Peek at our Week

Reading/LA - The Best Christmas Pageant Ever, "Water Balloon Fight", and derm, pod/ped, and hippo

We will begin working on the Flocabulary unit, "Water Balloon Fight". Please see the words below. The "Water Balloon Fight" Flocabulary Test will be on Friday, 12/8/17. Our new Greek and Latin Roots are derm meaning skin and pod/ped meaning foot/feet, and hippo meaning horse. There will be a quiz over all 35 Greek and Latin Roots on Thursday, 11/30/17! We will also begin reading The Best Christmas Pageant Ever this week. We have limited copies of this book, so if possible, please try to purchase or borrow a copy for your child. Don't forget to study for Friday's Language Quiz.

Social Studies: Native Americans

There will be biweekly states and capitals review quizzes. A random 10 states and their capitals will be chosen, and quizzed every other Friday to make sure the kids don't forget them. Our first States and Capitals Review quiz will be this Friday, 12/1/17. Also, this week we will begin our Native American Unit.

Math: Multiply Decimals

We will finish Chapter 4 this week. The Chapter 4 Test will be on Friday, 12/1/17. There will be a math morning work quiz on Friday!

Spelling:

See the spelling list to the right. Test next Friday, 12/8/17!

Notes from the Teacher:

We will begin reading The Best Christmas Pageant Ever by Barbara Robinson next week. If you have, or can obtain an extra copy of the book, that would be very helpful!!
