COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The purpose of this course is to develop awareness, appreciation, and enjoyment of concert dance forms within their historical, geographical, and socio-cultural contexts. We will examine a thematic approach to dance in the 20th century in the United States, which stretches a more global view of the evolution of concert dance forms through the historical, political, social and cultural context of significant choreographers, pieces of choreography, the aesthetic movements and themes represented by specific dances through time. Through numerous readings and viewings, as well as physical experiences, students will engage with skills of observation, movement learning, contextual and comparative analysis, and descriptive and critical communication about dance.

Course Prerequisites:

DANC 1250, DANCE 2800

This course fulfills Dance Major requirements and Elective requirements

Learning Outcomes:

This course will tap into multiple modes of learning, incorporated through movement, written responses, readings, visual observation, verbal responses and written analysis.

Upon successful completion of this course students will:

- demonstrate awareness of the forms, trends, and key individuals in dance from 1900-Present
- identify critical frameworks useful for evaluating the impact of historical, social, and political influences on dance practices
- demonstrate an ability to compare and critique dance practices and their historical periods/styles
- apply strategies for critical reading and observing dances and dance writing styles
- demonstrate a comfortable and dynamic presence/presentation for an audience

Course Materials and Supplies:

Reynolds, Nancy, and Malcolm McCormick. No Fixed Points: Dance in the Twentieth Century. New Haven: Yale University Press, 2003. Print.

Additional readings and articles will be provided via Canvas or UNT Library.

Technology Requirements:

- Participants need access to a computer (Mac or Windows) and the Internet for major amounts of time for this course.
- Browser that is compatible with Canvas. To see if your browser is compatible with Canvas, visit the Canvas Browser Checker webpage.
- You will need access to your UNT outlook (email). Students should use only their UNT e-mail account or canvas message when communicating with the instructor, classmates, and completing online coursework.
- Your computer will need speakers to hear sound for videos and audio files.
- You will need access to word processing software such as Microsoft Word or Google Docs. Please note that any software that you use must be able to save files as Microsoft files (example *.doc or *.docx) or PDF.
- Adobe Acrobat Reader or an equivalent PDF reader.
- A webcam and microphone on your computer. A cell phone camera and microphone may suffice depending on the quality of the cell phone. It is your responsibility to ensure your cell phone and microphone is able to allow for real time video conferencing and video and audio recording.

If you do not have access to the necessary technology, please contact the instructor immediately to alert them. They will work with you to determine how to fulfill course requirements.

Technology Skills Required:

- Ability to use the library to locate appropriate information and resources when necessary.
- Ability to use online search tools for academic purposes, including the ability to use search criteria, keywords, and filters.
- Ability to properly cite sources in (MLA)

UNT Art, Dance, & Theatre Reference Librarian Rebecca Barham can provide excellent research support/assistance with UNT Library resources.

Major Course Assignments and Examinations:

Assignments will include viewing and listening to videotapes and online audio resources.
(Acknowledgements to Heather Castillo and MiRi Park at California State University - Channel Islands for structure of assignments and resources.)

1. Students will create a descriptive portrayal of their personal history in dance and consider how the values systems within their experiences shape their personal biases in dance.

2. Readings/viewings will be assigned each week and discussed in class. Our readings/viewings will help provide both linear and thematic lenses (such as identity, forced migration, appropriation, funding, etc) through which we can examine aspects of dance history. Each week students have a required reading, as well as a selected reading(s) that most interests them. Students will summarize what they learned, and define key words for each reading (no less than 2).

You are asked to engage and interact with the materials in order to assert your own agency in our class discussions and in the field of dance. I charge you to be an active participant and learner in class.

3. Additionally, students will develop a Module Project, designed to SPARK their mind. Through curation, collaboration, and creation explain your point of view, critical thoughts, and understanding of the course material. Cited text from various sources, including (but not limited to) readings and discussions in class, will aid in the production of a paper and/or presentation.

Additional sources may be obtained through local libraries or the web (not Wikipedia or Britannica sources). Research will be formally cited in MLA format.

Module 1: Select one 20th Century Artist in context to themes and ideas you witness present in their work. Identify the artist as a person, historical/geological/political context, artistic characteristics, and cultural relevance. Present your research as to WHY your artist impacts the field of dance.

