A Message from Bill:

Happy Mother's Day

I want to wish all the mothers reading this article, "Happy Mother's Day."

Several years ago I ran across the following poem that I think is fitting as we observe this special day. I can "hear" good mothers across the years echo these words: "Are all the children in?"

ARE ALL THE CHILDREN IN?

I think ofttimes as the night draws nigh
 Of an old house on the hill,
 Of a yard all wide and blossom-starred
 Where the children played at will.
 And when the night at last came down,
 Hushing the merry din,
 Mother would look around and ask,
 "Are all the children in?"

'Tis many and many a year since then,
And the old house on the hill
No longer echoes to childish feet,
And the yard is still, still.
But I see it all as the shadows creep,
And though many the years have been,
Even now I can hear my mother ask,
"Are all the children in?"

I wonder if, when the shadows fall
On the last short, earthly day,
When we say goodbye to the world outside,
All tired with our childish play,
When we step out into that Other Land
Where mother so long has been,
Will we hear her ask, as we did of old,
"Are all the children in?"
