribute to new directions in the field of printmaking
• to connect with opportunities at CVAD, UNT and the larger professional art community.

While we will investigate processes and experiments, the work you produce will exist within the conceptual or technical framework of printmaking, rather extending in broad multidisciplinary directions.
Course Structure

Class time will be used for presentations, demonstrations, discussions, critiques, and work sessions. You are expected to come prepared, use your time effectively, and be productive. In order to complete the course successfully, you will need to pay attention, take notes, and use out-of-class time to research, plan, and develop imagery. Use class time to participate in instructional activities or print while you will have technical assistance from the instructor and support from your classmates. The end of every class session will be reserved for a mandatory clean-up. Students should plan about 6 hours each week outside of class time to work on their projects independently.

Class may be split into small groups in order to allow for demos, small-group discussions, experiential learning, and critiques balanced with open studio time or opportunities to develop ideas through research. A typical week will alternate between a structured class session (i.e., one with demos, presentations, discussions) and an open studio day. A typical project will begin with contextual presentations followed by discussions and research, technical demonstrations, open work days, and a critique. Several of the technical demonstrations will utilize resources outside the print shop such as UNT’s Spark Lab or CVAD’s Fabrication Lab, and special training will be required. Some of the training will be in a group setting, and others will be your individual responsibility. You will bring actual work to the critiques and submit digital documentation of the work on Canvas; both are due by the deadline or will be counted late.

A poll will take place to allow anonymous feedback on the class structure and provide opportunities for change if needed.

Grading

Your final course grade is based on Projects and Engagements. Projects have multiple components such as contextual research, sketches/idea development, samples/tests, finished artwork, and critiques. The final project will include a proposal, a written statement, and a formal presentation in addition to the artwork you complete. Engagements will encourage you to connect outside the classroom with visiting artists and the professional community.

Work must be presented in a professional manner for critique; details are outlined in Canvas and will be demonstrated. All prints must be dry, clean, undamaged, curated, and signed. You are also required to submit high-quality documentation of your artwork online via Canvas. The quality of documentation is part of your grade.

You will present the final project formally during the last week of class along with a written statement plus digital images of your work. At this time you may improve previous projects (please include a brief note summarizing improvements) to raise your overall grade in the class. Details will be provided in advance of the deadline.

I strive to grade and return work one week after the deadline. If I am unable to return feedback quickly, I will update everyone so you know what to expect.

Your final course grade will be lowered by failure to attend class or final clean-up.

The Office of the Registrar provides your final grade.

Project Rubric

Projects are graded according to these criteria.

- 15% Concept: What ideas does your work show? Are your ideas well-researched, original and engaging? Does the work show an awareness of context? Is it cohesive in its vision and execution?
- 15% Form: Do the aesthetic qualities of your work support the concept?
- 15% Technique: Are you attentive during demos? Does your technical approach meet the project requirements? Does it complement the concept and form?
- 15% Craft/Presentation: Does your artwork meet the presentation guidelines and standards? Do you take pride in presenting your work and care for how it is submitted?
- 15% Direction: Do you make good use of class time? Work between classes? Budget your time effectively, keep up with the assignment, and meet in-progress deadlines? How do you respond to setbacks? Does the work demonstrate growth and risk?
- 25% Critique: Do you present finished and resolved work? Is your presentation professional? Are you receptive to constructive criticism? Do you offer helpful feedback to peers proactively? Do you take notes? We will have final and in-progress critiques, both equally important.

Tools, Kits, and Clean-up

- Participation in mandatory clean-up. Timely return of university property in good condition. Participation in mandatory clean-up. Did you return your tools and any items checked out to you, and were they returned in good condition? Failure to return tools may result in a grade penalty.

The sum of your scores translates to a letter grade:

- 0 – 59% = F, Failure
- 60 – 69% = D, Inferior
- 70 – 79% = C, Average
- 80 – 89% = B, Above Average
- 90 – 100% = A, Excellent

Keep your work until the end of the semester!

Don’t skip class to avoid a deadline. Submit the project, even if it is incomplete. You can revise it later.

