Cheryl Lower

With over 25 years of experience in managing multicultural teams, consulting and training, Cheryl has helped organizations execute their strategy in complex, global environments on four continents. She has designed and facilitated seminars on leadership, change management, intercultural training, personal effectiveness, communication and other topics. She is an accomplished facilitator, having led hundreds of classes and workshops for groups of three to three hundred.

Cheryl works in a variety of industries, including biopharma, financial services, senior home care, manufacturing, energy, humanitarian, nonprofit and education. She is also a regular conference presenter.

When she's not working, Cheryl can be found folding laundry, driving her sons around, plotting the family's next international trip or playing outside.
