Course description (From UNT catalog):

This course examines the challenges posed by performance art to traditional aesthetics and socio-political realities. Interdisciplinary by definition, performance art has so many different entry points from visual art, music, writing, poetry, dance, cultural studies, fashion, film, gender studies and etc. Performance art troubles conventional notions of canonicity and gender, blurred boundaries between art and everyday life.

Course Content:

Students study varies from of Politics of fashion, body and queer performance, Performance as a social practice, performance and objects and practice of silence in addition to study the history of performance from futurism to contemporary performance. We will discuss and talk about the way in which performance criticizes capitalism, cultural stigmas and react to social and political circumstances.

Course Goals

What are the politics of objects, bodies, and landscape in performance? In order to understand the performative impulse in contemporary art, students will use prompts to make, activate, play, perform and explore. The course will help students achieve an understanding of the art within the broader context of human life and culture.

A central part of this course will be the study of how performance has helped artists to express concepts, ideas, and issues that all the other forms of cultural products could not. To understand these issues, students will study the work of performance artists in order to think broadly and globally about the power of performance art within the art world and within larger political and cultural contexts.

Book you will need to read: The Art of Living: An Oral History of Performance Art, Dominic Johnson

Some questions that students will consider are:

How have artists used performance art to address issues of social justice, body politics, and discrimination?

How does one’s life become the artwork in performance art?
What are the key elements of conducting performance art?

What role does the body—both of the performer and the spectator—play in live art?

What is the role of objects in contemporary performance?

Empowering Students to utilize their body comfortably in spaces.

Required and Recommended Materials and Tools:

There are no required materials and tools for this course.

Tools and materials that may possibly be used based on specific needs but not required:

Each project students choose to do may or may not need certain tools or materials.

A list of course topics

The course will be designed around the following three main topics:

1. Body: The artist's presence in performance; the body in context; performance as self-portrait

2. Social practice: Performance as an activist strategy/practice; Election, identity making, creating nations.

3. Object actors: Performing structures; collaboration with the public; the relationship between objects and humans in performance.

Anticipated use of class time

(e.g., lectures, discussion, performance)

Students study the aesthetic and formal properties of performance art. They will consider the key elements of conducting performance art and learn to understand how performance artists construct the formal and aesthetic aspects of their work.

Class will be divided into theoretical part, field trips, making, exercise time and work time.

In some sessions, there will be presentations and discussions about the artists whose work students are studying in the course. There will be visiting artists in the class to talk about their work and occasionally conduct studio visits and critique sessions.

Workshops on Body and Space, We will take over spaces in by practicing how to exist in them.

Expectations:

In this course you will learn how to navigate the aesthetics and foundations of Performance Art, Documentation of your process and final piece, Execution of your ideas and how to be sensitive about the location and context of your work.

YOU ARE EXPECTED TO SPEND TIME ON YOUR PROJECTS OUTSIDE OF CLASS SESSIONS.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. Participation:

   You are expected to participate in class demos, critiques and group conversations. Participation and attendance are important parts of successfully finish this course. Being fully present in classes grants you a portion of each projects grade and your grade for the entire semester. This portion is between 10-15%.
2. PROJECTS:
Projects in this course are fluid and each project that will be introduced to the class will have a due date. Projects will ultimately be presented to the class during critique sessions.

3. Critiques
We will have 4 Critique sessions in total and number of practice sessions. Their dates can be subject to change. There will be a separate paper on how do we conduct critique and best practices and usage of critique sessions.

Critique Spaces are Sculpture Critique Space and Room 450 on the fourth Floor of the Art Building

ASSESSMENT:
You are not expected to become a professional artist during this semester but the most important factor is to have an apparent progress in your learning curve. Failure is a part of growth and we are here to have you grow in your understanding of the art. Therefore, it is totally fine if in your experiments you face difficulties, I am here as your professor to help you overcome those and arrive at an optimal and possibly ideal result. The rubric here will provide you also with a better guideline to understand what is expected of you in details.