You may submit revisions of earlier work with the Final Project (optional).
Attendance, Participation, and Late Work Policy

Regular and punctual attendance is mandatory. I call roll at every class. Please stay at your seat until roll call and announcements are concluded, and do not expect me to mark you present if you are working in another part of the shop or building during roll call. If you arrive late, check in with me to ensure that I mark you as present with a tardy (instead of absent). Three tardies constitutes an absence.

Three unexcused absences are tolerated. More than three absences requires a note from a doctor or a note from the art office excusing the absence for a reason covered under UNT policy 06.039 (Student Attendance and Authorized Absences) in order to be counted as excused. Documentation must be verified by the Dean of Students to count as excused (see https://studentaffairs.unt.edu/dean-of-students/about-us/faq, write deanofstudents@unt.edu, or stop by University Union, Suite 409). More than three unexcused absences lowers your final grade by one letter grade per additional absence.

Most announcements, lectures, and demonstrations occur at the beginning of class periods and are not repeated for those who come in late. Missed demos, critiques, and other class activities cannot be made up. Get to know your fellow students in class so you can help each other when needed.

A tardy is considered to be an arrival 5 minutes after the beginning of class, when I finish taking roll, or when I begin announcements—whichever occurs first. An early departure is when you leave before class is over without being excused.

Unless otherwise specified, assignments are due at the beginning of class. Late work is not accepted unless an absence is excused. Turn in your work online in its unfinished state rather than missing a deadline. If you have time to revise or finish the project by the final critique of the semester, you can request that I regrade it. Submit your work online if you miss critique. If you miss an assignment deadline, turn in incomplete work, or miss critique, please get in touch with me.

Late work is accepted if an absence is excused according to UNT policy 06.039 (Student Attendance and Authorized Absences) and verified by the Dean of Students. Missed critiques missed may not be made up and grades will reflect the student’s failure to participate in the critique discussions.

Attendance policies are non-negotiable and can result in a failing final grade, regardless of the quantity or quality of work produced during the semester. Students with excessive absences should consider withdrawing from the course.

Digital Resources

To succeed in this class, you will need access to the following:

- Computer or device with reliable internet access (student computer lab okay)
- Digital camera for documenting artwork (smartphone okay)
- Software to edit digital images (Adobe Photoshop or Snapseed recommended)

These items are available via CVAD IT Services (https://cvad.unt.edu/cvadit).

You will also need access to equipment in the Fab Lab and Spark Lab, as well as a willingness to learn software including but not limited to the Adobe Creative Suite and various equipment drivers.

You will need the following technical skills:

- Use Canvas
- Use email with attachments

For help with Canvas, contact the UIT Student Help Desk at http://www.unt.edu/helpdesk/index.htm, helpdesk@unt.edu, or 940-565-2324.

See Online Engagement Guidelines for more information (https://clear.unt.edu/online-communication-tips).

Building Hours and Studio Access

Art Building and Art Annex hours are as follows:
Aug. 29–Dec. 16, 2022
Monday – Thursday 7 am – 10 pm
Friday 7 am – 5 pm
Saturday 9 am – 5 pm
Sunday noon – 10 pm

Thanksgiving Break Wed., Nov. 23, 5 p.m.–Sun., Nov. 26, noon
The Art Building will reopen at noon on Sun., Nov. 27

Students are allowed to use the shop during their scheduled class times, but not while other classes are in session. Typically, the shop is open to all students taking printmaking classes on Fridays and on the weekends.

If you arrive early, wait in the hallway until your class starts. Do not enter the room until the preceding class is over. Do not interrupt the class in session. Gather your belongings and clean your workspace by the end of your class so the next group can use their space. Do not disrupt the next class session.

If you want to work in the shop while another class is in session, ask the instructor for permission before class begins. Due to high enrollment, it is always not possible to work in the shop while another class is in session. If you are given permission to work during another class, be aware of how your activities impact the learning environment. You will be asked to leave immediately if your activities detract from the learning environment of enrolled students.

During open shop hours (typically Fridays and the weekends), the shop is shared.
Course Safety and Emergencies

Emergency telephone numbers: 940.565.3000 and 911.

