CNN reporter describes virus screenings at White House

One year ago, everything changed. Using the delightful Internet Archive Wayback Machine, I was able to look back at major news outlets coverage of March 1, 2020 headlines. The pandemic was early in its American infancy with concerns of a Covid-19 outbreak in a Washington State nursing care facility. Other news headlines dominated the screen such as Joe Biden besting Bernie Sanders in the South Carolina primary. Jumping ahead to March 15th, 2020, all that had changed. Reports of countries shuttering their borders, symptomatic viral spread, and businesses such as restaurants closing their doors ahead of a nationwide lockdown filled every article link on every news website in this country.

One year ago, many of our church members were embarking on a ten-day trip throughout the Holy Land with some of us having an extended seven day stay in Egypt (that extension never happened). The virus was but a conversation starter then. By the end of the first ten days, as we all attempted to get back home with Israel closing their borders, this pandemic had become a global crisis. In ten days, everything had changed. And that is how it all started for us.

I am sure we all will be seeing many of these "year in reviews" in the coming days ahead. Reflections on what was lost including livelihoods and lives, relationships and connections. In a one-year span, so much has changed and so much has been taken from us.

And yet, these reflections are so very important. They are our connection to our past, reminders of what has gone before us. Although it may feel like this entire past year has been a year of Lent, in this Lenten season we are now in, we people of faith are expected to reflect on ourselves. Just as Jesus spent forty days in the wilderness self-denying, praying, fasting, and examining himself, we too are called to take up these forty days in kind.

A LAST ACT

FROM THE ELIZABETH PRESBYTERY

In a season of setbacks and simply sometimes holding on, you take the good news with both hands. I got some good news the other day. The Presbytery is giving us $15,000 to fund an event in April. The grant comes from the Grey-stone and Peacemaking funds and will cover 75% of the total cost of offering a virtual lecture and dialogue with Dr. Ibram X Kendi on April 28th.

Ibram X Kendi is the author of a number of books. His most recent work, Four Hundred Souls is an anthology of writers, politicians, preachers, activists, martyrs, and people who have fought the fight against slavery, segregation, and systemic racism. Currently we are hosting a book study on one of his works, How to be An Antiracist. The Presbytery of Elizabeth grant will provide a copy of this book to churches with less than 200 members.

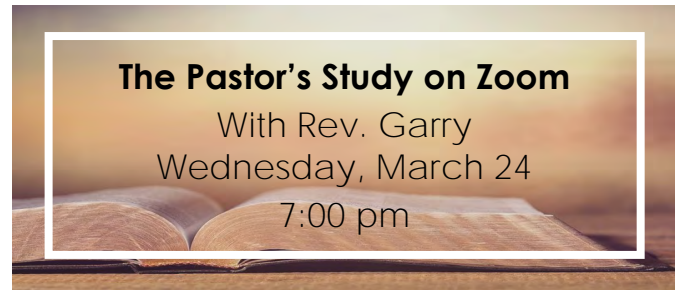

The evening with Dr. Kendi will be virtual. His presentation will last an hour and there will be a follow-up as well as preparatory opportunities with local clergy and leaders. The evening will also feature Amanda Ripley who will ask questions and serve as a dialogue partner.

More details of the event will be forthcoming and there are a lot of logistics to work out. Sometimes Zoom makes things easier; sometimes more complex.

An interesting note for this event/grant:

It may have been the last official act of the Presbytery of Elizabeth. The Presbytery of Elizabeth will dissolve in a few months and become a part of three different presbyteries. Our congregation will be joining the new "Central" Presbytery of New Jersey. This is interesting not only for the novelty of being a "last" act. But it is also of interest because the event itself could be the first act of the new Presbytery.

Hopefully, this evening and the relationships that form will create a powerful direction for the new Presbytery, as well as moment of thanksgiving for the life of the Elizabeth Presbytery.

The Pastor's Study for March will look at an interesting article from the New York Times, published shortly after the events of January 6th at the Capital Building. The article explores a part of American religious views and how they influence our political divisions and discord. We will also continue to utilize the book, Jesus and John Wayne. During this study we will seek to differentiate, Christianity in America and American Christianity.

A WALK AROUND THE CHURCH

On Sunday, March 28th, gather in front of the Sanctuary at 11:00 a.m. for a walk of the grounds. During the last year our focus for the building was "how do we create a safe, socially distant space." We have done that and continue to refine it. Yet, at the same time, our buildings have needed repairs, been enhanced, and have exciting, pending projects.

This will be a moment to hear updates, to see the progress, and to imagine some the proposed work for the coming years. The walk will last about an hour and we will have minimal time indoors so as to maintain social distance.

Music Ministry

My Song is Love Unknown is a hymn that we occasionally sing during Lent or Holy Week. The text was written in 1664, while the tune we sing was written in 1918. It is a beautiful melding of text and tune, the words being a poignant reflection on Christ's Passion.

My song is love unknown, my Savior's love to me,
Love to the loveless shown that they might lovely be.
O who am I that for my sake my Lord should take frail flesh, and die?

He came from heaven's throne salvation to bestow;
The world that was his own would not its Savior know.
But O my Friend, my Friend indeed, who at my need his life did spend!

