Dear St. Stephen's Community,

Our five pillars of mission as the Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis include serving as beacons of Christ in central and southern Indiana and beyond, offering a generous invitation and welcome, and standing with the vulnerable and marginalized to transform systems of injustice”.

At Camp Atterbury in central Indiana, there are over 6,000 evacuees in transition to a new life in the United States.

According to WFIE news, people are donating supplies to regional National Guard armories to help support Afghan refugees. In Evansville, the Guard is accepting donations at its recruiting office of East Division Street. There are a total of nine National Guard armories across the state that are accepting donations.

Items needed include new clothing in their original packaging, like pants, shirts and jackets, in all sizes. They are also asking for children’s clothing, including baby and newborn clothes. They also need liquid baby formula.

There is an Amazon registry list specific to Camp Atterbury that can be accessed at this link:
