Keeping Students Safe Online

Mooreville Schools and the Morgan County Sheriff's Department are collaborating to provide an important resource for Mooreville parents. Captain Brent Worth of the Morgan County Sheriff's Department is holding a social media workshop for parents on Wednesday, Sept. 5, at 6:00 p.m.

This workshop, When Social Media Goes Bad, will be held in the Paul Hadley Middle School cafeteria (enter door #29 behind PHMS). Mooreville parents will learn how to help your teens successfully navigate the world of social media, cell phones, and other communication devices.

Topics to be discussed include: social media basics, cell phone apps and tricks, cyberbullying, online safety, relationship building, and rates of suicide and depression. Information presented will be a preview of information being presented to PHMS students on Friday, Sept. 7. Parents from all Mooreville Schools are welcome to attend. Children are welcome; however, content may not be appropriate for students in lower grade levels.