Projects each have 100 points
10 participation
15 personal research, notes, statements, journals
15 Documentation
20 The visual and technical elements of the work
20 The conceptual aspects of the work
20 Presentation, installation and the totality of the work itself

Final Project has 150 points
10 Participation
20 personal research, notes, statements, journals
30 Documentation
30 The visual and technical elements of the work
30 conceptual aspects of the work
30 Presentation, installation and the totality of the work itself

GRADING
A = Excellent (100-90%)
B = Above Average (89-80%)
C = Average (79-70%)
D = Inferior (69-60%) [passing but not necessarily satisfying degree requirements]
F = Failure (59% or below)
YOUR NOTES, STATEMENTS AND JOURNALS

While I will provide examples done by artists and also previous students the below are general ideas you should pay attention to while writing them.

What was the departure point for you conceptually, technically and/or theoretically?

Who are the artists you looked at as reference for your project?

What are the outside of the arts elements existing in your work socio-politics, sciences, technology?

How much do you think you have met your own expectations?

Do you think your work conveys the general ideas you focused on for the audience?

Most IMPORTANTLY what were your feelings, inner thoughts, struggles, concerns, joys and subconscious urges while doing this project. Be honest what comes from one's heart finds its way into another heart.

MOST IMPORTANTLY WE ARE HERE TO PRACTICE SOLIDARITY, BEING HUMANS, BEING VULNERABLE AND SUPPORT ONE ANOTHER. THERE IS NO COMPETITION. YOU ARE ONLY COMPARED TO YOUR OWN PREVIOUS SECOND AND NOTHING ELSE.

FOR EACH ASSIGNMENT IF NEEDED I WILL PROVIDE SHORT READINGS OR DISCUSSION TOPICS

ATTENDANCE POLICY

You are expected to arrive at the class (virtually/physically) in time fully prepared. You are not allowed to use your phones or other than the means required for you to do your projects. If you are experiencing anything in your life that may interfere with your regular attendance or ability to be otherwise present in class, please let your instructor know as soon as possible so that we can work with you to determine your options before your grade is affected.

Absence policy. Students are allowed THREE free unexcused absences but it cannot fall on a day where we will be holding critques, presentations, or demonstrations

 Absence during demos and critques are considered 1.5 and students are required to make up for these absences.

Beyond 3 absences it means there is a problem and we have to address the problem right away. You will be notified and your professor will take appropriate actions to minimize the impact of these absences on your education.

Project Critiques are a vital part of the learning process in which we learn about how the objects we create relate to the world. Attendance at all critiques is mandatory and cannot be made up. Your project will fall one full letter grade if you are absent and one partial letter grade if you show up to critique late.

Policy for making up missed exams and grading late work:

Late work will result in the drop of 1 full letter grade for each day the work is turned in past the due date unless in the case of an approved Legitimate Absence.

Attendance at Project Critiques is mandatory. If a student misses a Project Critique, the grade for the project will drop by 1 letter grade unless due to an approved Legitimate Absence.
Students must notify instructor of absence as far in advance as possible. Accommodations will be made to set a new due date.