COVID-19 Hotline: 844-366-5892 and COVID@unt.edu.

Severe Weather: take shelter in the interior hallway C275. If unable to safely move to the designated shelter-in-place area, seek shelter in a windowless interior room or hallway on the lowest floor of the building to which you have access.

Bomb / Fire: evacuate the building immediately, using the nearest stairwell and exit. Once outside, proceed to church parking lot across Mulberry Street. If unable to safely move to the designated assembly area, contact one or more members of your department or unit to let them know you are safe and inform them of your whereabouts.

Emergency Preparedness: https://emergency.unt.edu
Campus Carry: https://campuscarry.unt.edu
Run, Hide, Fight when needed (see link).
Health & Safety: https://art.unt.edu/healthandsafety

Students enrolled in this class are required to use proper safety procedures and guidelines as outlined in UNT Policy 15.2.4 Safety in Instructional Activities.

Personal Safety and Course Risk Factor

Download the CVAD Health & Safety Handbook at https://art.unt.edu/healthandsafety

Students enrolled in this class are required to use proper safety procedures and guidelines as outlined in UNT Policy 06.038 Safety in Instructional Activities. While working in laboratory sessions, students are expected and required to identify and use proper safety guidelines in all activities requiring lifting, climbing, walking on slippery surfaces, using equipment and tools, handling chemical solutions and hot and cold products. Students should be aware that the UNT is not liable for injuries incurred while students are participating in class activities.

All students are encouraged to secure adequate insurance coverage in the event of accidental injury. Students who do not have insurance coverage should consider obtaining Student Health Insurance. Brochures for student insurance are available in the UNT Student Health and Wellness Center. Students who are injured during class activities may seek medical attention at the Student Health and Wellness Center at rates that are reduced compared to other medical facilities. If students have an insurance plan other than Student Health Insurance at UNT, they should be sure that the plan covers treatment at this facility. If students choose not to go to the UNT Student Health and Wellness Center, they may be transported to an emergency room at a local hospital. Students are responsible for expenses incurred there.

According to University Policy, this course is classified as a Category 3 course. Students are exposed to some significant hazards but are not likely to suffer serious bodily injury when properly trained on how to handle materials and tools. Students who are pregnant or who become pregnant during the course of the semester are advised to postpone this course because of certain higher risk factors (3) to an unborn baby.

Students who are pregnant or will become pregnant during the course of the semester are advised to check with their doctor immediately to determine if any additional risks are reason to postpone this course until a later semester. Upon request, your professor will provide a list of chemicals and safety issues for your doctor to review. Material Safety Data Sheets are available on all chemicals. It is up to you and your doctor to determine what course of action to take.
American Disabilities Act (Disabilities Accommodation)

UNT makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide a student with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding one’s specific course needs. Students may request accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. For additional information see the ODA website at disability.unt.edu.

Students are strongly encouraged to deliver letters of reasonable accommodation during faculty office hours or by appointment. Faculty members have the authority to ask students to discuss such letters during their designated office hours to protect the privacy of the student. For additional information, refer to the Office of Disability Access website at http://www.unt.edu/oda. You may also contact ODA by phone at (940) 565-4323.

More information is available via UNT Policy 18.1.14, at www.unt.edu/oda, and by visiting the ODA in person or by calling 940.565.4323.

Academic Integrity, Rights, and Responsibilities

In order to provide a campus environment that is conducive to academic endeavor and growth, the UNT Code of Student Conduct and Discipline provides regulations and guidelines governing student behavior. The Code provides penalties for misconduct, including academic dishonesty, which includes all forms of cheating and plagiarism, including attempts to circumvent attendance procedures.

The term cheating includes, but is not limited to: (a) use of any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations; (b) dependence upon the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments; (c) the acquisition, without permission, of tests or other academic material belonging to a faculty or staff member of the university; (d) dual submission of a paper or project, or resubmission of a paper or project to a different class without express permission from the instructor(s); or (e) any other act designed to give a student an unfair advantage.

