

SYLLABUS
Trombone Choir
University of North Texas

Objectives

The objectives of trombone choir are

1. to develop reading, ensemble performance and chamber music skills to a high level through the performance of trombone ensemble music.
2. to expose students to the trombone ensemble repertoire.
3. to extend the objectives of applied music through additional trombone performance.
4. to give at least one performance per quarter.

Attendance

Attendance is required. Unexcused tardiness or absences result in lowering of the quarter grade (see Evaluation section below). Tardiness or absences caused by illness, emergency, certain College of Music functions, or unavoidable difficulties which seem reasonable are excused if the instructor is notified as soon as possible. A rehearsal or performance missed due to illness requires a doctor's excuse. Chronic absence will result in a lowered or failing grade.

Evaluation

If all of the following requirements have been met, the student receives an A for the quarter:

1. The music has been prepared to the best of his/her ability.
2. The student has been consistently prompt for and in attendance at rehearsals and performances.
3. The student has maintained a positive and professional attitude throughout the quarter.

The following grade deductions are applied to these unexcused situations:

1. After a student is tardy two times, his/her grade is lowered from A to B. After 4 times the grade becomes C. After 6 times, D. After 8 times, F.
2. Each unexcused rehearsal absence results in the lowering of the grade by one letter: A to B etc.
3. A missed performance results in an F.
4. If the student is habitually unprepared, the teacher may lower the grade one letter grade.

Preparation

Students are required to prepare their parts outside of rehearsal time. Rehearsals are designed to polish the musical aspects of performance such as style, phrasing, intonation and balance.

By being a member of a trombone choir, you are all doing one of the best things you can do to shape and polish your development as trombonists. Those of you who are unfamiliar with this genre will probably be surprised by the expressiveness capable by a group of these instruments. In short, we know you will all be glad you were members of this ensemble. Please feel free to contact me with any problems or concerns about this ensemble. Have a great semester!!