Module 2: For the culminating project students select two choreographic works under the umbrella of a shared thematic/critical framework. The choreographic works must premiere in different moments and by different choreographers in the 20th/21st century. Students address questions surrounding the historical, socio-political, and aesthetic characteristics such as: Who made the work? When was it made? Who produced the work? What did the work speak to? How was it received? What global or national events shed light or impacted the reading of the choreography? By addressing such questions, students identify the power structures that influenced the choreographic works selected and how they are grounded in the critical framework they define.

How to Keep Track of Your Grade Throughout the Semester

Canvas allows you two ways to keep a running or continual track of where your grade is with the graded record of each assignment. If you scroll all the way to the right in your gradebook screen, you will see a "Running Total" and a "Running Weighted Total." The Running Total adds up your points in relation to the total points possible to accumulate throughout the entire course.

The Running Weighted Total keeps track of how your points are calculated in relation to the assigned percentage for each assignment. In this class, the easiest way to keep track of your grade is through the percentage level you receive through the Running Weighted Total. It will tell you where you are in terms of your grade scale with each assignment.

To Pass

There are a few things I expect of everyone who passes my class. I expect you to attend class regularly (no more than 2 missed class sessions for the semester), complete all weekly and Module assignments and most of your other work, and submit a passing essay at the end of the semester that shows your learning. I expect you to possess enough fluency in English to comprehend college-level texts and to express yourself clearly in writing. I encourage you to revise assignments that do not meet requirements, and I'm happy to help you with these revisions or direct you to the UNT Writing Center. However, if after revising with help, your work is still not meeting the standards, you will not pass the class.

To Earn a B

You will earn a B in the class if you complete all of the work in the class (including the reading) with sincere effort and on time. This means reading and annotating your texts for every class session; submitting all responses entries and module projects; and making revisions to your work at your own or my request. To earn a B, I expect you to come to class regularly (not missing more than 1 class in a semester) and to be fully present in class without turning your attention to electronic devices.

To Earn an A

You will earn an A in the class if you do all of what is required for a B and show excellence in your work. To earn an A, I ask that you put extra effort into your learning process and submit assignments that exceed the minimum requirements. Some features I look for in A work include:

- Evidence of thorough research (going beyond an initial Google search, or the first page of results in a library catalog search).
- Asking questions that invite us all to think more deeply about the material.
- The ability to understand and respond to perspectives other than your own.
- Assignments that demonstrate you have carefully read and re-read the material.
- Ideas that are uniquely your own, not just repeated from class discussions
- Clear sentences, careful proofreading, and correct citations.

I also ask that you stretch yourself in class discussions. If participating is hard for you, try to confront that fear with small steps such as asking questions. If participating is easy for you, try to hold back more and listen to others.

ENGAGEMENT:

This course meets face-to-face once a week, with alternate asynchronous coursework weeks. It is advised to only take an absence for extreme and urgent circumstances. Missing class material impacts your ability to progress and succeed in this course. Active engagement is imperative in a course where the discussions and interactions may not be duplicated. The themes and concepts developed in class discussions, movement activities, and videos create the basis for our analytical studies over the course of the semester. Absent students are expected to inform themselves of the material and videos, as well as any handouts missed.

There are no excused absences beyond UNT's Student Attendance and Authorized Absences Policy. Student is responsible for requesting an excused absence in writing, providing satisfactory evidence to substantiate the request (including COVID illness/quarantine). A reasonable deadline will be agreed upon between faculty of record and student. A student needing assistance verifying absences due to illness or extenuating circumstances for all courses should contact the Dean of Students office. The Dean of Students office will verify the student's documentation and advocate on the student's behalf, as appropriate, to instructors.

COVID-19 Impact on Attendance

Students are expected to attend class meetings regularly and to abide by the attendance policy established for the course. It is important that you communicate with the professor and the instructional team prior to being absent, so you, the professor, and the instructional team can discuss and mitigate the impact of the absence on your attainment of course learning goals. Please inform the professor and instructional team if you are unable to attend class meetings because you are ill, in mindfulness of the health and safety of everyone in our community.

If you are experiencing any symptoms of COVID-19 please seek medical attention from the Student Health and Wellness Center (940-565-2333 or askSHWC@unt.edu) or your health care provider PRIOR to coming to campus. UNT also requires you to contact the UNT COVID Team at COVID@unt.edu for guidance on actions to take due to symptoms, pending or positive test results, or potential exposure.

