Everything in the universe is interconnected. Everything that exists as energy and vibration, even our thoughts and emotions. This is the basis of the law of attraction - the law of matching the frequency of the reality you desire, in order to attract it.

Now what if that means the universe is in constant communication with us? Most of us have at some point, lifted our heads to the sky and asked for something, be it a prayer, a wish, a miracle. In that instant we are acknowledging a power greater than ourselves. Even if we are simply saying “what should I do next? Please help me get this job, or help me decide which course of action to take etc”. We are in effect expressing a desire for help, a wish for a sign, a hope for some kind of ‘divine intervention’ that will guide us on the right path.

How many of us actually expect a response? The reality is that the universe is providing us with answers all the time, it’s just that so many people are moving through life with their eyes essentially closed to the sacred signs that manifest in response to our requests.

Wouldn’t you like to learn how to tap into all the magical ways that the universe speaks to us? When you know how, you can listen, see and interpret the hidden guide posts that exist all around us, there to help direct us along our spiritual paths as we attempt to manifest our dreams.

The sacred signs from the universe appear to us through many different avenues. These might be in the form of specific number patterns, animals or birds, songs, symbols, dreams, repetitive experiences or gut feelings, objects that appear placed in our way or books that seem to jump out at us.

The universe is always speaking but not with words, with vibrations, translated to us as feelings. So when you see what you may think is a sign, pay attention to how it resonates with you on a gut level.

When signs come in the form of numbers for example, these each hold a specific vibration. The number 11.11 has recently become increasingly widespread as an accepted sign of alignment and spiritual awakening. It’s often the first number sequence that people start to see and as such is like a little wink from the universe that you are headed on the right spiritual path.

The key to knowing when a sign is before you, lies in a willingness to surrender your question with faith and believe that the universe will provide. Sometimes signs are there to emphasize that you are on the right path, or that you need to pause and take stock, possibly choosing a different course of action.

It may not be extremely obvious at first, but remember the universe will always try to get the message to you for your highest good. What starts as a whisper may grow to a shout if you are not hearing the call. Perhaps a huge life change is upon you but you are not open to seeing the small signs at first. They may come as minor nudges in the form of a parking ticket or a small illness. If you don’t heed the signs, they may get bigger, and something more dramatic could happen.

This does not have to be a negative thing! The universe knows that wonderful new beginnings come from chaos and that the catalyst for change is often borne out of challenge. But wouldn’t you prefer to hear the whispers before the shout? Rather than feel overwhelmed or out of control, realize that you have the power within you to ask the universe for what you want and learn to listen and interpret the answer.
If you are wondering about anything in your life, be it your relationships, career, health or anything at all, you can simply surrender control and ask the universe for guidance.

This is an incredible way to boost your manifestations as you look for encouragement that you are in alignment with all you have asked for. It’s so important not to ask from a place of anxiety or fear, on the contrary what’s required is a passionate enthusiasm and genuine curiosity. Remember you are not trying to force anything to happen, you want a sign to appear and flow effortlessly into your life.

The universe is as loud as you are willing to listen, so don’t miss the signs that are waiting for you.

Learn to ask and listen powerfully with Manifestation Magic.
Seeing specific numbers or number sequences are a prominent and clear way for the universe to communicate to us. Pythagoras stated that our universe is ruled by numbers, and everything is mathematically precise. Numbers are a universal language, and repeating numbers are found in geometry, sound and in many realms of science. Each number has its own meaning and specific vibration. Recognizing and interpreting these numbers or sequences of numbers will connect you to the messages the angels, or the universe are trying to communicate.
These could be numbers you see on a clock, cell phone, check out till, or car license plate. Every time you notice a number sequence, remember it’s a nudge from the universe telling you to look at that precise moment. The real divine magic is in that impulse you get to look. You can’t and shouldn’t go through your day desperately checking the clock all the time, that is coming from an energy based in fear and neediness. The beauty and synchronicity is when you notice it naturally - that is the universe whispering its message to you.

It’s important to notice what numbers appear to you, for each has its own vibration and meaning. Of course, this is your life and each sign should be interpreted personally and specifically for you, according to your own intuition about how it relates to you in that point in time. However, there are some general meanings to certain numbers and patterns that you can take as an overview of the message that’s coming through.

111 - This number carries the energies of 1 and the master number 11. Combined it suggests new beginnings, enlightenment and spiritual awakening. Your intuition is strong right now and you should ensure your thoughts are positive and in alignment with your intention and dreams. 111 is also related to twin flames and starts to pop up when once maybe about to meet their twin flame.

