
MOLLY A. FILLMORE

CURRICULUM VITAE

PROFILE

Molly Fillmore has spent over twenty-five years as a soloist on the professional operatic and concert stage. Additionally, she is in her twentieth year in academia, having entered as an Assistant Professor at Michigan State University, and now serving as Chair of the Division of Vocal Studies and Professor of Voice at the University of North Texas College of Music, one of the nation's largest and most respected comprehensive music schools. Her solo career highlights include two live-streamed productions at the Metropolitan Opera including the Grammy-winning Der Ring der Nibelungen, the title role of Salome at San Francisco Opera, and seven seasons as a mezzo-soprano soloist at the Cologne Opera, Germany. In 2021, her first full-length album (Bold Beauty) was released, drawing praise in many reviews, including from Gramophone magazine ("Fillmore herself is a compelling interpreter not only of her own words but also of the other texts. Her soprano is bright and precise, able to easily negotiate the varied expressive and technical demands") and Opera News, which gave it a Critic's Choice designation in their February 2022 issue. In her administrative role as Division Chair, she is responsible for the supervision of fifteen faculty, 12 teaching fellows or assistants, the division budget, and curriculum review and implementation for the over 150 voice majors and concentrations.

VIII.a. PRESS – OPERA and CONCERT PERFORMANCES

"Phenomenal"

- Neue Zürcher Zeitung, Zürich, Switzerland

"The biggest work on the program was Ralph Vaughan Williams's contemplative Magnificat, with sweet and supple singing by soprano Molly Fillmore"

- The Washington Post

"Fillmore, who's also a soprano, effectively conveyed the emotions of the texts, both with her pliant voice and natural acting. She expressed strong defiance one moment, carefree joy the next."

- Dallas Morning News

"The performance of the young Molly Fillmore was breathtaking. The American sang the Charlotte's aria from Werther by Massenet with a sound that easily filled the auditorium, then sang Marguerite's aria from Le damnation de Faust with engaging, sweet restraint."

- Bonn General-Anzeiger, Bonn

"It is Molly Fillmore, however, who steals the show with two beautiful numbers..."

- Chattanooga Times Free Press

"Molly Fillmore and ... John Shirley-Quirk contributed to the evening's success."

- The Washington Post

"(Fillmore's) voice warmed and engaged the audience as she surrendered to love."

- Salt Lake Tribune

"But the heart of this performance is the absolutely gorgeous mid-range singing of Molly Fillmore"
- Chattanooga Times Free Press

"Molly Fillmore, with a ringing, powerful voice, dynamically brought her interpretations into the realm of grand opera..." - Kölnische Rundschau, Cologne

"Fillmore was radiant with her warm and vibrant mezzo-soprano voice."
- Deseret News, Salt Lake City

"... and the Cherubino of Molly Fillmore was most charming" - Kölner Stadt-Anzeiger, Cologne

"Fillmore, a remarkably clear and dynamic mezzo-soprano" - The Baltimore Sun

"The roles in Cologne, performed by Molly Fillmore and Colin Judson, were much more beautifully sung than in the parallel production in Düsseldorf."
- Opernwelt, Germany

"Iride Martinez (Giulietta) and Molly Fillmore (Romeo) perfected the highest levels of artistic singing and interpretation." - Kölnische Rundschau, Cologne

VIII.b. PRESS – RECORDED ALBUM (Bold Beauty – Songs by Juliana Hall)

"The singer has changed between mezzo and soprano, in the repertoire of Strauss and Wagner; in this cycle, which is written for soprano but lies fairly low, she lives in warm middle territory, where her voice sounds comfortable- like she'd be amply at home in the classical musical-theater repertoire and would make a great Julie Jordan. In To T.W. Higginson," Fillmore's voice glows as the provocative Dickinson text is matched by Hall's piano line. Other lovely standouts are To Samuel Bowels the younger" and To Susan Gilbert (Dickinson) I,"
in which

Fillmore employs to best effect the speechlike quality of her singing."

