Loving Each Other

Jesus tells us, His followers: "Love each other as I have loved you."

This is not an event, like a special worship service. This is not a program, like the Homeless Ministry. This is a lifestyle. It is something that must become part of us, something we do all the time. It must be part of Sunday, but also of every other day.

Make it a point, on Sundays, to look around at who is present. Look at faces. In connection with what you know of this person's life, what does their face show? Do you see physical pain, emotional pain, or worry? Give a smile. Give a hug. Pray with them at that time. Go off in a corner or find an empty room. Promise to pray and to call them during the week. Remind yourself to do so.

See who is missing on Sunday and call them on Sunday or Monday. Write yourself a note and ask God to help you remember.

Jesus tells us to love each other, to carry each other's burdens. Let's not disappoint Him this week.

Lord, help me make the most of my day.
If I reach my limits, widen them.
If I reach my heights, raise them.
And if I reach my lows, just take my hand.

ANNIE

Here am I, send me. (Isaiah 6:8)

Isaiah's heart cry transcends time and place to resonate in the lives of thousands of Southern Baptist missionaries today. From the eco-conscious homes of Portland, to the high-powered boardrooms of New York, to the bead-strewn streets of New Orleans, the North American Mission Board (NAMB) is partnering with churches to send out missionaries to the 32 Send Cities. They share the love, hope, joy and peace that can only be found through a saving relationship with Jesus Christ with the lost and hurting of the U.S. and Canada. The "here" may be different for each, but the heart and message is still the same.

Our church's prayer and financial support is vital to the ministry of these servants of the Lord. Prayerfully consider what to give in the special mission offering envelopes.

The Annie Armstrong Easter Offering® is the primary funding channel for the North American Mission Board's Send North America strategy. One hundred percent of gifts given to the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering is used to support Southern Baptist missionaries serving in the United States and Canada. The offering represents 49 percent of the North American Mission Board's total income.

Who Was Annie Armstrong?

Annie Walker Armstrong (1850-1938), was a passionate advocate for missionaries and their work. She championed missions involvement and gave personally and sacrificially of her time and talents to see the gospel go forward throughout the world. As founder of Woman's Missionary Union, Annie helped create a rich legacy of people awakened and responding to the call of the gospel and the missions mandate to take it throughout the world. That legacy continues in the lives of modern-day missions supporters who pray fervently, give generously, and go intentionally to share the good news of Jesus Christ.