- Regular and punctual attendance is mandatory.
- Three absences will be tolerated.
- More than three absences will require a note from a doctor or a note from the art office excusing the absence for a reason covered under UNT policy 06.039 (Student Attendance and Authorized Absences) in order to be counted as excused.
- More than three absences will lower your final grade by one letter grade per additional absence (4 or more)
- Most lectures, demonstrations, and assignments will occur at the beginning of class periods and will not be repeated for those who come in late. If you are late to class, you will need to notify me at the end of the class period to replace an absence with a tardy. Three tardies will constitute an absence.
- A tardy is considered to be arrival 5 minutes after the beginning of class.
- Assignments that are turned in late will receive one letter grade lower per day for each day they are late.
- Examinations, quizzes, and in-class assignments missed may only be made up with an official doctor’s excuse or note from the art office excusing the absence for a reason covered under UNT policy 06.039 (Student Attendance and Authorized Absences).
- Critiques missed may not be made up and grades will reflect the student’s failure to participate in the critique discussions.
- COVID-19 impact on attendance:
  - While attendance is expected as outlined above, it is important for all of us to be mindful of the health and safety of everyone in our community, especially given concerns about COVID-19. Please contact me if you are unable to attend class because you are ill, or unable to attend class due to a related issue regarding COVID-19. It is important that you communicate with me prior to being absent as to what may be preventing you from coming to class so I may make a decision about accommodating your request to be excused from class.
  - If you are experiencing cough, shortness of breath or difficulty breathing, fever, or any of the other possible symptoms of COVID-19 (https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/symptoms-testing/symptoms.html) please seek medical attention from the Student Health and Wellness Center (940-565-2333 or askSHWC@unt.edu) or your health care provider. While attendance is an important part of succeeding in this class, your own health, and those of others in the community, is more important.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

According to UNT Policy 18.1.16, Student Academic Integrity, academic dishonesty occurs when students engage in behaviors including, but not limited to cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, forgery, plagiarism, and sabotage. A finding of academic dishonesty may result in a range of academic penalties or sanctions ranging from admonition to expulsion from the University.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATION

The University of North Texas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking reasonable accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Access (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide you with a reasonable accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request reasonable accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of reasonable accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of reasonable accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. Students are strongly encouraged to deliver letters of reasonable accommodation during faculty office hours or by appointment. Faculty members have the authority to ask students to discuss such letters during their designated office hours to protect the privacy of the student. For additional information, refer to the Office of Disability Access website at http://www.unt.edu/oda. You may also contact ODA by phone at (940) 565-4323. Because of the varied kinds of work we will be doing in this course, it is extremely important that you obtain your accommodation letter from the ODA as soon as possible. Even if you think a disability will not interfere with your work in this particular class, remember that art is unpredictable! Your work will take you in unexpected directions and you’ll probably be doing things later in the semester that you are cannot predict at the present moment. Thus, it is imperative that you have all accommodations in place to make sure you are fully supported when you decide to make a 9-foot tall ostrich sculpture out of grape Jell-O.

HEALTH & SAFETY PROGRAM

Students are required to follow the Department of Studio Art Health and Safety guidelines and are required to complete training for each studio course. The goal of the Studio Art Health and Safety Program is to protect the health and welfare of all faculty, staff, and students and to cooperate with the University of North Texas’ Office of Risk Management. Please visit the website for details and the departmental handbook: https://art.unt.edu/healthandsafety.

In an emergency, call 911.

BEST PRACTICES FOR HEALTH & SAFETY IN THE STUDIO

Over the semester, you will be learning to use many new tools. Any tool can be dangerous if you do not use proper safety precautions, so it is important that everyone learns the best practices for staying safe in the studio. On certain days, you will be asked to come to class wearing appropriate “work clothes” (closed-toed shoes, no loose-hanging clothing or jewelry, long hair pulled back). If you fail to do this, your instructor will ask you to go home and change before you come back to class. You may also be asked to use safety goggles, earplugs, dust masks, or other safety equipment when using certain tools. If you fail to follow these rules, you’ll be asked to leave class and it will count as an absence. Finally, please refrain from using any toxic materials in the Foundations classroom. If a need arises to use materials such as spray paint or epoxy, please alert your instructor so that they can help you find a safe way to do so. They may be able to help you find comparable non-toxic alternatives and/or find a safe way to use proper facilities and precautions. If you are not sure whether or not a material is toxic, please ask!

https://forms.cvad.unt.edu/sites/default/files/studioforms_sculpture.pdf

The following bullet points outline the general best practices for working in the Studio Art classrooms:

• All students must abide by all rules set forth by the Instructor and Technician. During your class all shop rules and policies are presented as well as a discussion of the proper and safe use of shop tools.

