

The 'Mapping biodiversity priorities' guide was first published jointly by the South African National Biodiversity Institute (SANBI) and the United Nations Environment Programme World Conservation Monitoring Centre (UNEP-WCMC) in 2016.

The second edition has been revised and updated as a key resource for countries implementing and monitoring the Global Biodiversity Framework.

The second edition is currently in layout, and will be available online and in printed copy by CoP16.