Course Description:

This contemporary modern dance technique class acknowledges a dance field of many different training methodologies. Emphasis will be placed on experiencing and questioning the roles of performer, choreographer, and improviser within a professional contemporary dance context. Students will deepen their study of contemporary dance technique through conceptual frameworks of somatic awareness principles as expressive tools, movement sequences choreographed by the instructor, and participate in challenging improvisation and partnering experiences. At the same time they will be asked to challenge their physical boundaries and their ideas about what dance technique can be.

We will explore contemporary modern technique as...

- The 6 basic principles of Movement Fundamentals: Alignment, Function, Range, Efficiency, Vocabulary, and Intention
- The awareness of Modern Dance Principles as a soloist, partner, and in an ensemble
 - weight
 - momentum
 - space
 - time
 - energy
 - focus
- The development of a community in which ideas, desires, difficulties, and class experiences are shared openly
- The engagement of real time decision-making and movement creation

One of the most exciting things I find about dance is utilizing our technique to move beyond what we think is possible. I challenge us to blur the line between clarity and abandonment.

Prerequisites For Doing Well In This Class:

Students will need knee pads for contact improvisation and floor work. Students should arrive to class in dance clothing that allows freedom of movement. Students should approach each class with openness, fresh ideas, creativity, and willingness to share with a community.

Required Texts:

There is no required textbook; although articles to read and writing responses will be assigned.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Identify and perform dance movement concepts, fundamental movement patterns, proper mechanics, stylistic components and contemporary dance movement vocabulary in the context of one's own individual body on an intermediate professional level, both in improvisation and in learned movement patterns.
2. Demonstrate partnering and improvisational skills by effectively negotiating, communicating and cueing spatial intentions through clarity of weight and dynamic body positioning.
3. Develop an individual sense of movement potential through an exploration of Movement Fundamentals such as Alignment and Function; Range and Efficiency; and Vocabulary and Intention.
4. Contribute to a collegial classroom environment conducive to inner exploration and self-learning through the performance of active listening during class as well as supportively observing peers in performance and providing constructive feedback when possible.
5. Identify soma fitness principles, apply them to dance technique and design a personal practice by reflecting on personal growth, achievements, desires, questions, and difficulties orally with the class and one-on-one with the instructor.

Each of the above student learning outcomes must be performed at an appropriate level as stated in each course assignment requirements, grading scale or rubric.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS/EVALUATION:

Daily participation grade is an assessment of student engagement in class, in movement, discussion, group and partner work as well as your achievement and growth.

The following is a percentage breakdown of final grades.

Daily Participation (5pts/day)	60%
Midterm Assessment	10%
Final Project	10%
Responses (4)	10%
Video Response (2)	10%

Grading Scale for Daily Participation:

Daily participation grades (5 pts) will reflect student demonstration of the following:

1. Clarity: Student demonstrates a clear ability to understand and articulate the concepts presented in class, both cognitively and physically.
2. Presence: Student arrives ready, not only by being on time, but by preparing their body to move, by asking questions, and by dancing fully.
3. Community: Student contributes to creating a better environment for the class through observation of their peers, constructive criticism when asked, and bringing a supportive attitude to class.
4. Safety and Risk: Student pushes self to explore the edges of their own physicality, while listening to the needs of their body as to not cause health problems or injury.
5. Creativity: Student takes the concepts, phrases, and intentions explored in class and expresses ownership. Intent is not to perfect or imitate movement, but rather, embody it uniquely.

These categories are designed to help you understand how I define daily participation throughout the semester. However, in a given class, I may assess you through the lens of one or two of these criteria. After the first week of class, I will also determine which specific movement/artistry concepts we will hone in on throughout the semester. It will be through these specific concepts that you will be evaluated.

Opportunities for Make-up Work:

If a student is unable to fully participate in class due to injury or illness, instructor should be informed when student arrives to class. The student must take notes in class both describing the class and then articulating what the student learned from observing the class and why. (It's not enough to just describe what happened in class.) The student must turn in writing at the end of class to receive any credit. You are allowed to do this twice without losing attendance points.

LATE WORK:

Late work is not permitted in this class. Exceptions to this policy will only be considered for extremely extenuating circumstances. Students must speak with the instructor immediately if they foresee a problem in submitting their work on time.

If the student has not amassed at least 30% of their 100 % grade by midterm, the student will receive an unsatisfactory progress notice. If the student continues making unsatisfactory progress he or she will be asked to drop the course.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY:

UNT's Policy of Academic Dishonesty found in the Student Handbook applies to this course. If caught plagiarizing (meaning copying) published sources or another student you will be referred to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities and you will also fail this course. This policy also applies if you are caught falsifying your attendance or misrepresenting your work in any way. For your own sake please be sure that you are familiar with the rules and regulations regarding Academic Dishonesty. "The term 'plagiarism' includes, but is not limited to: 1. The knowing or negligent use by paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgement [or citation] and/or 2. The knowing or negligent unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or by an agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials."

STUDENT BEHAVIOR IN THE CLASSROOM:

Student behavior that interferes with an instructor's ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Center for Student Rights and Responsibilities to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The university's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including university and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at www.unt.edu/csrr

DT students are expected to budget and organize their time and efforts in order to meet both their academic and production commitments satisfactorily and on time. The faculty and staff recognize that the academic and production assignments within the Department, as well as outside employment, athletics, and other obligations, sometimes impose conflicting pressures on DT students. One of the principal responsibilities of each student is to carefully identify and monitor the commitments that comprise his/her production work and outside obligations do not constitute an excused absence from DT classes or from the completion of any required class assignments.

CLASSROOM POLICIES:

No food or drinks in the classroom, besides water in a closed container. Please dress in comfortable, but not baggy clothing. Socks are permitted for warm-up only, but not suggested. Turn cell phones OFF when entering the classroom.
