

PROGRAM LEADER INTRODUCTION

Paul Binnendyk

Paul is a corporate training facilitator and coach with a 25-year career that has included roles in sales, training and managing others.

Paul's practice focuses on sales and sales leadership, as well as on productivity and coaching for busy managers. He works throughout North America, serving companies in financial services, professional services, technology, media, health care, manufacturing and entertainment/leisure.

When not working or travelling, Paul enjoys physical activity, preferably outdoors, as well as spending time with his sons, his friends and his family.
