Father we thank you for these ninety-five years of serving and worshipping You as the church fellowship known as Kelleytown. Would you grant us Lord, an appreciation of the past and a desire to see you do something so dramatic in our future that it is obviously from you. May our attitude be "whatever it takes" as we seek to save the lost and make disciples. We pray this in the name that is above all names, the name of Jesus. Amen.
Welcome to Homecoming 2018! I'm glad you chose to worship with us today as we celebrate all that God has done and is doing in the life of His church. If this is your first time at Kelleytown, you're in for a wonderful worship experience.

What makes Kelleytown unique is our people and today you'll be worshipping around people that truly want God’s best for you. To those of you that have “come home,” we're glad you’re here and thank you for the time God had you here in our fellowship. You’re part of our great history and have helped make our church what she is today.

I hope all of you will plan to stay for lunch as we fellowship together, reminisce, and perhaps even dream a little of what God has in store for His church. Again, I’m glad God brought you here and look forward to worshipping with you and sharing some time together this afternoon. Lastly if this is your first time here, please introduce yourself to me...I’d love to meet you!

We welcome to Kelleytown today Dr. Gary Hollingsworth as our Homecoming speaker.

Dr. Hollingsworth is the Executive Director Treasurer of the SCBC and has served in this capacity since 2016. He is an Alabama native and previously served as senior pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church in Little Rock, Ark., from 2007 to his time coming to our state. He also previously served as senior director of cultural evangelism at the North American Mission Board from 2005-2007.

“The patriarch of Kelleytown was Jacob Kelley, a man of significant means, born just four years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence. It was his seed of faith in 1843 that has borne the fruits of the church’s ministry through the years. Jacob Kelley’s gift of a tract of land for a graveyard and “meeting house” are indicative of his sensitivity to future work of the Holy Spirit.

It was not until October 1923, some eighty years after Mr. Kelley’s grant, that this seed of faith began to grow. Many culminating events had significant impact on the church’s founding. The decision of Mr. J.W. Gardner to explore the possibilities for a church in 1915, was perhaps the first visible inspiration. The most dramatic event, however was the conversion of a local farmer, Robert L. Lundy. This spirited transformation of a once vile and hardened sinner not only gave witness to the power of the Holy Spirit but also led to a dynamic evangelistic ministry. It was one of Rev. Lundy’s evangelistic meetings, held in a tent on the church grounds, that provided the spark for Mr. Gardner’s inspiration to be translated into positive action.

Following this revival meeting of late 1923, foundational leadership was enlisted and plans were made for the church’s beginning. Actions begun at this meeting marked the official birth of Kelleytown Baptist Church. Subsequent planning and organization possessed a unique standard of excellence. Very few corporate endeavors such as this were carried out so thoroughly or with such high regard for future considerations. It was the strong influence of the Holy Spirit at the significant time that gave direction and thrust which is manifesting itself even today.

Through a united community effort, Jacob Kelley’s vision became a reality on June 22, 1924, when the church began using the present sanctuary (what is now the music suite). Three years later, the membership had grown to one hundred and fifty and the building was dedicated, debt-free.

The next twenty years saw hard times: the economic depression of the late 20’s and 30’s, World War II, the loss of the church records in a fire, the death of Kelleytown’s first Sunday School Superintendent, and a marked drop in enrollment. Through it all, the churches’ emphasis of missions and giving weathered the storm and brought about a sense of maturity to the Christian community.

Numerous changes in pastorate, deacon organization, and church programs highlighted the post-war years. Along with the changes came an increase in Sunday School growth and the construction of an education building in 1953. Three years later, the Kelleytown School and property were purchased in order to keep pace with program requirements. Interest was shown in remodeling the sanctuary and this was done in 1956.

From the building fund, established in the late 50’s, the church again saw construction on the grounds. This additional education space was dedicated in 1964 and was followed by the building of a parsonage only four years later.

The needs of the day saw the construction of what at the time was the largest building on the campus, the present sanctuary. The sanctuary was built in 1979 and was designed by the architectural firm of Gilliland and Associates of Nashville, TN. This endeavor place under the leadership of Rev. Ron Rich.

The worship center is 100 feet long and 58 feet wide. The main seating area, with its closeness to the pulpit area and its semi-circular seating arrangement, enhances the sense of participatory worship. The sloping floor facilitates favorable sight lines in all seating sections. The total seating capacity, including the balcony is approximately 500 (1979 standards). The covered ramp leading from the educational building will provide easy access to the front and rear of the worship center.
A Brief History of Kelleytown Baptist Church - continued

1923-2018

The all-aluminum steeple was constructed by Campbellsville Industries of Campbellsville, Kentucky. It is 55 feet high, resting on a brick and steel base 40 feet high. The windows were custom-designed and constructed by Law's Stained Glass Studios of Statesville, North Carolina, in a type and style of window construction known as “faced glass.”

The pews are of solid oak construction, built by Carriker Church Furniture Company of Monroe, North Carolina. A spacious arrangement of the pews provides comfort and mobility for worshippers. Hardwood floors enhance the acoustics of our music ministry. The choir area has been planned with an adjustable riser system and movable railings to accommodate various types of worship. Also during this time of building, new offices for the pastor, church secretary, and a library were constructed. The debt for this construction was paid off in 1992 under the leadership of Pastor Gary Anderson.

As the church fellowship continued to grow it became apparent that there was a need for additional building space to expand the opportunities of ministry; particularly in the areas of fellowship, music, and recreation/education. Up until this time, these areas had become either inadequate to meet the current or foreseeable future needs. Thus a building campaign called Together We Build was established to help the church raise funds for what became the Family Life Center, renovated youth room, and music suite. Groundbreaking was held in October of 2002.

Our Family Life Center now stands as the largest structure on our campus. It has provided large meeting spaces for the church and community. It has been used for Upward Basketball, Awana, Homecoming, Harvest Festival events, and a plethora of ministry opportunities too numerous to name. It also served as our worship center during renovations of our sanctuary that took place in 2010.

The Family Life Center was paid off in 2012 in a span of nine years during the ministry tenure of Pastor Rod Elliott. Other significant events to have taken place during the span of the past decade is the remodeling and renovating of the sanctuary in 2010, the purchase of just over 26 acres of land, the addition of our Children’s Director to our staff, Upward Soccer, and the purchase of chimes, in addition to other ministries and renovations to our facilities.

On Homecoming Sunday 2013 we dedicated our new outdoor fellowship area to the glory of God and in the past year, added restroom facilities to this structure. Other recent highlights of the past few years has been our starting the first Good News Club in Darlington County at West Hartsville Elementary school. Lastly, God opened the doors for us to partner with church planters in Bethlehem, PA and Baltimore, MD in addition to our international partnership with Ambassadors University in Zambia, where we help train the next generation of pastors in Africa.

As this church body celebrates the past, we eagerly look forward to what God will do in our future. Indeed the future is bright! May we as His people seek to be in the center of His will.