• If you are ever unsure or uncomfortable using a tool or machine during open studio time, please make sure that you get an instructor or technician to help you. Plan ahead and ask the instructor to personally demonstrate the tool during class time so that you are properly trained and comfortable to use it on your own time during open shop hours.

• Please read Monona Rossol’s The Artist’s Complete Health and Safety Guide for more information.

• Work in a well-ventilated area (or outside) while working with any material or practice that produces toxic or irritating fumes or dust (Resins, chemicals, oil-based paints, and solvents may not be mixed indoors).
• ALWAYS clean up all messes produced by any material or practice to prevent from exposing others to the hazards of that material and/or practice.

• Closed toe shoes and safety goggles are required when using a power tools or drills.

• Wash hands (including under fingernails) after using toxic materials and chemicals (even if you were wearing gloves).

• Wear protective gloves and use plastic drop cloth to contain chemicals, paints, and stains when applying.

• Make sure to wear the proper safety gear for each process

• All spray painting must be done in spray booth.

• Always use common sense, avoid distractions and concentrate on the task at hand.

• Artist materials can sometimes get messy. Make sure to wear clothes that you are ok with getting dirty or you may want to purchase an apron.

EMERGENCY NOTIFICATION & PROCEDURES

UNT uses a system called Eagle Alert to quickly notify students with critical information in the event of an emergency (i.e., severe weather, campus closing, and health and public safety emergencies like chemical spills, fires, or violence). In the event of a university closure, please refer to the course management system for contingency plans for covering course materials. UNT Emergency Guide: https://emergency.unt.edu/about-us

ACCEPTABLE STUDENT BEHAVIOR

In addition to the expectations outlined above, you are expected to conduct yourself in accordance with the UNT Code of Student Conduct. If you engage in behavior that interferes with your instructor’s ability to conduct a class or other students’ opportunity to learn, your instructor will ask you to leave the classroom. Instructors also have the right to refer disruptive students to the Dean of Students to consider whether the student’s conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The University’s expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including University and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at deanofstudents.unt.edu/conduct.

ADMINISTRATION OF STUDENT EVALUATIONS

Your feedback is important and an essential part of participation in this course. The student evaluation of instruction is a requirement for all organized classes at UNT. The survey will be made available during weeks 13 and 14 of the semester to provide you with an opportunity to evaluate how this course is taught. You will receive an email from "UNT SPOT Course Evaluations via IA System Notification" with the survey link. You should look for the email in your UNT email inbox. Simply click on the link and complete the survey. Once you complete the survey you will receive a confirmation email that the survey has been submitted. For additional information, please visit the SPOT website at www.spot.unt.edu or email spot@unt.edu.

INCOMPLETE GRADES
An Incomplete Grade ("I") is a non-punitive grade given only during the last one-fourth of a term/semester and only if a student (1) is passing the course and (2) has a justifiable and documented reason, beyond the control of the student (such as serious illness or military service), for not completing the work on schedule. In consultation with the instructor, complete a request for an Incomplete Grade. This form can be found on the department website and must be turned into the department chair prior to the last day of classes (not the exam date). Note: A grade of Incomplete is not automatically assigned to students.

SEXUAL DISCRIMINATION, HARRASSMENT & ASSAULT

UNT is committed to providing an environment free of all forms of discrimination and sexual harassment, including sexual assault, domestic violence, dating violence, and stalking. If you (or someone you know) has experienced or experiences any of these acts of aggression, please know that you are not alone. The federal Title IX law makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses. UNT has staff members trained to support you in navigating campus life, accessing health and counseling services, providing academic and housing accommodations, helping with legal protective orders, and more. UNT's Dean of Students' website offers a range of on-campus and off-campus resources to help support survivors, depending on their unique needs: http://deanofstudents.unt.edu/resources_0. UNT’s Student Advocate can be reached through e-mail at SurvivorAdvocate@unt.edu or by calling the Dean of Students’ office at 940-565-2648. You are not alone. We are here to help.
