>>>There is a ghost in my computer!<<<

Hello faithful blog fans. I know that you were waiting for me to add the next post for a long time but I have to tell you the past few days were a real disaster for me!

It was Friday night. As usual, I came home from a night out with my friends and I sat down at my computer to write about our experiences. My friends and I were in downtown Montréal and we met a group of students from Venezuela who took us to this great Venezuelan club where we danced for hours.

But wait! That's not the story I want to tell here! What I want to talk about is what happened when I got home and sat down in front of my computer. I switched it on and started to write. I even downloaded a couple of photos that I took on my cell phone. I was all set to publish my blog when ... Pssssssssssht! My computer screen froze! Then, the weirdest thing happened! Some of the words on my screen started to be erased!

I sat there looking at the screen, amazed! I tried to type something! It didn't work! I tried all the keys on my keyboard but nothing worked! Then I tried to switch off my computer and that didn't work either! It was as if something was taking control of my computer.

Then a strange thing happened: whatever it was that was controlling my computer started typing in words. The first words it typed were, "Katja, you really should go to bed. It's late!"

"Mom?" I asked. Of course, the computer did not answer me. I went down the hall to check: my mom was in bed. Who could it be?

When I got back, my computer was turned off. It looked normal. I turned it back on and it worked perfectly. I was really tired so I decided to take my computer's advice and go to bed.

The next day, I turned on my computer again to write my blog and it happened again! This time the message said, "Katja, did you do your homework yet?" This was too unreal! Who is this person? My parents say that it is not them and who else cares if I do my homework? I don't understand! It is like some kind of ghost is living in my computer.

I am writing this post from the computer at school on my lunch break. Blog fans, if you have any idea who is doing this, please write to me!

Thanks!

Katja

Hey Katja – it sounds like you have a nasty virus! Did you download any software lately? Did you open an e-mail with an attachment? Run your virus scanner and check it out!

Hey sis! I know who has control of your computer – me! Hahahaha–hahaha! I wrote a little program for your new computer last week and thought I would try it out! I guess you won't be laughing at me anymore for studying computer science!
