Course Objectives
The goals of this course are:
- to cultivate your ability to translate visual relationships onto a two-dimensional surface
- to introduce media and methods of drawing and seeing
- to present approaches and terminology for critiquing artwork
- to introduce and expand your understanding of the elements and principles of art

Course Structure and Evaluation
This course comprises one lecture and two studio lab sessions per week. Since a different instructor teaches each section, classroom activities will vary. Expect to spend time outside of the scheduled lab sessions on work for this class. You will complete 9 projects over the course of the semester. At the end of each project, an in-class critique will be conducted in lab and you will receive a grade for your work. You are encouraged to work further on the drawing, or complete a new drawing, based on the feedback you are given. You will have the opportunity to turn this work in for added points at designated times throughout the semester.

Projects (a total of nine): 75%
Sketchbook A: 8%
Sketchbook B: 7%
Quizzes (average score): 10%

The sketchbook is an ongoing, self-guided part of this class. You should spend approximately 2 hours a week working in your sketchbook. You should use it to take notes in class, to make note of important terminology from your textbook reading, and to record feedback from your instructor and classmates in critique. Each Project will require exercises to be completed in the sketchbook. You will also be making 11 SKLOG entries over the course of the semester.
Quizzes will be given periodically in lab and will be based on assigned reading from the textbook, terminology and approaches presented in class, and handouts. Your assigned reading provides you with important terminology and context for the skills we are learning in class and your commitment to completing it will aid in your success.

Missed quizzes cannot be retaken, regardless of whether an absence is excused. Your lowest quiz grade will be dropped before the average is figured.

You will receive a zero for projects not turned in on the due date. Late work is not accepted in this class. However, late projects should still be completed. You will have the opportunity to turn them in for credit at designated points during the semester. Note: A project completed for a Second Chance grade does not eliminate a zero. See page 5 of this syllabus for more information.

Attendance and Conduct

Attendance is mandatory for all lecture and lab sessions. Three late arrivals or early departures will together count as one absence.

For labs which meet twice a week, three unexcused absences are allowed over the course of the semester, and four or more unexcused absences will result in a penalty of one letter grade per absence. The highest final grade a student with four unexcused absences can receive is a B, and a student with five unexcused absences can get no higher than a C. A student with six absences can get no higher than a D, and a student with seven unexcused absences automatically fails the course.

For labs which meet once a week, one unexcused absence is allowed over the course of the semester, and two or more unexcused absences will result in a penalty of one letter grade per absence. The highest final grade a student with two unexcused absences can receive is a B, and a student with three unexcused absences can get no higher than a C. A student with four absences can get no higher than a D, and a student with five unexcused absences automatically fails the course.

Up to two additional absences will be excused in extenuating circumstances with proper documentation. An Excused Absence Request Form with proper documentation must be turned in to your lab instructor upon your return to class. A funeral, medical emergency, or similar emergency circumstance may qualify to be excused, but this is subject to approval following the receipt of your documentation. Absences or tardies due to car trouble, scheduled doctor visits, work responsibilities, and traffic jams will not be excused. This attendance policy is non-negotiable and is the same policy which is in place for all Core students.

See the Undergraduate Course Catalog for university policy regarding absences due to sponsored activities (such as sports) and religious holidays. Students involved in such activities are encouraged to have absences approved in advance or as early in the semester as possible. Any absences which are not approved or noncompliant with these terms are automatically considered unexcused. Note that each lecture or lab session that you miss counts as a distinct absence.

Attendance is taken during each class session via a sign-in sheet. If you do not sign the sheet, you are counted absent. If you miss class, you are responsible for the topics we covered and the projects that were assigned in your absence. Ask your classmates what you missed, check Blackboard (https://learn.unt.edu/) and ask your lab instructor for pertinent project sheets and handouts. All handouts, forms, and lectures are posted on Blackboard for your review. If you must miss class on a day when a project is due, make arrangements for a friend or classmate to deliver your work.

Food is not allowed in class during work time. You may snack during breaks only. Food is not allowed in the lecture hall. Cell phones, laptops, and personal stereos may not be used during class.