Sometimes we strew his way, and his sweet praises sing,
Resounding all the day hosannas to our King.
Then "Crucify!" is all our breath, and for his death we thirst and cry.

Unheeding, we will have our dear Lord made away,
A murderer to save, the prince of life to slay.
Yet steadfast he to suffering goes, that he his foes from thence might free.

Here might I stay and sing, no story so divine:
Never was love, dear King, never was grief like thine.
This is my Friend, in whose sweet praise I all my days could gladly spend.

WEDNESDAY YOUTH GROUP

Sr. High

At the time of writing this, our 2021 Famine has not happened yet, but our Youth have raised an amazing $7,500 towards our $15,000 goal. We are grateful for their dedication to this cause as we seek to combat food insecurity amidst this pandemic. In addition to our fundraising going towards the packaging of 25,000 meals for Kids Against Hunger, we are also using the funds to contribute towards the expansion of our existing FPC Food Pantry as well as other inter-faith non-profit organizations who are serving the food insecure population of our country. The biggest thank you to all of our volunteers for making this event happen and to our Famine Committee of Carolynn Briggs, Caitlin Mollison, Cara Cuite, Carla Trolaro, Emily Simkin, Gail Stein, Jennifer Edge, Bill and Sue Marquard, and Sarah Teti who have been preparing for this event over the last six months! Thank you!

The month of March for Youth Group will be a focus on generational divides, mental health support, and our annual conversation on consent. We look forward to Covid cases being lower so that we can eat meals together soon. The tent will be erected again in April so Youth Group can move back outside with warmer weather.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR DEVOTION

When you consider your faith from the vantage of history, the amount of information, the history, and the theology of the church, this can be quite overwhelming. Even just the Bible alone can feel like a sea of images and a jumble of people and places. How can you grow in faith when there seems to be so many ways to go?

I have heard many people say, "I am going to read the Bible this year." And this is great. There are many devotionals that will allow you to do this. Usually there are three to four portions of scripture to read each day. This is to avoid the doldrums of Leviticus or the long list of wicked nations of Isaiah. One can only enjoy so many laws about grain and leprosy before the Bible becomes a drag.

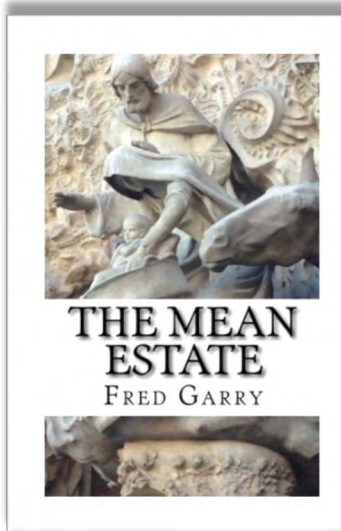

Reading the Bible in a year is an "encyclopedic" approach. You get to encounter the book as a whole, from Genesis to Revelation; and the encounter is in a brief, digestible format. But let's be honest, no one is ever seen as sane who says, "I really want to read my encyclopedia set." The Bible, as a place of sacred contemplation, is a misfit when it comes to a quick read. To attend to the Bible and find the voice of the Holy Spirit is more of a deep dive than a skimming of the surface.

That was my thought when I wrote a small book called The Mean Estate. This is a daily devotional for Lent where all of the parables of Jesus are considered. The hope is that by the end of Lent a reader can say, "I know the parables of Jesus." And this is a great thing to know.

The parables are a place to go deep into the call to follow Jesus. These are the heart of his teachings. And, most importantly, there are around forty of them. There are a good number of copies still available. Neither is it too late to start a Lenten devotion. There is a suggested donation of $5 to cover the cost of printing. Do get a copy now!

There are many ways to find a place of devotion during Lent. This is one I have found helpful to me.

The mean estate is where we find the blessing of meekness and the glory of humility.

Consider a parable a day and find their power.

Be ready to ask, "how can I live this?"

Be ready for the answer, "you must be born anew as one who abides in the mean estate."

Copies are available in the church office foyer or call the church office to reserve one: (732) 491-2300.

Are you a mom of a little one that would appreciate some adult conversation?

Community Nursery School has been open and operating on a regular schedule following the COVID-19 guidelines from the NJ Department of Children and Families. Our students have been learning and having fun together inside and using the FPC Chapel for some open gym space.

Recently, the students have been learning about ice, snow, penguins, and polar bears. We celebrated Valentine's Day with ice cream parties in the classrooms and learned about the significance of Chinese New Year.

Registration for the next school year is ongoing. In addition to our Pre-K classes CNS will also be running K-Wrap to complement the Public School Half Day Kindergarten Program.

Norwegian theologian Ole Hallesby described prayer as simply letting God into our lives. God "knocks," he said, "not only in the solemn hours of secret prayer" but "in the midst of your daily work, your daily struggles, your daily grind ... when you need him most."

Prayer, added Hallesby, is as essential to life as air. "As impossible as it is for us to take a breath in the morning large enough to last us until noon, so impossible is it to pray in the morning in such a way as to last us until noon," he said. "Let your prayers ascend to [God] constantly, audibly or silently, as circumstances throughout the day permit."