- Opera News (Critic's Choice Designation)

"Fillmore herself is a compelling interpreter not only of her own words but also of the other texts. Her soprano is bright and precise, able to easily negotiate the varied expressive and technical demands" – Gramophone, 11/2021

"Fillmore has a gorgeous, clear voice and a good dramatic quality that makes these songs connect well with the listener." – Cinemusical, 9/29/2021

"Fillmore's bright and expressive singing takes us through eight animated movements that glide with adventurousness and warmth, and "Syllables of Velvet, Sentences of Plush" follows with a calmer approach of sublime beauty as Fillmore's stunning range is explored alongside the very agile keys. The back half of the listen offers the emotive and poetic "Theme in Yellow", where gentle moments are met with fascinating vocal acrobatics from Fillmore that are as consistent as they are stirring." – Take Effect, 11/21/2021

"Keeping contemporary classic work coloring inside the lines, this multimedia inspired singer is here to take things to the next level of the game. A sterling vocalist, she's got the chops to really get the job done." – Midwest Record, 9/13/2021

"And Fillmore's voice is difficult to categorize: variously described as a soprano and a mezzo-soprano, she has sung Wagnerian roles with major opera companies, where she has hoisted Valkyrie spears in the 'Ring.' And yet the intimate songs recorded here take her all over the vocal universe: passages that venture down into contralto territory, high-flying lines that could belong to a coloratura soprano, the warmth and range of a lyric mezzo. Whatever Fillmore sings is easily produced, with a clarity that never makes the listener resort to the liner notes in a quest to decipher the words. The exquisite simplicity of "To Mother" (in the "Letters From Edna" cycle) is a particularly telling example of the storytelling with which Fillmore draws in the listener. Unforced, easy, and lyrical, her singing often sounds conversational – recreating the narrative style of the letters on which the songs are based.” – EarRelevant, 9/16/2021

“On Bold Beauty, soprano Molly Fillmore and pianist Elvia Puccinelli present stellar interpretations of works by American composer Juliana Hall...With her rich, clear voice, Fillmore shows herself to be an ideal partner for Hall and her music. In having such a broad emotional range at her vocal disposal, the singer is able to give full expression to the composer's range too...One imagines Hall must be thrilled by how splendidly Fillmore and Puccinelli have presented her work on this thoroughly rewarding set.” – Textura, 11/2021

V. TEACHING ACTIVITIES

STATEMENT of TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

My teaching philosophy emerges from a desire to guide student to be expert technicians, insightful interpreters, active and thoughtful citizens, and energetic musical ambassadors across a wider spectrum of audience than is normally experienced. While not compromising fundamental technical ideas, after ascertaining each student's individual learning style and the state of their singing, I then adjust my teaching according to what I believe will work best for that individual student.

I strive to see undergraduates finish their studies with a technical basis strong enough to handle all the challenges found in age-appropriate standard repertoire for their voice type. At the graduate level, students should focus on dispelling any residual technical insecurities, increase the sophistication of their musical and theatrical interpretations, expand their knowledge of repertoire both in standard and non-standard works, and become leaders in studio class in terms of articulating constructive feedback for their peers and younger members of the studio.

I believe that musicians are in a unique position, through collaborative projects, to bring together people of diverse backgrounds and experiences, and I encourage students to look beyond themselves, their own projects, and see what kind of service they can do with their music. This helps them not only grow as musicians and gain experience, but it also encourages overall personal growth and cooperation in the studio, university, and outside community.

STUDENT SUCCESSES

Former students have won tenure-track positions at the University of Oregon, University of Nebraska – Omaha, and Arkansas State University, full-time instructor positions in Taiwan, Hong Kong, and in the United States. Dozens of former students are teaching music in K-12 schools. Studio alumni have won significant scholarships at graduate schools and been chosen for prestigious young artist programs and artist residencies, including such venues as Seattle Opera, Florida Grand Opera, Opera Toledo, and Opera Idaho. Many former students are working professionally as singers in both classical music and musical theater.
