Waynesboro Basketball Association

1st Annual "Pack the House" Night

The first annual "Pack the House Night" took place Friday, December 17th against Northern. Pack the House started as a dream of Coach Davis to completely pack the new gym with a seating capacity of 1600 seats. With the assistance of the WBA and the Indians and Maidens Club at WASH, they achieved half of their goal with approximately 800 people in attendance. It was clearly the biggest crowd attending a varsity game this year. Each elementary school was well represented, as well as the middle and high school. Each school was invited to attend to compete in cheer offs in support of the boys basketball team. WASHS won the inaugural Golden Ball award for the most spirited school, with Hoo-verville as a close second.

Although the outcome of the game wasn't the desired result, the crowd cheered the entire game and helped the team make a big push in the second half. The inaugural event can be called nothing but successful and hopefully next year's event will be even bigger and better.

Ham and Cheese Sandwich Sale

From January 22nd to February 7th, the WBA will be holding a ham and cheese sandwich sale as their final fundraiser of the year. Sandwiches will be made on Thursday, February 17th, to be delivered on Friday, February 18th. Ham and cheese sandwiches on a deli roll will be sold for $3 each and on a pretzel roll will be $3.25 each. To place an order, please see any member of the high school or Pride basketball teams. In the past, this has been an extremely successful fundraiser for the WBA and we're hoping that this year is no different.

Where Are They Now?

Jordan Reitz is a 2006 graduate of Waynesboro Area Senior High School and was involved with the basketball program beginning as a youth at the YMCA and continuing on through his senior year of high school. Upon graduation from high school, Jordan attended and played baseball at Juniata College for one year, before transferring to Penn State for his remaining collegiate years. He enjoyed his time at Juniata, but decided to give up playing competitive sports in exchange for a major that would best prepare him for his future after college. Even though he missed playing baseball and basketball competitively, he stayed active on the court and field by getting involved in intramural sports. Jordan graduated from Penn State this past December with a degree in Landscape Contracting and Design and a minor in Arboriculture. Prior to starting his career, he is spending his time helping Coach Hoffman with the point guard position this season.

In February, Jordan will be moving to the Harrisburg area to work as an Account Manager for Team Lewis Landscaping. This landscape contracting company is owned by Seth Lewis, a former opponent of Jordan's in high school. Seth was a 1,000 point scorer for Lower Dauphin High School, who Jordan met and became friends with during his time at Penn State. Isn't it ironic that a person in an opposing jersey some six years ago, is now a good friend and future boss?