LATE WORK:

Late work is not permitted in this class after 24 hours from the deadline (10% immediately deducted from late submissions after the deadline). Exceptions to this policy will only be considered for extreme extenuating circumstances. Students must speak with the instructor immediately if they foresee a problem in submitting their work on time.

If the student has not amassed at least 30% of their 100 % grade by mid-term, the student will receive an unsatisfactory progress notice. If the student continues making unsatisfactory progress he or she will be asked to drop the course.

All required assignments in this course may be checked for plagiarism using Turnitin.com

EVALUATION METHODS:

Written work and course assignments are graded on fulfillment of the assigned parameters. Participation and contribution in class discussions is expected. Preparation for class includes completion of and reflection on assigned readings, as well as prepared ideas for discussion. Class participation will reflect student demonstration of the following:

1. arrive ready
2. ability to articulate and engage the concepts presented in class
3. contribution to creating a better environment

CLASSROOM POLICIES:

It is expected that you will be respectful, supportive, and tolerant of each of your colleagues in this class. A multitude of topics and images will be presented in class that may cause discomfort and may reflect one's life, familial, or cultural experiences. When engaging in critical discussions, it is important to be mindful of how our words and body language can impact others. This is also a general life skill that will serve you outside of the academic setting.

Be On Time and turn cell phones OFF when entering the classroom. No food or drinks in the classroom, besides water in a closed container. Please dress in professional clothing that allows for a range of mobility.

Face Covering

Face coverings are highly encouraged in this class!

UNT encourages everyone to wear a face covering when indoors, regardless of vaccination status, to protect yourself and others from COVID infection, as recommended by current CDC guidelines. Face covering guidelines could change based on community health conditions.

Principles of Engagement

PoE refers to the way students are expected to interact with each other and with their instructors. Here are some general guidelines:

- While the freedom to express yourself is a fundamental human right, any communication that utilizes cruel and derogatory language on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, or any other characteristic protected under applicable federal or state law will not be tolerated.
- Treat your instructor and classmates with respect in any communication online or face-to-face, even when their opinion differs from your own.
- Ask for and use the correct name and pronouns for your instructor and classmates.

- Speak from personal experiences. Use “I” statements to share thoughts and feelings. Try not to speak on behalf of groups or other individual’s experiences.
- Use your critical thinking skills to challenge other people’s ideas, instead of attacking individuals.
- Avoid using all caps while communicating digitally. This may be interpreted as “YELLING!”
- Be cautious when using humor or sarcasm in emails or discussion posts as tone can be difficult to interpret digitally.
- Avoid using “text-talk” unless explicitly permitted by your instructor.
- Proofread and fact-check your sources.
- Keep in mind that online posts can be permanent, so think first before you type.

Materials for Remote Learning Instruction

The UNT fall schedule requires this course to have in-person instruction. Course delivery through alternative methods, such as Zoom, is only permitted in cases of quarantine/isolation/illness of instructor, with chair and dean approval or when informed by the university due to changing public health conditions. Additional remote instruction may be necessary if community health conditions change. In the event, students will need access to a [webcam, microphone, or recording device such as phone, camera or computer, and reliable internet connection] to participate in fully remote portions of the class. Additional required classroom materials for remote learning include: [7x7 ft. space to move]. Learn more about how to be successful in a remote learning environment

Prohibition of Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation (Policy 16.004)

The University of North Texas (UNT) prohibits discrimination and harassment because of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, or any other characteristic protected under applicable federal or state law in its application and admission processes; educational programs and activities; employment policies, procedures, and processes; and university facilities. The University takes active measures to prevent such conduct and investigates and takes remedial action when appropriate.

Class Recordings & Student Likenesses

Synchronous (live) sessions in this course may be recorded for students enrolled in this class section to refer to throughout the semester. Class recordings are the intellectual property of the university or instructor and are reserved for use only by students in this class and only for educational purposes. Students may not post or otherwise share the recordings outside the class, or outside the Canvas Learning Management System, in any form. Failing to follow this restriction is a violation of the UNT Code of Student Conduct and could lead to disciplinary action.

