I wonder...

I'm not the kind of person who can take everything at face value. I have to have more proof. Is it wrong to want to seek answers to questions I have about the Bible?

The Christians in Berea were complimented by Luke, the author of Acts, because “they searched the Scriptures day after day to see if Paul and Silas were teaching the truth” (Acts 17:11).

Because being a Christian means accepting Christ's forgiveness by faith, some think we must believe everything just because another Christian said it. But getting your questions answered by studying the Bible is an important part of being a

The Rock's
Theme Verse:

The LORD is my rock, my fortress and
my deliverer;
my God is my rock, in whom I take refuge, my shield and
the horn of
my salvation,
my
stronghold.

Psalm 18:2

Christian. Although not every question can be answered, most of them can.

Some people are natural skeptics. They challenge everything in the Bible simply because they're looking for an argument, rather than answers. If, however, you really want answers, God will help you find them. "Keep on asking, and you will receive what you ask for. Keep on seeking, and you will find. Keep on knocking, and the door will be opened to you. For everyone who asks, receives. Everyone who seeks, finds. And to everyone who knocks, the door will be opened" (Matthew 7:7,8).

Keep asking your questions and look for answers.
