"Back to the Basics: Accepting"

Pastor Jan Yandell

Dear Friends and Friends I have not yet met,

Today's topic in our "Back to the Basics of Being in Christ" series is about acceptance. My mother used to say, "It takes all kinds to make a world!" I said that to someone recently and they told me that their mother used to say, "It takes all kinds of nuts to make a fruit cake!" So whether we are looking at the world or the infamous holiday treat, variety is the important factor. The world would not be the same if everyone was exactly alike.

The trick is to learn to play well together. Accepting others, even with differing views, politics, religions, race, or personal preferences is something Jesus showed us by example. As we said last week, one doesn't need to ponder what Jesus WOULD do, we can read in the Bible about what Jesus DID do!

Accepting others doesn't mean one has to agree or even like what another does, but we do still accept others as part of God's amazing creation and realize that it is not our place to judge. What we do may be just as offensive to another and we pray we are not being judged by them.

Look first for the Christ in each other, the rest is just details!

Blessings, PJ

Leader: We, who judge others now, will become silent in the presence of Mercy.

People: O God of mercy, we await your revelation.

Leader: We, who are warriors now, will grow calm in the presence of Peace.

People: O God of peace, we await your revelation.

Leader: We, who are scoffers now, will set scorn aside in the presence of Love.

People: O God of love, we await your revelation. Show your mercy among the unmerciful, your peace among the embattled and your love among the rebellious. And teach us to do the same.
