From The Pastor's Desk,

Back to School

This summer passed more quickly than any that I can remember. A trip to Africa and vacation to Florida can do that to the few precious weeks that we get with the kids out of school and the warm sunny days. As it always does, school has now resumed and with it a return to the routines that mark our days as a family of six. Early mornings, family devotions, reading plans and other homework assignments all measure the days as they tick by. But, as for this dad, I am glad for it; Back to School means that I am able to better accomplish personal and church projects in a timely manner. It's easier to be disciplined and stick to a schedule that makes me more focused and productive. I love going back to school. Come to think of it, we all need to go BACK TO SCHOOL. You may not need to get 4 children cleaned, brushed, packed, and dressed each day; but like us you may have backed away from the habits of a disciplined Christian life and need to return to godliness. The summer may have meant lackluster church attendance, sparse daily devotionals, and general carelessness as it relates to prayer, service, and faithfulness. Well, it is time to go back to school. So get on a schedule, make the things of God a priority and get back in the habit of being a faithful, disciplined Christian. "For bodily discipline is only of little profit, but godliness is profitable for all things, since it holds promise for the present life and also for the life to come." (1 Timothy 4:8, NASB)