The term plagiarism includes, but is not limited to: (f) the knowing or negligent use by paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgment; and (g) the knowing or negligent unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials (Source: UNT Undergraduate Catalogue).

Students who become aware of suspicious activities should notify the professor promptly.

Academic dishonesty may result in a range of academic penalties or sanctions ranging from admonition to expulsion from the University. For more information, see UNT Policy 18.1.16, Student Academic Integrity.

Additionally, each student is entitled to certain rights associated with higher education institutions. See http://www.unt.edu/csrr for more information.
Academic Integrity, Rights, and Responsibilities, continued

Student behavior that interferes with an instructor’s ability to conduct a class or other students’ opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Dean of Students to consider whether the student’s conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. Expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including university and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. Visit UNT’s Code of Student Conduct (https://deanofstudents.unt.edu/conduct) to learn more.

Intellectual Property

Any distribution of course materials from this class is in violation of the following:

Intellectual property violations include the use or distribution of copyrighted or trademarked works of another without the expressed consent of the owner of the copyright or trademark. A student who receives written notification from a faculty member that the information provided in his or her course is the faculty member's intellectual property shall not distribute, use for commercial purposes, or create derivative works of the intellectual property without obtaining the express written permission of the faculty member. Students shall not assume permission absent written notification from the faculty member (Source: UNT Undergraduate Catalogue).

In sum, you are authorized to take notes in class for your own personal use and no other use without permission from the instructor. You are not authorized to record class sessions, to provide your notes to anyone else, or to make any commercial or non-profit use of these notes without prior, written permission from the course instructor.

Sexual Discrimination, Harrassment, and Assault

UNT is committed to providing an environment free of all forms of discrimination and sexual harassment, including sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. If you (or someone you know) has experienced or experiences any of these acts of aggression, please know that you are not alone. The federal Title IX law makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses. UNT has staff members trained to support you in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, helping with legal protective orders, and more.

UNT’s Dean of Students’ website offers a range of on-campus and off-campus resources to help support survivors, depending on their unique needs: http://deanofstudents.unt.edu/resources_0. UNT’s Student Advocate she can be reached through e-mail at SurvivorAdvocate@unt.edu or by calling the Dean of Students’ office at 940-565-2648.
Student Evaluation

Student feedback is important and an essential part of participation in this course. The student evaluation of instruction is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. Students will receive an email from "UNT SPOT Course Evaluations via IASystem Notification" (no-reply@iasystem.org) with the survey link. Students should look for the email in their UNT email inbox. Once students complete the survey they will receive a confirmation email that the survey has been submitted. For additional information, please see the spot website at www.spot.unt.edu or email spot@unt.edu.

Supporting Your Success and Creating an Inclusive Learning Environment

Every student in this class should have the right to learn and engage within an environment of respect and courtesy from others. I value the many perspectives students bring to our campus. Please work with me to create a classroom culture of open communication, mutual respect, and inclusion. All discussions should be respectful and civil. Although disagreements and debates are encouraged, personal attacks are unacceptable. Together, we can ensure a safe and welcoming classroom for all. If you ever feel like this is not the case, please let me know. We are all learning together.

Content in the arts can sometimes include works, situations, actions, and language that can be personally challenging or offensive to some students on the grounds, for example, of sexual explicitness, violence, or blasphemy. As CVAD is devoted to the principle of freedom of expression, artistic and otherwise, and it is not the college’s practice to censor these works or ideas on any of these grounds. Students who might feel unduly distressed or made uncomfortable by such expressions should withdraw at the start of the term and seek another course.

General Problems and Concerns

Direct all problems or concerns to Professor Gibbons, preferably during office hours. Follow the Chain of Command: talk to your professor before you bring the matter to a departmental chairperson or dean.

Grades may not be discussed on the telephone or via email. All grade inquiries must be made in person.

Syllabus Contract

Your continued enrollment in this class after the add/drop period and 12th class day signifies your understanding and acceptance of this syllabus, including course structure, grading and attendance policies as well as the risk factor rating.

This syllabus, supply list, and schedule is subject to change.
