Course Description

In this course, we will discuss how gender, as a social structure, shapes knowledge, identities, interactions, and institutions in ways that produce social patterns of inequality. We will also focus on how gender intersects with other social structures, such as race, class, and sexuality.

We will use sociological readings to guide our discussion, but our analysis of gender will also be enriched by the exchange of ideas and experiences of students in the course. By applying theoretical perspective to our lived experiences, we will be able to shed new light on reasons for the inequality we observe in our daily lives. We can also draw from personal experience to build from existing theories.

The Goal of Social Inquiry

My major goal for this course is to provide you with analytic tools that will help you become more aware of gender inequality and take action to address it. This major goal has two main components that constitute the themes running throughout the course:

- 1) Understanding gender as a social construct
- 2) Identifying the social processes that create and reproduce gender inequality

The Goal of Communication

A second major goal in this course is to improve our communication of thoughts and ideas. This will occur through two mediums: Discussing our work through online discussions and written papers.

The course also includes several writing workshops aimed to progress students toward their final paper. Workshops will be facilitated in the online Canvas environment throughout the course of a single week. Our goal is that by the end of the class students will have advanced in their ability to communicate their valuable thoughts through writing.

Required Text:

There are no required texts for purchase for this class. All readings will be uploaded onto Canvas.

Grades

I use a 100-point rubric for the course with points being distributed across two categories 1) Weekly quizzes, and 2) the final paper. Letter grades will be awarded based on the percentage of total points received (see table below).

Weekly Quizzes	40% of Grade
Paper: Analysis of Gendered Social Problem	60% of Grade
Total	100%

Grading Rubric:

90%-100% points: A

80%-89.9% points: B

70%-79.9% points: C

60%-69.9% points: D

59.9% or below: F

Assignments

Weekly Quizzes

Each module will include at least one quiz covering content from the readings and lecture. Quizzes are not group work – they are assigned for individual students. Quizzes may only be taken once. Weekly quizzes account for 40% of students' overall grade.

Analysis of a Gender Problem (Paper, 5-8 pages double-spaced)

For the major paper of this course, you will choose a “gender problem” – a specific area of gender inequality – and analyze the individual-, interactional-, and macro-level processes that contribute to its existence. You should cite at least 4 pieces of literature from the course.

The paper is designed to be written in five phases throughout the course of the semester, each with a separate deadline and corresponding points. By the time the full paper is due during finals week, students will have already completed nearly all sections for the paper and will focus on revising and writing a conclusion.

The following deadlines will be used for each phase of the paper. Note that there are points corresponding to each deadline:

Workshop	Due May 26	Due June 2	Due June 9	Due June 16	Due June 20
Points	5	5	5	5	20
Phase	Phase 1	Phase 2	Phase 3	Phase 4	Final Submission
Sections of Paper Due	Introduction	Introduction	Introduction	Introduction	Introduction
		Individual- Level Social Processes	Individual- Level Social Processes	Individual- Level Social Processes	Individual- Level Social Processes
			Interactional - Level Social Processes	Interactional - Level Social Processes	Interactional- Level Social Processes
				Macro-Level Social Processes	Macro- Level Social Processes
					Conclusion

Each deadline corresponds to a writing workshop that will be facilitated online. In these workshops, students will learn how to craft effective course papers. They will be given clear instructions for this assignment, as well as broader advice for writing course papers more generally that can be applied in other classes.

Assignment and Grade Policies

Late Assignments

To incorporate flexibility into the syllabus, I will drop students' three lowest quiz grades. Beyond these exceptions, late assignments will be penalized 20% for every day that they are late, starting the minute after the deadline (e.g., if assignment is due at 11:59pm and submitted as 12:00am, it will be penalized 20%).

If there are extenuating circumstances preventing submission of assignments, please let the professor know. I will make every effort to accommodate students.

