Why Won't God Tell You the Next Step?

“When you make a promise to God, don't delay in following through, for God takes no pleasure in fools.” Ecclesiastes 5:4 (NLT)

You may keep saying that you want to know God's will for your career or your relationship, but first God wants you to get to the basics down. Are you reading your Bible? Are you in a small group? Are you tithing? Are you spending time with him?

Is there something God has already told you to do that you haven't done yet? Why should he tell you the next step when you haven't taken the one you already know about?

Maybe you've been attending a church for more than a year, and you need to take the next step in membership. Maybe you've been praying about your child's baptism but still need to put it on the calendar.

Maybe you've been thinking of joining a ministry in the church but keep putting it off. Maybe God has shown you why he created you the way you are, and you need to find a way to use your gifts and talents to serve others.

Are you going to make it to the end of another week, another year without doing what God has already told you to do? What are you waiting for?

Ecclesiastes 5:4 says, “When you make a promise to God, don't delay in following through, for God takes no pleasure in fools” (NLT). Don't delay. Do what you already know to do.

We all need God's guidance in our lives but we need to ask in faith that He will direct us and then do our part. We need to listen for His response and not get so busy that we can't hear Him.

We should be starting our day asking God what's the next step I need to take today? Help me to do what I already know I should do. Help me to not get frustrated. Help me to not be fearful but to trust in you.

We probably all have extra time on our hands right now, let us make God a priority and go deeper so He can reveal His plans for our lives!

What have you been waiting on God to reveal to you about his will for your life?

What practical step forward can you take today to show God that you want to be obedient and do the things he's already told you to do in his Word?

How have you let fear keep you from doing what you know you need to do as a follower of Jesus?