Georgina experienced the constant appearance of 11.11 or variations of repeating 1’s such as 1.11 or 11.1111.11 during the time that she met her partner. Coming out of a previous relationship with some traumatic emotional baggage, she was understandably hesitant about jumping into something new. She kept noticing these numbers either just before she would meet up with her now boyfriend or just afterwards. When he sent her loving message she noticed it arrived at 11.11 on 11/1 and when driving to meet him, saw a long series of 1111111111 on the dashboard of her car. All of which signified the start of a very meaningful relationship and one she could not ignore! What numbers are you intuitively being drawn to?

222 - 22 is a master builder number and when combined with another 2 becoming triple, is extremely powerful. It is a sign to keep going in the direction you are in, an encouragement that your hard work and focus will pay off and that evidence of a manifestation is around the corner.

333- Seeing the number 3 in triple is very powerful, the energy of 3 meaning adventure, freedom and abundance. It is also related to the ascended masters, such as Jesus (the holy trinity) and Moses, Mary and Quan Yin. These masters are near you now in energy and you can call upon them for love and assistance on your path.

444- This number emphasizes that you have nothing to fear with regard to the life goals you are working towards. It represents the passion and drive to achieve your aspirations, and resonates with productivity and endurance, determination and inner wisdom. When you see this number, know that you are on the right path taking positive actions towards your life purpose.

555- This combination is about significant life change, nothing to fear, as change is part of life and can usher in important new beginnings. You can ask the angels to help you manifest positive change.
888- A number sequence to indicate financial and material abundance on its way. These numbers are related to progress and achievements in alignment with your higher purpose.

Shelly Sullivan used signs and number patterns to help her manifest winning the lottery. After developing a practice of going to the woods to spend time in nature and feel peaceful and grounded, she felt herself beginning to co create with the universe. When numbers began appearing to her she had no doubt that they were to help her win the lottery. When the numbers lotto 649777- appeared on the bottom corner of her television screen, even though she had turned off the power, she was convinced she should start to play the lottery. She followed more instinctual signs to start buying tickets in a different store. She would go to the forest and practice the feeling of having won, reading her numbers aloud and imagining what it would be like if they were the winning numbers. Just as she envisaged, she won $6400, realizing that it was a result of her focused attention and desire to win.

As Shelly says, this is not about luck, it’s about learning how to manifest. Don’t let the signs pass you by. Learn to create consciously with the universe and let magic flow effortlessly into your life with the manifestation magic formula.
The Native Americans are the first peoples that come to mind when we think of animal totems and symbolism, but the wisdom and power of certain animals can be found in many different cultures worldwide.

When the universe sends a message in the form of an animal take note of what you were thinking about as you saw the creature. You may be wondering about a new idea you have for some creative project and at that moment notice a butterfly, or a bird behaving in an unusual fashion close by, the tiny signs that may seem like coincidence are really the universe expressing itself to you in the form of encouragement.
If you experience repetitive sightings of the same animal, it may have an individual meaning for you.

Hawk - a powerful messenger of the spirit world. A strong power animal, if the hawk shows itself to you, start to pay close attention to your intuition. What part of your life can you start to fly higher in? Perhaps the hawk is teaching you to see things from a higher perspective.

Crow - Associated with magic and mystery, the crow symbolizes destiny, intelligence and powerful creation. In a positive sense, the crow can appear as a sign of personal transformation and good luck.

Deer - A soft, gentle but strong creature associated with sensitivity and intuition. Seeing a deer suggests a need to refresh old issues and see things from a different point of view. Perhaps you need to change some thought patterns and think from a calmer, more graceful perspective.

Dragonfly - Seeing a dragonfly is a message of happiness. Dragonflies represent lightness of being and possible transformation. Often seen around water, skimming the surface this connects dragonflies with the realm of emotions (associated with water).
Fox - Often associated with trickery, the fox is actually a sign to develop quick thinking and adaptability. Perhaps it’s time to start thinking outside the box in new ways, using our intelligence to find solutions to problems.

Butterfly - a strong symbol of change and personal transformation, the butterfly is the living embodiment of metamorphosis. You may be being guided to change or to accept and move through change with a lightness and joy.

Even if you live somewhere urban where it’s unlikely you’re going to see any of these animals very often, pay attention to any animals, insects, birds or creatures of any kind that come across your path. It could even be the symbol of the animal on a painting, gift card, clothes or jewellery.

Remember the universe communicates to us all the time, if something flies across your path in an unusual way or you find it odd to come across an insect you don’t usually see, don’t dismiss it. Whatever animal you see and how you interpret it will depend on your own intuition and understanding of why it is appearing to you at this point in time.