Academic Integrity

According to UNT Policy 06.003, Student Academic Integrity, academic dishonesty occurs when students engage in behaviors including, but not limited to cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, forgery, plagiarism, and sabotage. A finding of academic dishonesty may result in a range of academic penalties or sanctions ranging from admonition to expulsion from the University. Students who engage in academic dishonesty will receive a zero in the assignment and potentially a zero in the course and administrative action from the university.

Please note that all paper submissions will go through turnitin plagiarism and AI detection to ensure papers are students' original work. Papers found to be plagiarized or written with AI chatbots will receive a zero and additional procedures for violations of academic conduct will be followed, as outlined by UNT Policy.

Incomplete Grades

Incomplete grades may only be assigned when the student is making satisfactory progress until the request for an incomplete is made. Incompletes must be requested in writing at least one week before Final Exam Week, must be accompanied by documentation of the reason that the course cannot be completed before the end of the semester, and are only considered if at least 50% of course exams & assignments have been completed with a passing grade.

Make-ups

Other than documented medical emergencies and religious observations, no make-ups will be given for any of the exams or in-class assignments.

Extra Credit

There are no extra credit opportunities in this course. Research has shown that extra credit tends to benefit students already in privileged positions who have the extra time and energy to take advantage of them, while doing little for students who actually may need the extra points. Consequently, extra credit assignments often worsen existing educational inequalities. Therefore, I will not offer extra credit in this class. If you have a compelling argument for why extra credit may benefit all students that considers the many different challenges they face, I am open to reconsidering my position on this matter.

Diversity and Global Issues Requirement for the College of Liberal Arts and Social Sciences

This course fulfills the CLASS requirement for Diversity and Global Issues. At the end of this course, students should be able to do at least three of the following: 1. Identify the origins, influences, and limits of one's own cultural heritage. 2. Demonstrate the ability to learn from and empathize with perspectives and experiences different from one's own. 3. Show an understanding of the interrelationships of the self, local society, and global environments. 4. Describe the impacts of complex, worldwide systems. 5. Explain the reasoning for one's ethical responsibilities within worldwide systems.

Academic Integrity Standards and Consequences.

According to UNT Policy 06.003, Student Academic Integrity, academic dishonesty occurs when students engage in behaviors including, but not limited to cheating, fabrication, facilitating academic dishonesty, forgery, plagiarism, and sabotage. A finding of academic dishonesty may result in a range of academic penalties or sanctions ranging from admonition to expulsion from the University. Students who engage in academic dishonesty will receive a zero in the assignment and potentially a zero in the course and administrative action from the university.

ADA Accommodation Statement

UNT makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide a student with an accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding one's specific course needs. Students may request accommodations at any time; however, ODA notices of accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. For additional information see the ODA website at disability.unt.edu.

Emergency Notification & Procedures

UNT uses a system called Eagle Alert to quickly notify students with critical information in the event of an emergency (i.e., severe weather, campus closing, and health and public safety emergencies like chemical spills, fires, or violence). In the event of a university closure, please refer to Canvas for contingency plans for covering course materials.

Acceptable Student Behavior

Student behavior that interferes with an instructor's ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Dean of Students to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The University's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including University and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at deanofstudents.unt.edu/conduct.

Sexual Assault Prevention

UNT is committed to providing a safe learning environment free of all forms of sexual misconduct. Federal laws and UNT policies prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex as well as sexual misconduct. If you or someone you know is experiencing sexual harassment, relationship violence, stalking and/or sexual assault, there are campus resources available to provide support and assistance. The Survivor Advocates can be reached at SurvivorAdvocate@unt.edu or by calling the Dean of Students Office at 940-565- 2648.

Religious Holidays

If you wish to observe a religious holidays that conflicts with the completion of a course module, notify me by the tenth day of the semester of the relevant module unless the religious holiday is observed on or before the tenth day of the semester. In such cases, you should notify me at least five days in advance of the date. I will make every reasonable effort to honor the request, not penalize you for missing material, and if an examination or project is due during the absence, I will give you an exam or assignment equivalent to the one completed in the module.