STUDENT BEHAVIOR IN THE CLASSROOM:

Student behavior that interferes with an instructor's ability to conduct a class or other students' opportunity to learn is unacceptable and disruptive and will not be tolerated in any instructional forum at UNT. Students engaging in unacceptable behavior will be directed to leave the classroom and the instructor may refer the student to the Center for Student Rights and Responsibilities to consider whether the student's conduct violated the Code of Student Conduct. The university's expectations for student conduct apply to all instructional forums, including university and electronic classroom, labs, discussion groups, field trips, etc. The Code of Student Conduct can be found at www.unt.edu/csrr

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY:

UNT's Policy of Academic Dishonesty found in the Student Handbook applies to this course. If caught plagiarizing (meaning copying) published sources or another student you will be referred to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities and you will also fail this course. This policy also applies if you are caught falsifying your attendance or misrepresenting your work in any way. For your own sake, please be sure that you are familiar with the rules and regulations regarding Academic Dishonesty. "The term 'plagiarism' includes, but is not limited to: 1. The knowing or negligent use by paraphrase or direct quotation of the published or unpublished work of another person without full and clear acknowledgement [or citation] and/or 2. The knowing or negligent unacknowledged use of materials prepared by another person or by an agency engaged in the selling of term papers or other academic materials."

STUDENT OBLIGATIONS TO ACADEMIC/PRODUCTION WORK:

DT students are expected to budget and organize their time and efforts in order to meet both their academic and production commitments satisfactorily and on time. The faculty and staff recognize that the academic and production assignments within the Department, as well as outside employment, athletics, and other obligations, sometimes impose conflicting pressures on DT students. One of the principal responsibilities of each student is to carefully identify and monitor the commitments that comprise his/her production work and outside obligations do not constitute an excused absence from DT classes or from the completion of any required class assignments.

DISABILITIES STATEMENT:

The University of North Texas makes reasonable academic accommodation for students with disabilities. Students seeking reasonable accommodation must first register with the Office of Disability Accommodation (ODA) to verify their eligibility. If a disability is verified, the ODA will provide you with a reasonable accommodation letter to be delivered to faculty to begin a private discussion regarding your specific needs in a course. You may request reasonable accommodations at any time, however, ODA notices of reasonable accommodation should be provided as early as possible in the semester to avoid any delay in implementation. Note that students must obtain a new letter of reasonable accommodation for every semester and must meet with each faculty member prior to implementation in each class. Students are strongly encouraged to deliver letters of reasonable accommodation during faculty office hours or by appointment. Faculty members have the authority to ask students to discuss such letters during their designated office hours to protect the privacy of the student. For additional information see the Office of Disability Accommodation website at <http://www.unt.edu/oda>. You may also contact them by phone at 940.565.4323.

Course Communication:

General Guidelines

- Remember that college communication is still professional communication. Use correct spelling and grammar and always double-check your response before hitting send or reply. Do not use slang and limit the use of emoticons.
- Use standard, readable fonts, sizes, and colors and avoid writing in all caps.
- Use your instructor's title of "Dr." or "Professor," or if you don't know use "Mr." or "Ms." Do not use "Mrs." to address female instructors unless told otherwise by said instructor.
- Be mindful of tone in online communication as it lacks the nonverbal cues of face-to-face communication that provide clarity and context to conversations.
- Respect the personal identities of others based on gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, class, and/or culture.
- Respect the privacy of yourself, your instructor, and your peers. Keep in mind what you reveal and do not reveal, particularly if this information involves personal health and/or classroom performance, such as grades.
- Give people the benefit of the doubt. Though there may be a computer between you, there are people on the other side of the screen.
- Do not make assumptions about others' technological skills. Technological skills vary across a variety of factors, including experience, age, culture, etc.

Communicating via Email

- Check the syllabus before asking a question about the course and let the instructor know you checked the syllabus before asking. Instructors put a lot of time into making syllabi as comprehensive as possible for students.
- Use a descriptive subject line to get the instructor's attention. Instructors receive a lot of emails and a descriptive subject line helps them identify student inquiries more efficiently.
- Be concise and to the point.

Discussion Board Communication

- Treat your posts like the professional communication that they are. Use correct spelling and grammar and always double-check a response before hitting send or reply. Do not use slang and limit the use of emoticons.
- Read all the messages in a thread before replying so you do not repeat something one of your peers may have already said.
- Avoid replies such as “I agree” and instead explain why you agree or do not agree.
- Show your work by sharing resources and utilizing citations.
- When disagreeing, do not make personal attacks or use language that discriminates based on gender, sexuality, race, ethnicity, class, and/or culture.