The key, as with all of these sacred signs, is not to walk around looking at everything you see with a sense of anxiety or desperation but rather, being calm and open and allowing your gut to guide you where to look and when without overthinking it. Allow the universal energy to be your guide.

This was particularly true for Jennifer Twardowski, who had asked the universe for a sign while having a difficult time looking for apartments. After some meditation she decided on a dove as the sign she would look for. After a few days of not seeing any doves, she was looking at an apartment with her boyfriend when he pointed out a dove in a tree (her boyfriend knew nothing of her decision to look for a sign). Despite her initial excitement, that apartment didn’t work out. Losing faith, Jennifer carried on her search. At another apartment viewing, someone pointed out a dove again, but as she turned it flew away and she didn’t see it. At this point Jennifer felt dejected and didn’t see anymore doves on her search. When the day came to move into her new apartment, she drove up with all her belongings in tow, and went to the office to get her new keys. As she waited there, she looked over at the deck of her new apartment and there on the railings were a pair of doves. She knew then that they had been there as a sign all along, she just had to open her eyes and most importantly, release her fears and trust that she would be guided. That is the secret to receiving clear universal guidance.

Understand the language of the universe and use manifestation magic to co create your world. There are so many things in life that we cannot control, but also so many things that we can. Do not sleepwalk through your life, open your eyes to what the universe is showing you.
Music has such a powerful effect on our emotions, we often create strong associations with specific songs. The universe may use music and songs to gently wake us up to a specific message. Have you ever noticed that a certain song keeps playing on the radio when you get in the car? Or when you walk into a shop? Pay close attention to a sign that comes in the form of music and lyrics, there are wonderful messages hidden there, waiting for you to understand the information being conveyed. It may even be a song that you just can’t get out of your head, or perhaps you even wake up with it going around and around.
In a real life example, Lucy had been having a terrible day, she’d just had a huge argument with her boyfriend, realized she hated her job and felt truly in despair. It was late at night and she was exhausted, she got into her car to drive away, the song playing on the radio as she started the engine was Bob Marley’s “Everything’s Gonna Be Alright.’ She glanced at the clock and saw it was 1.11 am. At that moment, despite the emotional pain and confusion she was feeling, she felt utter faith that her life would guide her to the right experiences, and that even the unpleasant time she had just had was part of a process to better things. As time went by, this turned out to be true and things did work out better than she could have ever imagined!

It’s so important to pay attention to the subtle winks and nudges of the universe, and that can sometimes be hard if you are in a place of sadness or despair. Learn to see and hear clear guidance and cultivate faith that your desires are on their way.
When we are asleep we are far more open and accessible to receiving messages as our subconscious mind and higher self are at the helm. Our negative, resistant conscious mind is not in charge any more. For that reason, powerful messages are often heard and played out to us in our dreams. Remember though that the crucial thing to notice is to the feeling you have upon waking. The nature of dreaming is such that we often don’t remember specifics, or it can sometimes seem surreal. If you wake up with a strong feeling, that feeling is the most important part to pay attention to. The universe is communicating through vibrations, remember - which means the energy you receive from the sign, through the dream may come in a feeling. Sometimes dreams can bring up fears and reveal to us where we are actively vibrating in our waking life. That can help as a mirror of where you may want to make some adjustments to your mindset and thinking.

As dreams are so unique and personal, it’s a wonderful idea to create a dream journals that on waking you have a record of what you remember immediately. With some reflection you might then have a better understanding of the message that is being shown to you with this particular dream. You are really the best person to interpret your own dreams, although dream dictionaries can be helpful.

There are many examples of famous people who dreamed their success before hand. Paul McCartney woke up with the lyrics to the hit ‘Yesterday’ in his head. Thomas Edison was an avid lucid dreamer, doing much of his work and brainstorming in that state between wake and sleep. Writers often work best early in the morning or late at night for the same reasons. The brain taps into a creativity that is inspired by the dream state.
In this story - https://www.annasayce.com/psychic-dreams-are-you-dreaming-of-the-future/ a welsh artist dreamed repeatedly of a beautiful house in the countryside. She finally decided to paint it, complete with all the details from her dream. Several months later she fell in love with a man she had met from the North of England. One weekend she went to his house for the first time and was left astonished. His house in the countryside was the exact same house of her dreams. The one she had painted. She showed him her painting and he couldn’t believe it either. Later on she moved into that house with him.

Imagine what pictures of your future are being painted through your dreams! Don’t you want to start paying attention to them?! Who knows the adventures that are lying in wait, you just need to learn how to read the signs.

