What's the call, Ump? This play recently happened. The situation is runners on 1st and 3rd with two outs. Hank lines one to center that Willie misplays and the ball is rolling to the fence. Hank smells HR and turns 2nd and runs to 3rd without actually touching 2nd. And with the bad throw, Hank races all the way home. Both the 2Bman and SS are calling for the ball and both are saying Hank missed 2nd. Appeal play, and Hank is ruled out. 3 outs. Now the question becomes does runner that was on 1st base run count?

This is a timing play, and since the runner had already scored before the appeal, he is safe. Had it been a force out anywhere, no runs would have been counted.
