Textbook: Calculus 8th Edition by James Stewart (delivered via WebAssign; see lecture syllabus)

WebAssign Required: See the lecture syllabus for further details and a course key.

Course Description: 4 hours. Limits and continuity, derivatives and integrals; differentiation and integration of polynomial, rational, trigonometric, and algebraic functions; applications, including slope, velocity, extrema, area, volume and work.

Prerequisite(s): MATH 1650; or both MATH 1600 and MATH 1610.

Recitation: Twice a week you will have a required meeting with a teaching assistant (TA). Your TA will do extra examples, answer questions about homework problems and possibly cover new material. There may be equally weighted quizzes (announced and unannounced) and in-class activities (typically group activities) in recitation which will make up 10% of your final grade. These can not be made up if you miss them and you must attend the recitation you are enrolled in to receive credit.

Calculator Policy: TI-83, TI-84, or equivalent, their use will be supported in class. Examples of calculators not allowed: TI-Nspires, TI 92's or any other utility with alphanumeric/CAS capabilities ARE NOT permitted, nor are any devices which are capable of connecting to other devices wirelessly or connecting to the internet. A calculator may not be shared during an exam.

Disability Accommodations: The University of North Texas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide you with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. For additional information see the Office of Disability Accommodation website at <http://www.unt.edu/oda>. You may also contact them by phone at 940.565.4323.
