

Moore To Serve as Interim Superintendent at Mooresville

MOORESVILLE, Ind. – Dr. Larry Moore has been chosen to serve as the interim superintendent for Mooresville Schools.

Dr. Moore is a familiar face to the staff at Mooresville, where he served as Assistant Superintendent for Business from 2010-2012. He will lead the district while the school board conducts the search process for the next superintendent.

“We are thankful to have Dr. Moore, someone who lives in this community and has experience leading a school district, here to help us during this transition,” said School Board President Dr. Bill Roberson.

Dr. Moore has also served as a superintendent in several small school districts in Indiana, including Cannelton City Schools, Northwestern Consolidated School District of Shelby County, and Eminence Community Schools.

Dr. Moore earned his Ed.D. in Educational Leadership from the University of Sarasota, his Ed.S. in School Administration and Secondary Education from Indiana University, his Master’s Degree in Community Education and Mathematics from Ball State University, and his Bachelor’s Degree in Mathematics and Secondary Education from Hanover College.

Dr. Moore and his wife reside in Mooresville. They have three grown sons.
