My brand new printer has finally arrived so prepare yourselves for a feast of fonts, a torrent of typefaces, a plethora of point sizes, a ... Oh yes, maybe we might even find room for some basketball news as well.

VWBC Div 5 22/04

Uni 34 lost to Keilor 36

I have a squad of nine but a weekly turn up of four or five - there's something wrong with my maths somewhere! They had five, then four, then three, and we had a numerical advantage! Despite some slack defence we were still able to score easily and were up by a few with a couple of minutes to play when suddenly....oh never mind, and once again defeat was snatched from the jaws of victory...

VWBC Div 4 - 22/04

Uni 28 lost to Keilor 31

Well I thought I'd follow up a coaching loss with the thirds with a win with the seconds... A 3 - 2 defence blunted their offence quite well, except for that girl with the two three pointers. Heather and Cathy were rebounding well and Kim was running the break to effect. Unfortunately they hadn't listened to me when I said pass it around in offence to start with and we were down 11-1 through a series of bad shots. After a burst at the time out we out played them, however the damage had been done and despite the scores being equal with 30 seconds to play we managed to lose without too many problems.

VBA Div 3 - 22/04

Uni 45 d ??? 44

Having just come off two close losses I was looking forward to a win (so I'm an eternal optimist!). Basketball, being a funny sort of game, actually saw the men's seconds triumph over evil, degradation,(oops got carried away) and whoever it was we were playing... Dare I say the beginning of a new era? No, I don't think I will!

CYMS A Res Women - 26/04

Uni (2) 35 d Uni (1) 20

With a new look side and a stand in coach while Greg was playing, the young un's beat the gerries by out hustling and out running them. Sue-Ellen shot well, Heather, Boomer and Cathy were faultless on the boards and Kim hustled hard. A fine team win and I would like to thank David L for coaching (is it rude to thank yourself? - Ed). Any time you want to get rid of Greg....

CYMS A Grade Men - Sun 26/04

Uni x v Princes Hill x

Well, in typical Uni fashion, we managed to be down by 17 points with 8 minutes to go but then - Yazzam- we transform to sensible players and make a comeback by playing good solid ball. Well this game gets down to 6 seconds left with Princes Hill leading by 3 and having possession under our basket. They pass in, throw across court, Matt jumps up in front of his man, the ball bounces off his head to Nick who lobs up a 3 with .00062 seconds to go - it hits - it's a draw. By the way, P.H. are the top team so we did pretty well. Hee hee hee.

VWBC Div 4 - Wed 29/04

Uni 33 d Port Colts

Given that there are 13 teams in division 4 and we are up to round 10 (according to the draw) (Seems like a fairly reasonable assumption to me - Ed) then theoretically we should have only played this team once (actually it should only have been .833 times but who's counting - Ed). However, due to the extremely well planned draw, this was our third encounter with Port Colts. After having narrowly lost to them in the previous two games, we were out to beat them with "Jones". At half time we had a lead of 4 points but in the 2nd half, they came out and played "The Man instead of The Ball". This was not to their advantage as we seemed to kick into top gear and rub their noses in it. The score line looks better for Port Colts than it should have as they scored a couple a couple of technically unsound baskets towards the end.

The MDS Factor's Mt Gambier Report

Well, what a wonderful tournament, staying in a luxurious cabin on a grassy knoll with the birds singing in the trees as you look out over the Blue Lake which can only be described as "... blue ...". Yes, a wonderful tournament with beers flowing, music playing and bloody shit back courts with roofs that are sloped so that shots from one side hit the roof. Yes, we lost again in typical Uni fashion, the guys by losing to spasmos on a shit court with shit refs and the girls by winning all their games except for the semi final. Bloody Hell, if it wasn't for Bomber's "Real Wood" and "Power Seats" the weekend would have been a write off. Oh yeah, did I mention the terrific cabin - I want one.! Anyway I suppose I'd better tell you about the Easter Weekend ...
