HOLDING INSTITUTE COMMUNITY CENTER

The Holding Institute is a non-profit community center located in Laredo, Texas, supporting immigrant and refugee relief efforts all across the Texas/Mexico border. In their covenant relationship with the United Methodist Women and in collaboration with other community partners, they are responding to the needs of women, children, youth, and families: to encourage health & wellness, to empower education, to improve community, and to invite discipleship. Holding Institute believes that loving and serving your neighbor should be without condition and without restraint. Their efforts on behalf of those families traveling from Central America into the United States continue on a daily basis, with the primary objective of extending food, comfort, care, and respite.
