

Old-Earth Creationism

If you use the Bible as a starting point.

If you believe that the Biblical account is accurate, but also many scientific reasoning's, explanations and findings are just as accurate.

If you believe that the world is billions of years old, as an established scientific fact, but also believe that God created it.

That evolution did not take place.

Instead over a long period of Billions of years God created everything.

You would be an “Old-Earth-Creationist”