You should be drawing and actively working during class time. If you have completed the assigned project, you are expected to be working in the sketchbook. Idle time during class is not acceptable. Photographing still lifes, models, or other subject matter is not permitted. This class is intended to enable you to draw from life.
Academic Misconduct

In order to provide a campus environment that is conducive to academic endeavor and growth, the UNT Code of Student Conduct and Discipline provides regulations and guidelines governing student behavior. The Code provides penalties for misconduct, including academic dishonesty, which includes all forms of cheating and plagiarism, including attempts to circumvent attendance procedures.

The term cheating includes, but is not limited to (a) use of any unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations; (b) dependence upon the aid of sources beyond those authorized by the instructor in writing papers, preparing reports, solving problems, or carrying out other assignments; (c) the acquisition, without permission, of tests or other academic material belonging to a faculty or staff member of the university; or (d) any other act designed to give a student an unfair advantage. The term plagiarism includes, but is not limited to: (e) the knowing or negligent use by paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgment; and (f) the knowing or negligent unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials (Source: UNT Undergraduate Catalogue).

This policy protects honest students from unfair competition with dishonest students who seek to gain advantages by cheating. Students who become aware of suspicious activities should notify their instructor promptly. Acts of academic misconduct will result in a grade of F in the course and disciplinary action.

ART 1500: DRAWING I FALL 2017

PRESENTATION REQUIREMENTS

When submitting a drawing, prepare it as follows:

Always have work ready to turn in at the beginning of class on the due date. You may not utilize class time to spray fix, collect, or label the work.

Draw on one side of a sheet of paper only. Use the type of paper specified.

Take the time to remove unintentional smudges and fingerprints, and use fixative on pencil, charcoal, or conté works. Spray the fixative a safe distance from the work, (ten or twelve inches) with the work set up vertically (spraying downwards may result in drips which can ruin your artwork).

Spiral edges should be carefully removed with an x-acto knife, or removed at the provided perforation.

Artwork should be protected by a slipsheet (usually a piece of clean newsprint) which is the same size of the drawing when turned in for grading. Label the slipsheet with your name, the date, section, and project name, i.e. “One Point.” Do not use tape to affix your slipsheet to the drawing. Place the slipsheet on top of the drawing, arrange everything you are required to turn in into a stack, and turn in.

Label the back of your drawing with your name and section number in pencil. If you choose to sign the front of the piece, use the same media that the drawing was completed in. For instance, do not use pen to sign a charcoal gesture drawing.

Ripped or torn edges, uneven edges, dirt, or general messiness will result in points lost.

In the sketchbook, all bets are off. You may use a variety of media, draw on fronts and backs of sheets, glue and clip in drawings and collages, etc. However, you should make some effort to preserve the work in your sketchbook. Use spray fixative on drawings which will transfer (conté, charcoal, soft pencil, etc.), and protect them with small slipsheets.

Make sure your name appears somewhere clearly on your sketchbook, and date your entries. Label your entries (i.e. “SKLOG #1”). Make it a goal to spend at least a couple of hours a week in the sketchbook as homework.

You must have a unique sketchbook which will include work for this class only. Please do not combine sketchbook entries for Design or any other classes in your Drawing I sketchbook.

Drawings which are submitted for credit in this class must have been completed THIS semester, for THIS class only. This includes sketchbook entries.

A SKLOG is a visual journal entry (SKetchbook/LOG). The subject can be anything you want it to be, but it must be a two-page spread. You will complete a SKLOG every week. 6 are due with Sketchbook A and 5 are due with Sketchbook B. See page 5 for due dates.

If the original drawing was turned in, you have the opportunity to receive up to 15 additional points added to your project points total. For instance, if you received a 70 for the original project grade, you may create a new drawing or improve the original. You can earn up to 15 additional points depending on the quality of the new piece or the improvements added to the original. If the improvements are minimal, your TA may give an additional 5 points. If the changes greatly improve the piece, your TA may give an additional 15 points.

Second Chance improvements or new drawings will only be accepted on the dates listed.
