

Safely arrived back in Ghana on Tuesday. As usual once here in Accra, we are most anxious to get back to Tamale so Bob was out early on Wednesday looking at what kind of bus he might find. Came back with pictures of a couple of the different ones he had seen. Then early Thursday he was back out again and by the afternoon had decided on one of the first ones he saw. It really seems to be the one God had for us. When he went back for it, there was someone else looking at it but the salesman said since Bob was already there yesterday, if he wanted it then it was his. Then while Bob was at the license bureau the other man came in with the other bus Bob had looked at and said that Bob took his bus.

We really want each of you to know how much we appreciate all of your fund raising on behalf of the ministry to purchase the much needed vehicles.

We have been here with Cathy & Paul Nagy and today Emmanuel arrived with Jonathan. What a joy to watch them all together. It was good to see Jonathan again. He is still a little imp but oh so cute! Tomorrow morning they go back to the Embassy to pick up his passport and then they leave for the US tomorrow night. What a God thing this adoption is. It is amazing to see the difference love has made in this child.

So Tamale here we come - Sunday most likely. Just have to have the bus serviced and the air conditioner checked out and we will be on our way!