This is a quite literal call to attention from the universe. When a book jumps out of the shelf or even just sticks out more, grabbing your attention, it could be that it contains healing or important information for you in that moment. Maybe a book doesn’t have to actually fall off in front of you, maybe you are sitting opposite someone reading it, and then you see someone else reading it. Or, like Wendy in the example below, you find it lying in a bizarre but prominent place, as though waiting for you.
Wendy had been trying to meditate for some weeks and was finding it exceptionally difficult. She was the kind of person who likes to understand the reasons behind doing things but was not a particularly spiritual person. In other words she found it difficult to get her mind in the right state and kept questioning what she was doing. On the day that she felt most frustrated and like giving up entirely, she went to take the trash out and there, lying by the container was the book “It’s Easier than You Think‘- The Buddhist Way to Happiness by Sylvia Boorstein. A very small, straightforward simple and engaging read about the power of meditation explained through down to earth and very relatable personal stories. In other words, exactly what Wendy needed to read to pick up her practice and engage with it.

In another example, a good friend was visiting with her friend who was going through a break-up and major life shift. She was feeling very lost and confused about whether she was doing the right thing. As the two were chatting a sign appeared. A book that this good friend had actually bought her many years ago, literally jumped off the shelf! The title ‘Choosing Yourself’ a very apt and crystal clear message for the dilemma she was in.

It’s important not to dismiss something like that as coincidence! These are clear messages from the universe and listening to them can save a lot of unnecessary heartache.

Remember to get clear and centered on what you desire and then release your control by surrendering to universal guidance.
Have you ever noticed a literal sign, like a huge billboard or road sign with words that mean something to you? Maybe it’s a license plate or graffiti. Perhaps you have been having a bad day and someone walks directly towards you with ‘Love Yourself’ printed on their t-shirt, or ‘Be Happy” printed on a bag. All of these little instances could be the universe communicating to you as best it can through encouraging words. This is another wink from the universe that you want to be aware of.

In the following example, Stephanie experienced an incredible line-up of events. She was struggling with a decision to move to Florida, wondering whether it was the right thing to do, knowing she wanted to but having to face some big changes in her life in order to do so. She would have to sacrifice a relationship, and leave a job not to mention family and friends. She was really agonizing over this huge decision and decided to let it go, asking the universe for a clear sign about what she should do.

Not long after surrendering the decision to the universe, while driving in her car, the song “Should I Stay or Should I Go” by the Clash, came on the radio. She looked down to turn up the volume, already thinking wow, how appropriate for me! When she returned her gaze to the road, there in front of her was a car with a Florida license plate right in front of her. At the time she was living in Pennsylvania state. What a sign, what an answer, her decision was made there and then.

Notice how in the examples where people have received sacred signs, they have surrendered their question or issues to the universe with faith? This is a crucial step in learning how to successfully manifest what you desire.
The universe will also communicate to us through repeated experiences. These could be positive or negative. Perhaps we keep reliving a certain experience again and again in order to uncover and heal some sort of lesson that has yet to be learned. For example, perhaps you have jumped from one relationship to another and although at first it seemed different, in fact you are re-living the same old issues because you have yet to clean up your vibrational energy around that problem. Equally this could happen if you keep changing jobs, but seem to end up in the same type of company with repetitive dynamics between employees. Maybe you always get the same health issue, again and again, never quite getting rid of it for good. This may go on until you realise you need to make some changes to stop the repetition.

Learning from what is being taught and deciding to change your thoughts and reactions enough to create a new path to new experiences. It doesn’t have to mean leaving that relationship, job or whatever it is, it could be as simple as changing something within you, a thought process or emotional reaction, that has an outward affect on everything else.

Another way the universe communicates through experiences may be that you keep bumping into someone who actually has something important to share with you or teach you, maybe talking to that person will help illuminate a problem you have been having, showing you a solution.

A repeated sighting of a specific person was the sign that the universe brought to Katie, after she moved to a small town in Spain from the UK.
She didn’t know anyone and was having a hard time making friends. She was excited to be there but kept longing for a like-minded soul to laugh with and get to know. She noticed she kept seeing a dark haired girl, who seemed to be around her age all over the place, wherever she went. In cafes, bars and walking down the street. It was beginning to seem to her like the universe was pushing her to speak to this person, but she felt shy. One day after seeing the girl again, she plucked up the courage to speak to her and introduced herself. It transpired that they were exactly the same age, had been to the same university at the same time and even had many friends in common. In fact up until this point they had even followed very similar jobs and lives, each leading them to move to Spain earlier that year. Now the best of friends, Katie is grateful every day that she followed the signs the universe was showing to her so that she could feel more at home and make an important friendship.

You never know why someone or something keeps being shown to you, but you can bet that it’s not a coincidence. There is always a deeper meaning and gift there waiting for you to uncover!
YOUR NEXT STEPS
