

Olin Baptist Church

Hwy 281 & FM 219

Hico, Texas 76457

The Olin Baptist Church serves the community of Olin, TX where there are maybe a dozen people, and the surrounding area in Hamilton County, TX. The church is located just north of FM 219, on the east side of US 281.

Founded in 1878 by five charter members, this church originally was named Kings Chapel. It was also known as Pleasant Hill Missionary Baptist Church and as Dry Fork Church. The church deacons purchased land at this site in 1899, and when a post office for the community was granted under the name Olin, the church was renamed Olin Baptist Church. Serving the community for well over a century, this church has offered a variety of worship and educational programs and has supported both home and foreign missions.

Olin Baptist Church is very active and supportive in the Tri-Rivers Baptist Area serving in the Hamilton Association. They have a heart for seeing God's people moved to do missions and to reaching out to the farming community for which they serve. The congregation may be small in number, however they are committed to seeing this church make an impact for the Kingdom of God.

The senior pastor would need to be Bivocational or retired. For additional information concerning the church or if would like to submit your resume, you may contact the Tri-Rivers Baptist Area Director of Missions Rev. Richard Ray at tririversdom@gmail.com. We are in prayer for God to provide the pastor that will impact the church body and its community that it serves, all for the Glory of God.

Sincerely,

Olin Baptist Church
